CONTROL OF STOCKS INSISTED ON BY TAFT

President Tells Railway Bill Conferrees Provision Is Demanded by Platform Pledge.

ALDRICH HOLDS OUT HOPE

Elkins Promises Good Bill—Taft Also Wants Shorter Period During Which Rates Can Be Suspended.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—It developed to-day that one reason why President Taft was so anxious to have the Railroad bill go to conference was his desire to see incorporated in it some provision for the control of future issues of stocks and bonds by inter-State carriers. He made his position on this proposition known emphatically this morning to the Republican conferrees, and also took occasion to talk about it to others of his callers, with the distinct view of having his attitude made public.

Whether or not the President invoked publicity for the deliberate purpose of inspiring public watchfulness on the Conference Committee's work, such watchfulness is bound to be one effect of his action. On this point Mr. Taft has given the insurgents who yesterday were so fearful that the bill was about to be done to death by the reactionary conferrees a measure of hope. The President, however, gave the insurgents a jolt by indicating at the same time that he would be satisfied with a reduction of the time during which the Inter-State Commerce Commission may suspend proposed increased rates, pending their examination.

The Cummins amendment fixed no time whatever, simply providing that the Commerce Commission must approve any and all proposed increases before they could become operative. The House gave the commission power to suspend for four months pending examination and approval. After the hard fight in which the Cummins amendment was defeated, the Senate progressives succeeded in forcing from the regulars an amendment adding six months to the House time limit, making ten months in all. The President says he thinks the railroads are entitled to have propter decision on such important matters, and he believes that if the Commerce Commission is put under the necessity of rendering decisions in less time it will still be able to make proper investigation of the proposed rate before reaching a conclusion.

In this respect the President agrees with some of the Commerce Commissioners who have given most time and study to the subject. It was pointed out at the commission offices yesterday that under the conditions that generally apply such examinations and decisions could be had in considerably less than ten months.

Pleads Campaign Pledge.

As to the provision for control of future issues of stocks and bonds, Mr. Taft declares not only that he believes in it personally, but points out that it was made a plank of the Republican National platform, upon which he was elected. As both a party and a personal promise, he has started out now to see that the conferrees fulfill it.

The way lies open, the House having included such a provision in its bill. Though in the Senate the sections covering the matter were eliminated, with the President's consent, it now appears Mr. Taft yielded there expressly in view of the fact that the House had already included the provision and that the question would thus be threshed out in conference.

Senator Elkins, who as Chairman of the Committee on Inter-State Commerce, is the titular head of the Conference Committee, in a quarter of an hour's talk with the President this morning expressed the opinion that there would be no difficulty in reaching an agreement in a short time, and declared positively that a very good bill would result. Then Senator Aldrich, the real head of the conferrees, had a talk with the President, in which he expressed similar opinions, and cheered up the President by saying that he was making arrangements to go salmon fishing soon, leaving the impression that he expected to be through with his Senate work very promptly. To both Elkins and Aldrich the President declared that he must have the stock and bond provision, and from both he received assurance that it could be put in.

In the insurgent camps in both Senate and House the assurance of Aldrich and Elkins that a "very good bill" is coming out of conference has done little to allay the fear that something malicious is about to be done to the measure. The insurgents have their own idea of a "very good bill." And no matter how trustingly the President views the assurance of these Senators, each insurgent wants to see full and complete delivery of the goods, all weighed, counted and stamped before he signs any receipt.

The insurgents, in fact, are already charging that Aldrich is merely preparing to "fool" the President again, as they declare he did on the Tariff bill, and that it will take a close and constant watch to prevent jugglery by the conferrees. Accordingly the House insurgents are already working on a plan to meet any attempt at such jugglery. That plan is simply to reject the conference report and send the conferrees back with instructions what to do or even discharge the conferrees.

The Insurgents' Difficulties.

It does not appear off-hand what sort of combination could be effected if the provision for control of stocks and bonds is to be retained. For any combination for that purpose would have to be made from insurgents and Democrats, and the Democrats are not in favor of the stock and bond feature. They fought it desperately in the House and rejected it in the Senate as involving interference with State rights. Mr. Taft, however, said explicitly this morning that he was not standing for the language of the House provision, but for the principle. He wants some provision in the bill that will do the work, and what words are used is not material.

The conferrees are to begin work on the bill to-morrow; that is, the Republican conferrees are. Senator Foster, one of the Democrats, is in Louisiana, and will not be back for a few days. Judge Adamson, the House Democrat on the committee, does not expect to be called to meet his Republican colleagues until they are quite prepared to inform him in detail what the "outrage" is that they are about to perpetrate upon him. So the early stages of the conference will be merely a love feast among the Republicans, and, considering the membership of the committee,

KANSAS CITY DELUGED.

Storm Damage $1,000,000—Prison Unroofed at Jefferson City.

Special to The New York Times.

KANSAS CITY, June 8.—Whipped through the air in great, sail-like sheets by a wind that blew at the rate of sixty miles an hour, the heaviest rain of the season deluged Kansas City this afternoon. Firemen went to the aid of women and children who had been caught out in the storm, who asked to be rescued by boats, or whose homes seemed to be threatened by the floods.

In Kansas City, Kan., a woman was killed by lightning. Lightning struck the City Hall, doing slight damage. Business was stopped for more than an hour in midafternoon.

The damage is estimated at nearly $1,000,000.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 8.—A storm which swept over the State capital tonight unroofed five of the largest buildings in the State Penitentiary, put the electric light plant of the institution out of commission, and worked damage to the amount of more than $80,000. Two of the structures partly wrecked were cell buildings in which 1,500 convicts sleep. Only one was injured.

The storm damaged the Governor's mansion and it was lighted by candles tonight.

Great damage has been done to crops throughout Missouri and Western Illinois.

GIFT BY J. P. MORGAN.

Buys for the Metropolitan Museum a Collection of Rouen Faience.

PARIS, June 8.—J. Pierpont Morgan has acquired for the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, Gaston Le Breton's noteworthy collection of ancient faience of Rouen.

The faience manufactured at Rouen in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries is among the finest ever produced in France. It was in the middle of the seventeenth century that Edme Poterat began to make the ware which is known as Rouen pottery. Italian influence is largely evident in the earlier work, but later the Norman potters introduced the characteristic decoration termed "a lambrequins" and "à broderies." It has been suggested that Chinese influence is observable, at least in the "broderies" manner, but it was not until the next century that the rage for "Chinoiserie" began in France.

In the beginning of the eighteenth century the distress in France caused, in a curious manner, renewed activity among the Rouen potters. The King, to raise funds, sent his gold plate to be melted down and substituted for it the faience of Rouen, and his example was imitated by the nobles. It was at this time that some of the finest of the Rouen ware was made.

The old Rouen designs have recently been revived by several French manufacturers. The enameled pottery of Rouen is mostly painted in rich red and blue, with well designed minute arabesques of geometrical form. One very rare variety has blue and red patterns on a deep orange ground.

LIANE DE POUGY A PRINCESS.

Paris Professional Beauty Marries Prince Ghika, Who Championed Her.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 8.—Liane de Pougy, who has been one of the Parisian professional beauties most in evidence during the past fifteen years or so, and who achieved her earliest notoriety by attempting suicide for love of a scientist whose name is famous throughout Europe to-day, has added to her record by a marriage with Prince Ghika.

The bridegroom is the Roumanian who so strenuously espoused her cause when she was laughed at for wearing a huge hat that he had to answer a charge of assault in Saint Germain Police Court. She has now rewarded him by her hand and heart, the gift being duly regularized by both civil and religious rites. The bride wore a wedding dress of mauve.

Princess Ghika possesses many accomplishments. She plays the guitar and piano and sings, and has written novels, in one of which she chronicled episodes of her own early career, and has played in pantomime. She owns a handsome house gorgeously furnished. On the mantelpiece of her drawing room are said to be nicknacks to the value of $1,000,000, tributes to her beauty.

SAY THEY SAW MISSING GIRL.

Two Persons Report 16-Year-Old Esther Mearson with a Gray-Haired Man.

The family of sixteen-year-old Esther Maud Mearson of 107 East 123d Street, who disappeared from home last Monday after saying she was going to look for employment as a stenographer, after working as a seamstress, continued a vain search for the girl yesterday.

Mrs. J. F. Kennedy of 188 East 111th Street visited the family yesterday morning, and said she was sure she had seen the girl at Third Avenue and 120th Street Monday afternoon with a gray-haired man dressed in a black suit. The girl wore a blue tailor-made suit, short skirts, and had her hair in two braids. The man was pleading with the girl, Mrs. Kennedy said, and she finally took his arm and disappeared.

A. Fuchsbald, a conductor on the Ninth Avenue Elevated Road, called at the Mearson home last night, and said he thought Esther and an elderly man had boarded his train on Tuesday noon at Warren Street. The man asked how to get to Tarrytown.

Fuchsbald said he was struck by the contrast between the old man and the youth and good looks of the girl.

The girl, like Miss Mearson, wore a blue suit, and wore her dark hair in two braids. She seemed nervous and restless but not frightened, the conductor said.

The pair left Fuchsbald's train at 125th Street to go up to the Putnam Division Station. The Tarrytown police have been warned to look out for them.

Miss Mearson, members of her family said last night, was studious, and she had no men friends. Her father, Joseph Mearson, is an invalid, and the family is supported by two sons, an electrical engineer and a lawyer.

PROCTER RENEWS HIS PRINCETON OFFER

Practically Certain Now That the Trustees Will Accept the $500,000 Gift To-day.

OPPOSED BY DR. WILSON

Conditions Which Once Caused the Withdrawal of the Gift Will Be Enforced Despite Him.

With many indications of preserving as much secrecy as possible, a special meeting of the Board of Trustees of Princeton University has been called for this morning at Princeton to receive and act upon a renewal of the offer of William C. Procter of Cincinnati to give $500,000 to the University Graduate School.

It was difficult to get any of the trustees to talk last night about the meeting, and some were reluctant even to admit that such a session of the board had been called. It was next to impossible to get any one at all to speculate on whether Mr. Procter would renew his offer, and, if so, whether it would be accepted.

From an excellent authority, however, it was learned that friends of Mr. Procter in the board had made a canvas of that body and were able to assure the Cincinnati alumnus that if he would renew his offer it would be accepted by so large a majority as to be an overwhelming defeat not only to the minority trustees but all other opponents of the gift. Upon such assurance Mr. Procter then agreed to do so.

It is also understood, though the matter was spoken of guardedly, that Mr. Procter, in a letter to be laid before the trustees to-day, sets forth at least two of the conditions which found place in the original tender. One of these is a specific stipulation as to the site on which Dr. Andrew F. West, Dean of the Graduate School, and President Wilson of the University could never agree. This formed the real cause of Mr. Procter's final withdrawal of the proffer. He again makes the location of the school on the present golf links a contingent, and not on the Prospect site, which all along, it is said, has been favored by President Wilson, with a strong backing in the Faculty.

The acceptance of the gift with that condition will be taken by some, it is said, to be a slap at President Wilson, and the board may be divided on this score. It was argued yesterday that if the board accepted the gift by an almost unanimous vote it would mean either that President Wilson had yielded an important point or that the trustees, responding to strong pressure from alumni in this and other cities, had determined to receive the money in the face of anything President Wilson and his supporters might do or think.

A second condition of the offer is that an additional $300,000 be raised from other sources. This offers no obstacle, it is said. Moses Taylor Pine, Chairman of the Trustees' Committee on the Graduate School, said at the time of the withdrawal of the gift that less than $50,000 of he $500,000 was needed to clinch the offer. Alumni and friends had promptly given $450,000, and he intimated that the remaining sum could readily be raised.

It was rumored last night that Mr. Procter had tied still another string to the gift, but nothing could be learned as to its character. It was admitted only that it was novel. Guesses that it might have some bearing on the disposition of the Wyman bequest brought no encouragement, and it was declared that no one would learn of it until after to-day's meeting.

The trustees are also expected to pass a resolution expressing their gratification over the Wyman gift, and thanking Dean West for his activity in the matter.

JERSEY'S CORPORATION TAX.

More Productive Than Ever This Year—First Schedule $2,539,897 in Taxes.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., June 8.—The preliminary schedule of miscellaneous corporations against which taxes are levied by the State Board of Assessors for the State's support was filed to-day. It shows $2,539,897 taxes assessed against 7,143 corporations. The corresponding schedule last year showed 6,629 companies with an aggregate tax of $2,522,368, the increase this year being $17,529.

It is believed by the State Assessors that when the second schedule is filed the number of 11,022 companies and the taxes of $3,238,083 of last year will be far exceeded. The total capitalization of the 7,143 companies assessed so far this year is more than six billions.

The assessment of taxes against the largest companies chartered in this State with more than $100,000,000 capital shows as follows: Amalgamated Copper Company; capital, $153,887,000; tax, $11,441; American Tobacco Company (capital $118,931,500) tax, $9,606; International Harvester Company (capital $120,000,000) tax, $9,750; International Mercantile Marine Company (capital $120,000,000) tax, $9,750; Rock Island Company (capital $150,000,000) tax, $11,500, and the United States Steel Corporation (capital $868,583,600) tax, $47,179. The five insurance companies chartered in this State must pay a tax this year of $457,015.

STILL 4 PER CENT. ON SAVINGS

German Bank Sticks to That Rate—Others Expected to Do So To-day.

Trustees of the big savings banks seem not to have been moved by the appeal made by Supt. Cheney of the State Banking Department for greater conservatism in interest payments at the meeting of the Savings Bank Association last month, as, for instance, the trustees of the German Savings Bank declared the midsummer dividend or interest rate yesterday at 4 per cent.

Last Winter there was an attempt to make the 3½ per cent. rate general, but only four banks responded. So far the Union Dime Savings Bank, which was the first to declare the rate of interest for the midsummer period, has been the only one to cut to 3½ per cent, as recommended by Supt. Cheney.

The trustees of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank and others of the large institutions meet to-day, but it is not expected that the Emigrant, which has an exceptionally large surplus, will depart from the 4 per cent. rate.

MEXICANS MASSACRE OFFICIALS OF CITY

Forty Persons Killed at Valladolid—Torture Said to Have Been Employed.

INSURGENTS HOLD TOWN

Large Force About to March on Them—Murderers Are Said to be Led by Political Malcontents.

MEXICO CITY, June 8.—With telegraph wires cut and operators murdered or forced to flee for their lives, definite information is lacking as to the present situation at Valladolid, Yucatan, the scene of a bloody massacre by Indian insurgents several days ago.

Meagre advices received by the Government to-day estimate the number of killed at forty.

More than 2,000 Indians are said to have been engaged in the attack.

The insurgents held Valladolid at last accounts, having fortified themselves in the jail and other buildings.

Federal and State troops and volunteers numbering more than 2,000 men are concentrating at Dzitas, near Valladolid, and are about to march on the rebels.

Gen. Ignacio Bravo, Commander of the Tenth Military Zone, whose headquarters are at Santa Cruz de Bravo, has been ordered to the scene to take command.

Those engaged in the uprising are chiefly Indians of the towns of Xocen and Chichimilla, who have never been submissive to authority.

Reports as to the cause of the outbreak are conflicting. Some declare that it began with a protest against certain orders issued by the Civil Officer (Jefe Politico) in charge of the municipality, while others say that it was the result of a drunken spree.

Whatever its origin, it appears to have had some semblance of organization and is said to have been led by political malcontents. Col. Bonilla Montenegro, formerly at the head of the civil government of Valladolid, is said to have been in command of the raiders.

The first attack was made on the building containing all the public offices. After sacking this building the rioters turned their attention to Jefe Politico Regil.

The slaughter began in the night, and it was 2 A. M. when the attack was made on the building in which Señor Regil and many citizens had taken refuge.

Butchery followed. The wife of Regil left her four children and went to the assistance of her husband, seeking through her tears and prayers to reach the hearts of the infuriated raiders.

Regil was cut down before the eyes of his wife, and his body was hacked to pieces. The wife also is said to have been murdered, as were all the twenty men in the building. Later the six gendarmes in the town met a similar fate.

The people were terrified; many fled in the direction of Merida.

The mob surged through the town, crying for blood and pillage. Victor Ojed, Judge of First Instance, fell into their hands and was assassinated. Other victims were Florentine Echaratta, commander of the police; José Maria Hernandez, second in command; Pedro Hernandez, Mayor of the town; the Treasurer; José E. Triaya, Chief of the telegraph office at Valladolid, and Alzonzo Vannuevua and Demetrio Rivero, merchants, whose stores were also sacked.

It is said that Triaya was put to death after horrible tortures. Other operators fled to the country and escaped.

At the War Department to-day it was said that the troops already en route to the scene of the massacre would, with the local forces, be able to restore order, although additional troops were in readiness to be sent forward if it became necessary.

FIVE DIE IN A MINE SHAFT.

Hoisting Bucket Turns Turtle—Five Others Save Themselves.

Special to The New York Times.

DOVER, N. J., June 8.—While ten miners employed in the Richard Mine, two miles north of here, were being lifted to the surface in a hoisting car last night, the car turned turtle, precipitating five of the men to the bottom of the shaft, a distance of 700 feet. They were instantly killed.

Four of the others jumped from the car as it overturned and gained a hold on a ladder running up the side of the shaft. The fifth man, Louis Garro, escaped by seizing a rope attached to the hoist and clinging on in spite of the fact that his hands were torn into shreds through the friction as his weight carried him downward. The dead are:

COBENCE, CHARLES, a Slav, unmarried.
DEJENKO, PAUL, Hungarian; leaves a wife.
DORMAN, GEORGE, American, of Franklin Furnace, N. J.
POLANKE, JOHN, Hungarian; unmarried.
SAULS, JOSEPH, Hungarian; leaves a wife.

The Richard Mine, in Shaft 6 of which the accident occurred, is owned by the Thomas Iron Company. The miners had just finished work on the 11 o'clock shift and were hurrying to get to the surface. The rules forbade them to ride in the hoist, and required that they climb up the ladders, but as the 700-foot climb is a difficult one, the men have generally ignored the rule.

Coroner Edward Totten exonerated the mining company from all responsibility.

$25,000 TO OLD FIANCE BY MRS. STEELE'S WILL

Shock of Accetta's Arrest as Murder Witness Hastened Her Death.

HAD $26,000 CASH IN ROOM

Accetta, Who Had Once Sued the Wealthy Widow, Went to Her Deathbed from a Cell.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The sudden death of Mrs. Fannie S. Steele in a Chicago hotel last Monday became known to-day when her will was filed in the Probate Court.

Edgar R. Accetta of New York who, it was reported, sued her for $100,000 for breach of promise some time ago, receives $25,000 by her will. He is said to have been at Mrs. Steele's bedside when she died. Death is reported by hotel physicians to have been due to apoplexy.

The estimated value of Mrs. Steele's estate is $500,000.

Accompanied by Miss Kate McArdle, who had been her companion for twenty-three years, Mrs. Steele came to Chicago from her home in New York ten days ago to attend to business affairs. She had $26,000 in a steel box in her room when she died.

Shortly after the death of her husband fifteen years ago Mrs. Steele became engaged to marry Accetta. She broke the engagement, telling Acetta he would ruin his life by marrying a woman of her years. Accetta then sued her for breach of promise in the New York courts. The suit was settled out of court on an agreement that Accetta should receive an annual income and $25,000 at Mrs. Steele's death.

The larger part of Mrs. Steele's estate is left to Elmer E. Earl, West Troy, N. Y., a cousin and member of the firm of Earl & Wilson. Former Judge Nash Rockwood, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., one of the executors of the estate, receives $10,000. Miss McArdle, Mrs. Steele's companion, receives $3,000, jewelry, and personal effects.

Assistant State Attorney Michels of Chicago, one of the executors of the Steele estate, took charge of Mrs. Steele's affairs immediately following her death, including the $26,000 in currency found in Mrs. Steele's room, and filed the will. He stated that Mrs. Steele owned downtown property in Chicago valued at $250,000.

According to Mr. Michels, Accetta arrived in Chicago last Saturday on his way to St. Paul. He called on Mrs. Steele at her hotel. Learning that she was ill, he abandoned his trip, and spent much time with her.

Early last Sunday morning Accetta was walking with Phillipo Catalano, a Chicago acquaintance, when Catalano was shot and instantly killed by an unidentified Italian. Accetta was arrested and held by the police as a witness until after the inquest into Catalano's murder. He sent word of his predicament to Mrs. Steele, and physicians say that the shock of this news hastened Mrs. Steele's death. Accetta hastened to the hotel after he was released and found Mrs. Steele in a semi-conscious condition. She died later in his presence.

Mr. Michels said that Mrs. Steele had come to Chicago to draw a new will. He said, however, that he had delayed taking up the work with her because of pressure of work in the Lee-O'Neil Browne alleged bribery trial.

Mr. Michels also said that Mrs. Steele drew the $26,000 from a New York bank just before her departure for Chicago. He also admitted that he had heard Mrs. Steele's relatives desired her to cut Accetta's name from her will. Asked if he thought Mrs. Steele had secured the money to pay Accetta and thus close her obligation to him Mr. Michels said he was undecided. At a late hour this theory was taken up by the police, who are still investigating the death of Catalano, Accetta's friend.

The police say they believe that Accetta had an appointment with Mrs. Steele to get $25,000 in cash and that information regarding the rumored settlement got abroad. They believe that as a result Catalano was murdered by a man who believed that Catalano and Accetta were then in possession of the large sum which Mrs. Steele brought with her from New York.

Mrs. Steele was born in Chicago and was a daughter of the late Samuel Surdam, a wholesale hardware dealer. She was first married here forty years ago to Alexander Steele, her father's business partner. When he died, fifteen years ago, she went to New York, where, ten years ago, she married Dr. William Bradley. She was divorced from Dr. Bradley two years later, and resumed the name of Steele. For several years Mrs. Steele made her home at the Wilbraham Apartment Hotel, Fifth Avenue and Thirtieth Street.

THREW SNUFF IN A CAR.

Boy Who Set Passengers Sneezing Sent to the Workhouse.

While passengers in a northbound Third Avenue elevated car sneezed individually and in fusillades all the way from 149th Street to the Tremont Avenue Station last night, Oliver Neale, a 17-year-old school boy of 2,486 Tiebout Avenue, sat smiling in a cross-seat next to Anthony Bischel, a contractor, of 1,837 Washington Avenue. Bischel says he saw the boy throwing snuff through the car. Suddenly as the car neared the Tremont Avenue station a bit of the snuff got into Bischel's nose. He sneezed and then grabbed the boy by the scruff of the neck.

On Bischel's complaint, Special Policeman Schneider arrested the boy at the station, and later brought him to the Night Court before Magistrate Krotel. There Bischel said he had seen him throw the snuff into the car ever since it left 140th Street.

"Your Honor," said Neale, "I did have the snuff in a bottle. I had a cold. It made me sneeze, and in doing so I may have blown it accidentally about the car. I didn't mean to."

But Magistrate Krotel thought otherwise.

"You are one of the worst car rowdies that has yet been brought here," he said. "A boy who will do these things is a menace to society."

He sentenced Neale to five days in the workhouse.

COLD SPRING SAVES MONEY.

Kills Moths and Caterpillars in Boston and Vicinity.

BOSTON, June 8.—Many thousands of dollars have been saved in New England this Spring by the unseasonably low temperatures, which have destroyed brown-tail moths and caterpillars in numerous districts.

The moths have been especially destructive in Boston suburbs in former years, and immense sums of money have been expended in the campaign against them.

TO PROHIBIT BRIDGE WHIST.

Louisiana Legislator Says It Prevents Mothers Knowing Their Children.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 8.—Representative Derouen has given notice of a bill in the lower house for "the absolute suppression of the playing of bridge whist."

"I am introducing this measure," declared Mr. Derouen, "for the benefit of the children of my State, who rarely have an opportunity to know their bridge-playing mothers. It is also for the benefit of husbands, who hardly have a speaking acquaintance with their bridge-playing wives."

VESUVIUS KILLS AMERICAN.

J. A. Silon of San Francisco Is Overcome by Sulphuric Gas.

NAPLES, June 8.—An American, who has been identified as J. A. Silon of San Francisco, met sudden death to-day on Mount Vesuvius.

He had climbed up the mountain, which since the earthquake has shown signs of greater activity, and approached too near a fissure which was emitting sulphuric gas.

Mr. Silon was overcome by the fumes, and died almost instantly.

DOG CATCHER'S DIGNITY HURT

Hackensack's Wouldn't Sully an "Honored Profession" by Washing Auto.

The question of the distinction between a professional dog catcher and an auto cleaner at last has been raised. Rather than lower the dignity of his profession, R. A. Miller, employed by the Hackensack Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to catch dogs, resigned when Secretary Walter Ely asked him to wash his auto.

"Ordinarily the dog catcher is looked upon as an ordinary sort of a person, but I must insist that it is an honored and honest profession, and I am an expert at it," remonstrated Miller. "I tender my resignation rather than wash anybody's carriage or auto."

$100,000 GIFT FROM DUKE.

Total Benefactions to Trinity College, N. C., Now Amount to $1,400,000.

DURHAM, N. C., June 8.—Upon retiring from the Presidency of Trinity College and becoming a Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Dr. Kilgo to-day announced to the Board of Trustees a $100,000 gift from Benjamin N. Duke. Mr. Duke, who is ill of typhoid fever, was unable to be present. This latest gift runs the total Duke benefaction to Trinity to $1,400,000.

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel, in the commencement address, declared that dependence upon the Federal Government had been responsible for too little emphasis upon the doctrine of State rights; that conservation, child labor laws, and other regulations must come through the States themselves. The Secretary won applause when he said that President Taft had approachd all the great questions sympathetically and frankly, and, if it were not for politics, he would say wisely.

CHILD BURNS TO DEATH.

Mother Badly Hurt In a Vain Attempt to Save Her.

A blaze flashed past the kitchen window where Mrs. James Paugh of 208 Wood Street, Tottenville, was preparing the noonday meal yesterday, and with the flash came the shrieks of her four-year-old daughter Daisy, who had been playing on the lawn near the porch a few moments before. Rushing out, the mother found the child ablaze from head to foot and running wildly to and fro near the door. Not far away lay a tumbled box of matches with which she had been playing.

Mrs. Paugh grasped the blazing child in her arms and tried to beat out the flames. Her own hands were badly burned in the attempt, but she carried the girl to the lawn and rolled her in the grass until the fire was extinguished. Neighbors, attracted by the child's cries, telephoned to Dr. L. Menzinger, but when he reached the house he found the child so badly burned that he could do nothing for her. She died an hour later.

GEORGE V. AS PEACEMAKER.

His Suggestion of a Conference on the Lords' Veto Likely to be Accepted.

LONDON, June 8.—A conference of party leaders in an effort to find a solution of the difficulty arising from the veto of the House of Lords is almost certain to be held very soon.

King George has intimated his earnest desire that a resolute effort should be made to avoid a resumption of the struggle between the two houses, and it is believed that Premier Asquith within a few days will take the initiative and extend a formal nvitation to the Opposition leaders, who are known strongly to favor the plan, to hold a conference.

Parliament reassembled to-day, apparently in a more conciliatory mood than that in which it had adjourned.

Of the three measures to be taken up, the Civil List, the Regency bill, and the amendment to the Accession Declaration, the last alone is likely to engender bitterness in debate. It is not expected that the budget will be seriously attacked.

HAMILTON LOOKS FOR NEW STARTING POINT

Fears Van Cortlandt Park Is Too Narrow for Start of Flight to Philadelphia.

SEEKS GOVERNORS ISLAND

With a Possible Flight on the Return Trip Up the Hudson to Grant's Tomb.

SPECIAL WEATHER BULLETIN FOR HAMILTON'S FLIGHT.

An extensive area of low barometric pressure that is moving slowly eastward from the Southwestern States will reach the Middle Atlantic States late Friday or Saturday It will in all probability cause cloudiness and conditions favorable for showers and light to moderate, variable winds over Southern New York, New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania on Saturday, June 11.

Charles K. Hamilton, the aeroplanist, who has arranged to fly from Van Cortlandt Park, New York, to Philadelphia and return for THE NEW YORK TIMES and The Philadelphia Public Ledger, visited Van Cortlandt Park yesterday and expressed the opinion that the park was too narrow for the start of such a flight with the full load of gasoline, lubricating oil, and water necessary to get him to Philadelphia.

After his examination of Van Cortlandt Park other sites were inspected and found unsatisfactory. Then Mr. Hamilton expressed a wish to start from Governors Island, if arrangements could be made. He expects to make a final decision to-day on his starting point.

If the start is made from Governors Island his plan is on the return trip to fly up the Hudson to Grant's Tomb and return to Governors Island.

Hamilton found yesterday that because of the non-arrival of necessary materials his aeroplane was not in shape to be transported from Mineola to the starting place of the Philadelphia flight. These materials arrived later, but not in time for repairs to be made.

Hamilton expects, however, that his craft will be in shape to-day for the first part of its Saturday journey. When it finally is shipped from Mineola it will have new ailerons that are far more rigid on their front edge than the present pair, and three inches deeper. The new propeller will be in place also. The rudder and tail will have been resurfaced, as have the planes of the machine. The engine has been thoroughly overhauled and appeared to be in fine shape after a three-hour "block" test yesterday.

After examining his biplane Hamilton decided to make a flight, "just for a rest," as he expressed it. During the twelve minutes that he stayed in the air Hamilton was bolder, if anything, than he has ever been before over the same field. He skimmed the earth in spectacular and rapid dips and switchback swoops that included far sharper curves than preceding exhibitions. Several times he completed turns that had all the appearance of being at right angles to his previous lines of flight, although they, of course, were more obtuse than that.

In the usual fashion spectators crowded over the field yesterday, one gray-suited individual of about 50 years of age, more daring or less observant than the rest, venturing to the very centre of the plains and standing there as Hamilton circled about 400 or 500 feet above him. After a time the aeronaut took notice of him, and in a fashion most unsettling to the observer's nerves. From an altitude of 600 feet and a distance of about half a mile Hamilton suddenly turned his machine, and, with the deflector pointed downward at an agle of almost 45 degrees, came hurtling along toward the spot where this sole spectator stood. Apparently entranced by the sight, the man did not move until he realized the danger that was upon him if the biplane persisted in its course.

On toward him the machine came, with its eight-cylinder motor strumming a staccato air that in its manifestation of power was terrifying. The observer by this time was too paralyzed to move out of the way and Hamilton seemed to recognize this fact, for just as the biplane reached an elevation of but ten or twelve feet above the man's head the deflector was turned sharply upward and the machine swung in a graceful curve toward the sky, continuing to rise steadily to a height of 200 feet.

As Hamilton passed above him the man's knees went from under him and he fell on the grass. Several spectators ran out to him and helped him off the field.

Hamilton made dip after dip at dangerous angles and at the most unexpected moment, to the amazement of the spectators and the ill-concealed anxiety of his mechanics. Despite their loud protests to him, which he said afterward he could not hear because of the noisy exhaust from the eight cylinders, Hamilton persisted in his hair-raising stunts, and finally came to earth only because his gasoline tank was almost empty. His landing was effected after a sharp glide of 800 feet.

Capt. Thomas S. Baldwin, whose Red Devil was wheeled out shortly afterward to be put through its paces, was surrounded again by a crowd of the curious who by this time had forgotten the lesson of the lone observer of Hamilton's flight. One of the spectators tapped Capt. Baldwin on the shoulder and asked him how much fuel he was taking with him.

"Enough for an hour's flight," came the reply.

"Why, how long are you going to stay up?" the spectator asked.

"Oh, a minute and a half."

But the wind freshened about this time, and a wait for it to die down proved unavailing, and so, after a half hour of standing around, Capt. Baldwin had to order his mechanics to return the biplane to its tent. Seymour's biplane was not in shape to use, as it has been stripped of its four-cylinder motor preparatory to the installation of an eight-cylinder fifty horsepower engine, that will give Seymour the power needed to carry so heavy a man up.

PHILADELPHIA'S SIGNAL PLAN.

Bombs and Balloons Will Show Start and Report Hamilton's Progress.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., June 8.—When Charles K. Hamilton leaves New York on Saturday morning on his flight to Philadelphia and return under the auspices of THE NEW YORK TIMES and The Public Ledger that fact will be made known from the tower of the City Hall by means of bombs and balloons. Immediately upon word from New York that the big biplane has left the ground and taken up its way toward this city a dozen small balloons will be released from the feet of William Penn and at the same moment a series of single balloons will be released to follow the flight of their united brothers.

A bomb will be hurled into the air at the same moment. Announcement will be made by megaphone from the front of The Public Ledger office. An Electrical Bureau operator will be stationed at the field, and the rapid reports of position and condition of the aviator as he passes the various stations along the line of the Pennsylvania Road will be flashed to the field and to the office of The Public Ledger.

As the aviator passes the various stations along the Pennsylvania route that he has selected more balloons will be released and other bombs will be exploded. As each series of balloons are released messages will be flashed to the aviation field and the office of The Public Ledger, telling of the condition and progress of the aviator.

Megaphone men will make the announcements at both places, and by the time the aviator reaches this city he will be greeted by thousands of people and scores of little balloons that will be tossing about in the air above the city.

...ES CHICAGO RACERS.

Detroit Aero Club Will Pay Expenses If They Stop There.

Leo Stevens, the aeronaut, said last night that the two greatest prizes ever offered to aviators were those offered by THE NEW YORK TIMES and The Chicago Evening Post, amounting to $25,000, for a race between Chicago and New York, and by THE NEW YORK TIMES and The Philadelphia Public Ledger for a flight from New York to Philadelphia and return, to be made next Saturday by Charles K. Hamilton.

Mr. Stevens has received a letter from E. W. Lewis, Treasurer of the Detroit Aero Club, requesting that the entrants in the Chicago-New York race make Detroit a stopping place. Mr. Lewis wrote that the expenses of all the contestants who did stop off at Detroit en route to New York would be paid by the Aero Club of that city. Mr. Lewis wrote:

Detroit, June 7, 1910.

My Dear Stevens: Is there anything that you can do or say to influence any of the aviators who will enter the Chicago-New York race promoted by THE NEW YORK TIMES and The Chicago Evening Post, for a prize of $25,000 to stop at Detroit as one of the stations? It is just what we need to stimulate general interest in aviation in this city, just as the proffer of the handsome purse is what has been needed to increase interest, attention, and knowledge of the people of the United States in aeronautics.

We hope that there is something you can do to help us out with this plan. Can you put us next to the right people to see in this matter? We are extremely anxious to have the aviators stop here in this city. We will defray such expenses as may be incidental to their visiting Detroit.

I wish you would express for me to THE NEW YORK TIMES my personal appreciation of their great aid to aviation by their offers of prizes for inter-city contests and flights, and say, in addition, that every member of the Detroit Aero Club is deeply grateful for and thoroughly sensible of their unselfish labors in behalf of aeronautics.

E. W. LEWIS,
Treasurer Detroit Aero Club.

Speaking about THE NEW YORK TIMES-Chicago Evening Post race and the proposed flight of Hamilton from New York to Philadelphia and return Stevens said last night:

"I wish I could express to THE TIMES my thorough appreciation of its efforts to benefit aeronautics by the handsome prizes it has put up. THE TIMES has stepped into the breach created by a somewhat waning interest in aeronautics in this country and is encouraging American fliers to do their best. It is only by this means that aeronautics can be developed in this country. It was by the offer of large purses that aviation in Europe was brought to its present high plane, and THE TIMES's assistance now will have the same effect in the United States.

"As far as Hamilton is concerned, I may say that I know him well and that he has a great deal of nerve. I have no doubt but that he will make good on Saturday. I think the proposed route is an ideal one. Traveling between Philadelphia and New York on the railroad I have often thought what a great chance was afforded for some aeronaut to make a flight between the two cities, and now, after two years of waiting, the thing seems about to be done."

CHICAGO PICKS STARTING SITE.

Tentative Arrangements Made to Begin New York Flight—New Entrant.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Ground for a starting place for contestants in the aeroplane race from Chicago to New York, arranged by THE NEW YORK TIMES and The Chicago Evening Post, has been selected tentatively by a committee representing the Illinois Aero Club. The spot is known as the Argo Clearing Tract, Sixty-third Street and Forty-eighth Avenue. The ground also will be used for the week's aviation tournament scheduled to start Aug. 7. The tract is eight square miles in extent.

One of the contestants in the air race for new distance and speed records is "H. S. K.," to whom an aeroplane was shipped recently from France. It developed to-day that "H. S. K." is Charles Miller, who was known in bicycle days as the "Flying Dutchman." Miller expects to have the distinction of being the heavyweight aviator of the country, for he weighs 240 pounds, and had his aeroplane especially constructed to carry his weight. He said he expected to enter the local contests as well as the Chicago-New York race.

"The engine of my aeroplane," he explained, "is a four cylinder one, and capable of developing more power than any other now used in aviation. Why it is superior is a bit of a secret. Where the machine was made also is a secret for the present. I don't want anything known about the machine until I have it in shape and am pretty sure of successful flying. That is the reason I concealed my identity under the initials 'H. S. K.'"

COMMENT ON THE RACES.

From The Utica Press.

A great deal of interest is manifested in aviation these days, and it is getting fashionable for cities to offer substantial prizes to the first aerial navigator to touch that locality. THE NEW YORK TIMES is promoting a contest of this character between Chicago and New York and is receiving a good many requests from towns along possible routes between these two cities to be included in the aeroplane races. Already Williamsport, Penn., has offered $1,000 in this way. Probably if Utica would make some such proposition the flying machines might be attracted to this neighborhood. If this were made one of the stopping places en route the aviators could depend upon having a big crowd out to welcome them, and wish them well on their journey.

From The Pittsburg Dispatch.

Offers of prizes of $20,000 and $25,000, respectively, for aeroplane flights from New York to St. Louis and New York to Chicago form a double attraction to aviators and the general public, and serve the dual purpose of encouraging practical experiment and arousing popular interest in the navigation of the air. The Chicago and St. Louis trips simply require the duplication of the necessary number of short flights to cover the distance, as railroads halt at stations since it is of course out of the question by reason of inability to carry sufficient gasoline and the limit of human endurance to contemplate under present conditions an unbroken flight between these points. But that this feat may some day be possible there is no reason to doubt when the lifting capacity is enlarged to include the required fuel and relief for the man at the wheel.

REDUCE THE HEIGHT FOR NEW FIREMEN

Civil Service Board Replies to Croker by Putting the Standard Down to 5 Ft. 7½ In.

CHIEF HAD OPPOSED THIS

Waldo Also Wanted It Kept at 5 Feet 8 Inches—Chest Expansion Kept and Probation Period Extended.

The Civil Service Commissioners showed yesterday how much they had taken to heart Chief Croker's reflections on the stamina of the men that the examination system admits to the Fire Department by reducing the standard of height from 5 feet 8 inches to 5 feet 7½. They did this in face of the protests made at the meeting of the commission last week against any reduction of the standard by not only Chief Croker, but also Commissioner Waldo.

At the same time the standard with regard to chest expansion and weight was retained, so that as both the recruit of 5 feet 7½ inches and the recruit of 5 feet 8 inches must weigh 140 pounds, and have a chest measurement of 36½ inches, with an expansion of 3 inches, the chances are that the shorter man will be the stockier of the two.

The requirements for firemen and patrolmen have now been made the same, the chest requirements for the Police Department being somewhat increased.

Another important change made yesterday was the increase by the Civil Service Commissioners of the period of probation for both departments which up to now has been thirty days to three months in the case of firemen and six months for patrolmen. During this period the Fire and Police Commissioners have the right to dismiss any man who does not seem to them to be suited for the work. The minimum age for entering the Police Department was also reduced from twenty-three years to twenty-one, so as to be uniform with the regulations of the Fire Department.

The reason for the reduction in the height of firemen, it is understood, was that the Civil Service Commissioners have found in the course of scientific investigations that the average height of New Yorkers is growing less. The large alien admixture in the population has been bringing this about for some years, but the Commissioners are convinced that this does not imply that the shorter men are any less strong or stalwart than the taller ones. They have satisfied themselves that in stamina and endurance, the two chief qualifications of the fire fighter, the short men will meet the most exacting requirements.

Moreover, the Commissioners believe that the extension of the period of probation during which the recruit is attached to a fire company for active duty and is under training at the school at Headquarters, will enable Chief Croker and his officers to make a thorough trial of those qualities of pluck and sturdiness which no examination yet devised can determine. By the time a man has been accepted as a full-fledged member of the department, it is said, his qualifications ought to be established without question.

When these changes were brought to the attention of Commissioner Waldo yesterday he said:

"I went before the Commissioners last week, when the question was first brought up, and opposed any reduction in the height requirements. What I said then still stands, but if the Commissioners have adopted the new table, that is all there is to it. It would not be proper for me to comment on the action of that body."

Chief Croker was still more reticent at his night quarters, in Great Jones Street.

"Nothing to say," he remarked.

"But, Chief," a reporter persisted, "is it not a good thing that the period of probation should be extended?"

"It's very good," he admitted.

"And didn't you say you do not care so much for the height as long as the chest expansion standard is kept up?"

A slight smile was the Chief's response, but all he would say was:

"It's very good of you to come and tell me this, but I can't discuss it."

Mayor Gaynor, it is understood, is in favor of the reduction in height for both the Fire and Police Departments, and the Civil Service Commissioners only adopted it after a consultation with him. It is believed that his reason for approving the change in relation to the firemen is that he and Commissioner Baker were agreed that it was desirable to lower the standard for patrolmen, and that he thought that the regulations of both departments should be uniform.

Another question in conection with the Fire Department which occasioned a good deal of comment yesterday was the transfer of three firemen, Michael V. Corbett, Timothy J. Dwyer, and James F. Roche, from Chief Croker's department to act as division messengers to deputy chiefs. This was believed to be in line with the Commissioner's policy to call as many men as possible in from soft details to the actual fire-fighting work. Chief Croker has been in general agreement with this policy, but has not relished any hands being laid on his own personal staff.

Battalion Chief Thomas E. Barrett, who has been in charge for some years of the repair shops, was also transferred yesterday to headquarters to await assignment by Chief Croker.

HONORS FOR FIRE VICTIMS.

C...ker Assigns Special Escort to Cotter and Healey Funerals.

By order of Fire Commissioner Waldo Chief Croker sent out special orders yesterday to the members of the force officially notifying them of the deaths of Timothy Cotter and William F. Healey, killed in the Washington Street fire on Monday morning. The orders gave the details for the funeral services, which are to be held to-day in St. Alphonsus' Church and in St. Peter's Church, respectively.

The orders state after reciting the deaths of the men "who were killed while in the discharge of their duty. * * * The heartfelt sympathy of the entire department is tendered to the families, relatives, and friends of the deceased for the great loss which they and the department have sustained."

For the Cotter funeral the Commissioner ordered the following detail as a mark of honor: Two men each from the Thirty-first, Thirty-second, Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, Thirty-eighth, Fortieth, Forty-first, and Forty-ninth Battalions, under the command of William J. Reed, Assistant Foreman. The members of Cotter's company, Engine 6, will act as mourners.

Funeral honors for the late Fireman Healey will consist of a detail from the Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, and Sixteenth Battalions, under the command of Assistant Forman Reuben McGrath, and the members of Engine 10. Healey's company, will follow as mourners.

The order concludes:

"It is earnestly requested that as many members who are excused from duty on this date be present at the funerals as a tribute to the memory of these firemen who so fearlessly met death while in the performance of their duties as members of this department."

BOLZA TO GET PAY FOR LIFE.

Chicago University Professor Also Authorized to Live Abroad.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The Trustees of the University of Chicago have granted to Prof. Oscar Bolza of the mathematical department permission to spend the rest of his life in Freiburg, Germany. He will draw the same salary he received when active.

After being connected with the university since its foundation, eighteen years ago, Prof. Bolza made known to the Trustees that he desired to retire as a professor and spend his time in study in Germany.

ELEVEN ENTER AERO MEET.

Long and Short Races and Altitude Contests in Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 8.—Eleven aviators already have entered the National aeroplane race meet to be held all of next week at the Indianapolis Speedway. Six of the aeroplanes belong to the Wright brothers and will be manned by members of their staff. The other five entrants own their machines individually.

The Wright aviators are A. L. Welsh, W. A. Brookins, F. P. Coffyn, Archie Hoxsey, Duval La Chapelle, and Ralph Johnstone. Their fellow-contestants will be Joseph Curzon, (Farman biplane,) M. Marquette, (Marquette biplane,) D. Russell Shaw, (Shaw biplane,) Lincoln Beachey, (Beachey monoplane,) and G. L. Bumaugh, (Fisher biplane.)

There will be thirty-three events, including trials for speed records, races at long and short distances, and altitude contests. Several of the aviators already have put their machines together at the Speedway aerodrome, and will begin tomorrow to make test flights.

NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY SUICIDE.

Had Been Troublesome at School and Didn't Want to Go.

Nine-year-old Charles Chadwick committed suicide last night by hanging himself in the cellar of his home at 84 Seventh Avenue, Newark, N. J. The boy's body was found by his father, John Chadwick, who had been searching the neighborhood for him for more than three hours.

Young Chadwick was a pupil of the Webster Street Public School. He had given his teacher trouble recently and the teacher had suggested to the boy's parents that he be deprived of his playthings as a punishment. The parents complied with the suggestion. Yesterday morning at school time young Chadwick tarried about the house. His mother warned him that he would be late. "I'll drown or shoot myself before I'll go to school again," said the boy.

His mother told the boy if he would go to school she would give him 50 cents to have his picture taken on Saturday. She coaxed him a little, and he promised to go to school. As he was leaving the house the mother gave him a penny.

The boy returned home about noon, and after his noon meal declared he would not go back to school. When his mother scolded him he left the house. Last night they found him in the cellar.

A piece of clothesline was tied twice about his neck, and the body hung about two feet from the ground. The boy had evidently stood on the steps, fastened the rope around his neck, and then jumped off.

WARRANTS FOR DAIRYMEN.

Chief Officials of Sheffield Farms Accused of Selling Short-Weight Butter.

Following an investigation made by Sealer of Weights and Measures Lee G. Mills, warrants were issued yesterday by Magistrate Tighe in the Adams Street Court, Brooklyn, for the arrest of Loton Horton, President of the Sheffield Farms-Slawson-Decker Company, and Benjamin S. Halsey, the Vice President, on charges of selling butter at "short weight."

When the case was called later neither Mr. Horton nor Mr. Halsey appeared in court, but they were represented by Jones B. Simpson, as counsel. A plea of not guilty was entered, and a hearing was set for June 22.

Sealer Mills alleges that he purchased from the Sheffield Farms concern several cartons supposed to contain two pounds of butter each, and found each to be from one to three ounces short in weight. Last Monday he laid the case before Assistant District Attorney Elder in Brooklyn and yesterday Mr. Elder applied for the warrants.

It is asserted by the company that it had no intention of violating the law. Its butter, it explains, is not sold by the pound, but by the carton or package, and that there are as many packages containing more than two pounds as there are those which may fall slightly short of that weight.

Joseph Kreek, employed in the meat shop of Christopher Kohl at 405 First Avenue, was arraigned in the Yorkville Court yesterday charged with giving short weight. The complainant was J. Thorne Wilson, manager of the Cornell University Medical School. Inspector Frederick Tighe of the Bureau of Weights and Measures, dressed as an ambulance surgeon, went to the Kohl shop yesterday morning and ordered fifteen pounds of ox hearts for the school. When he received the meat it was found to be eleven and one-quarter pounds. Magistrate Barlow held Kreek in $500 bail for trial. The bail bond was furnished by Kohl, the butcher.

A PROFESSOR ARRESTED.

Schmidtbonn Could Not Pay $12 Hotel Bill—Stranger Pays It for Him.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, June 8.—Failure to pay a hotel bill of $12 caused the arrest here to-day on board the steamer Breslau of Prof. Wilhelm Schmidtbonn, who recently completed a course of lectures at Columbia University on the modern German drama.

The professor was about to sail for Germany, having come to this country to deliver the lectures. In the police court prominent Germans interceded for him.

Robert Fulden, after hearing the professor's story, to the effect that he was without funds and had only $2 after paying his steamer passage, offered to pay the hotel bill, declaring it was too bad to treat a distinguished visitor to Baltimore in such fashion. The bill was settled, the professor released, and Mr. Fulden gave him money to pay his way to New York, where he can board the Breslau before she sails for Bremen.

Mr. Fulden said he had never seen the professor before, but was touched by his story. The professor had registered on the steamer's passenger list as Frederick Weber. He handed the Police Justice papers bearing the seal of Columbia University. He was greatly distressed over his arrest and said, "It was a mean trick."

NOT THE SAME CARNEGIE.

Complainant, Whose First Name Is Andrew, Proves a Schoolboy.

PITTSBURG, June 8.—"Andrew Carnegie," cried the clerk in Criminal Court here to-day, and immediately there was a buzz of conversation and a straightening of backs.

Those present saw a schoolboy respond to the name. He was the youthful prosecutor in the case of two young men charged with stealing a bicycle. He appeared in court with a schoolbook under his arm.

RAILWAY SUPPLYMEN APPEAL TO PUBLIC

Ask Indulgence for the Railroads in Their Effort to Get Higher Freight Rates Allowed.

ARGUE NECESSITY OF IT

Congress Urged to Adopt Vital Provision in Railroad Bill at Once, Country's Prosperity Impending.

The manufacturers of railroad equipment, through their Executive Committee of the Railway Business Association, issued yesterday a statement to the public at large and an appeal to Congress urging that President Taft's provision in the Railroad bill governing the power of the Inter-State Commerce Commission over freight rate changes be enacted at once and that Congress take such action as will enable the commission to cope successfully and quickly with the broader duties which will devolve upon it in the event of the final adoption of the Railroad bill.

In this presentment, which was drawn up after an all-day session of the Executive Committee at the Hotel Belmont, it is strongly recommended that the railroads be allowed to make their proposed advances of freight rates, the argument being that increased rates mean not alone more efficiency in transportation but general prosperity. It is asserted that unless the railroads are allowed to make higher rates their credit may become impaired, making it difficult for them to obtain adequate capital for facilities to handle the large crops in prospect.

The manufacturers of railway equipment, who are interested quite as much as are the railroads themselves in the outcome of the present freight rate controversy, say that a setback to business confidence has been averted for the present by the agreements reached in Washington. The Railway Business Association, through its members, represents a capital investment of $800,000,000 and speaks for a group of industries giving employment to 1,500,000 workingmen, and upon which 6,000,000 people depend for support.

The Committee That Drafted Appeal.

When the members of the General Executive Committee gathered yesterday at the Belmont this sub-committee was appointed to draft a statement to be made public: A. H. Mulliken, of Pettibone, Mulliken & Co., Chicago, Chairman; H. H. Westinghouse, of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company; W. H. Marshall, President American Locomotive Company; O. H. Cutler, President American Brake Shoe and Foundry Company; A. B. Johnson, Vice President Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia; A. M. Kittredge, President Barney & Smith Car Company, Dayton, Ohio; E. B. Leigh, President Chicago Railway Equipment Company.

The other members of the General Executive Committee, which afterward adopted the report, were: George A. Post, President Standard Coupler Company and President of the association; O. P. Letchworth, President Pratt & Letchworth Company, Buffalo; J. S. Coffin, President Franklin Railway Supply Company, New York; W. C. Dodd, President National Lock Washer Company, Newark, N. J.; W. B. Leach, General Manager and Treasurer Hunt-Spiller Manufacturing Corporation, Boston; W. H. Miner, President W. H. Miner Company, Chicago; H. G. Prout, Vice President Union Switch and Signal Company, Swissvale; J. H. Schwacke, of William Sellers & Co., Philadelphia; James Viles, President Buda Company, Chicago; W. P. Worth, Treasurer Worth Brothers Company, Coatesville, Penn.

This is the appeal:

"The question whether the railroads are entitled to a general advance of freight rates is now before the public for fair and comprehensive consideration. The merits of individual rates will come before the Inter-State Commerce Commission. During the period of uncertainty as to whether as filed the rates are reasonable or otherwise there will be a disturbance of industrial conditions. It is therefore of the greatest importance that the way shall be cleared for the speediest possible decision by the commission. To that end the Railway Business Association appeals:

"1. To Congress: That the President of the United States, having recommended a provision governing the power of the Inter-State Commerce Commission over freight rate changes, such provision be enacted forthwith, to go into effect upon its passage. This will lay the new rates before the commission at the earliest possible moment. By this recommendation of the President the powers and duties of the Inter-State Commerce Commission are to be greatly enlarged, and in the present emergency it is decreed that the approval of all the hundreds of thousands of freight rates must be given by the commission before effectuation. It is deemed proper, therefore, to urge that serious attention be given the organization upon which the enormous demand for increased output is to be made.

Danger in Delay Pointed Out.

"Nothing could be more disastrous to the railroads and all the commerce and industry of our country than to stake all that is proposed to be staked upon the commission, only to find that with its organization it cannot do the work within a reasonable time. The time to elapse before the commission shall render its decision is the vital factor. We recognize the high order of ability that has been shown by the commission, and, believe with sufficient equipment they will promptly and adequately dispose of this question. We urge that such appropriation as may be found necessary be made to enable the commission to cope with their increased duties.

"2. To the Railways: That they facilitate the work of the commission by having their schedules so arranged and the reasons therefor so clearly set forth as to require the least possible time to comprehend their scope and bearings upon the questions before the commission, and that the officials of the railways acquaint the shippers more fully with the reasons for freight advances.

"3. To the Shippers: That they look upon the railways precisely as they would look upon any other concern for whose solvency the management and not the Government is responsible. A railway concern must have an adequate revenue. The present problem involves not merely the amount which the railway shall receive for carrying a consignment, but its ability to carry it at all. It embraces not alone transportation efficiency, but general prosperity. We suggest to the heads of freight paying enterprises that they study this question at first hand in the broadest way. By so doing they may conclude that an advance may be for their own best interests.

"4. To the Public: That they frankly concede to the railways the necessity for adequate revenue, and await with patience and good nature the findings of the commission as to the reasonableness of proposed rates.

Their Closed Shops Have Opened.

"The members of the Railway Business Association have but recently emerged from a period of closed shops, idle men, and disastrous losses due to cessation of railway purchases. We contemplate with grave anxiety the possibility of undue restriction of railway revenues. Ours is not the plea of a special interest whose prosperity we would purchase at the expense of other interests or of the general public. If our product is not bought the commerce of the country cannot be efficiently carried; if our men are wholly or partly off the payroll the stoppage of their outlays communicates itself to millions more who make or sell them necessities.

"It has been said recently in the heat of controversy that in the discussion of freight rate matters 'railway supply men are not to be regarded as business men' or identified with shippers. Why not? Companies furnishing equipment, materials, and supplies to the railroads pay more than two hundred and fifty million dollars a year in freight bills, or 15 per cent. of the total freight revenue of all the railways. As managers of one of the largest groups of industries in the country we have a right to be heard like any other business men. If there is an advance we must pay our share. We are no more eager than others to assume new burdens, but while we are deeply interested in seeing that the carriers have adequate revenues we know that the public welfare is equally involved.

"As the basis of our belief in the necessity of increased revenues for the railroads we submit:

"Either the railroads stand alone among all other business enterprises in their ability to meet universal increases in cost of labor or material without advancing the price of what they have to sell, namely, transportation, or else an advance in rates is necessary.

Wage Advances a Great Burden.

"The advances in wages have been relatively a greater burden to the railroads than to other enterprises. The industrial depression found them unable to follow the example of manufacturers and recede from the wage advances previously granted. More recently additional increases have been awarded voluntarily or by arbitration. On many thousand miles of line they are not only in effect but in some cases, under the awards, back payment has been made. The total already arranged for has been estimated at from $100,000,000 to $120,000,000 a year.

"Vast expenditures have been made for passenger and freight terminals at the great ports and centres, largely yielding no additional income. The interest on these enforced investments must come out of earnings. With returning prosperity, in which the public will share, with large crops in prospect and with other conditions favorable, except for the uncertainty as to railroad income, the railroads are unprepared, as they were in 1907, for an unprecedented tonnage. A satisfactory settlement of the rate question is a necessary precedent to earnings sufficiently ample to sustain the financial credit of the railroads and insure their obtaining adequate capital for acquiring facilities to meet these conditions.

"It is not a crime to raise a freight rate. It is simply a question whether when raised it is, all things considered, a reasonable rate. The railroads must wait until the law now under process of amendment shall take effect before they can file any schedules for increased rates. If in making an increase they fix a rate which is unreasonable it ought to be corrected, and the Inter-State Commerce Commission will surely correct it. The danger lies in hysterical attempts to prevent orderly procedure under the law by appeals to popular passion and prejudice.

"A serious setback to business confidence has been averted for the present by the agreements reached in Washington. Believing that the railways can make their case for an advance and that in the end the public and the commission will view the matter broadly, we indulge strong hopes of the uninterrupted prosperity of the country."

SUFFRAGIST ARRESTED.

She Picketed in Labor Row—Warned with Another Woman and Freed.

BOSTON, June 8.—Mrs. Glendower Evans, a well-known society woman, as well as an ardent suffragist and Socialist, was arrested for picketing to-day in a labor controversy at South Boston. Miss Mabel Gillespie, secretary of the Woman's Trade Union League, was also taken into custody.

Both were charged with violating a city ordinance. After being warned by the officer in charge, they were allowed to go on their own recognizances.

CONTROL OF STOCKS INSISTED ON BY TAFT

it seems certain that Senator Aldrich will dictate what is done.

Senator Elkins said this morning that he thought there would be no difficulty in arranging to have the law go into effect immediately upon its passage. This matter is not technically in the conference, the two houses being in agreement on the present day provision, but if necessary a joint resolution could probably be put though that would settle the matter.

There is to be another big conference at the White House next week at which the subject of rates and increases will be the chief topic of discussion. The shippers from the West will be the guests of the President on that occasion. They have been signifying for some days their desire to talk the situation over with the President and asking for an opportunity to present their side of the case to him as fully as the railroads have done. It is expected that the conference will occur early in the week.

RUNNING RAILWAYS BY LAW.

President Underwood of the Erie Says It Is Unhealthy.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., June 8.—F. D. Underwood, President of the Erie Railroad, at the annual dinner of the Binghamton Chamber of Commerce, to-night spoke abou Government regulation of public utilities and the "legislative craze."

"There should be Government supervision of railways," he said. "It should be impossible for any one to exploit railway securities, as was done in the early days of their construction, and while people have since been educated in the matter of investments, it is wise to have an authority to exercise guardianship over the issuance of bonds, stocks, and other securities. It is also wise to have a referee in case of dispute, but it is unwise and unnecessary to have an authority, be it State or Federal, exercise a constant espionage over railways. Doing business by law is unhealthy.

"We do not require forty-six Legislatures to frame embarrassing laws for the restraint of railways—untried legislation put out through motives of malice, ignorance, and fanaticism.

"My opinion is that we are on the wrong track. We are following the heathen custom of looking to our rulers for help when the help rests with ourselves. Put successful, honest, business men in office, and you will have no bad laws. Put theorists and faddists in office and you will have the spectacle, as we have had it, of a thousand bills of regulation, aimed at the second largest industry in the world, with its attendant panic and confusion."

COMMUTATION UNCHANGED.

Agreement for Cancellation of Rates Covers Proposed Increases.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—In consonance with the verbal arrangement with President Taft, the railroad companies included in the Western Trunk Line Association have begun the filing of tariffs with the Inter-State Commerce Commission in cancellation of the tariffs which they filed to be effective on June 1. In the practice of the commission it will be necessary for the roads to file with the commission supplementary tariffs canceling the advances which they made and restoring the former tariffs to effect.

Although the injunction which the Government obtained applies only to the rates made by the Western Trunk Line Association under the verbal agreement made with the President, it will be incumbent upon the Eastern lines to cancel the advances which they made to be effective about July 1. The agreement, it is assumed, will apply to passenger as well as to freight rates, and thus will affect the commutation rates out of New York filed with the commission by the Eastern lines.

In view of the commission's officers, it will be probably a year before an adjustment of the rates can be made by the commission.

NEW EQUIPMENT TO GO ON.

Cancellation Orders Withdrawn on New York Central Lines.

As a result of the agreement regarding freight rates between President Taft and the Presidents of three of the largest Eastern railroads, President William C. Brown of the New York Central lines announced yesterday that his roads had withdrawn all cancellations of orders for railroad equipment and that instructions had been issued to resume work on all improvements recently suspended.

Mr. Brown declined to discuss the probable action of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, except to express his full confidence in its intention to deal fairly with all interests.

361 THEFTS CHARGED TO CHARITIES CLERK

Commissioner Fosdick Says MacArthur's Stealings May Amount to Thousands.

HELD IN $2,500 BAIL

City Got Only Small Part of Money Paid by Parents for Children's Support, Investigator Declares.

John J. MacArthur of 1,960 East Forty-ninth Street, Brooklyn, a bookkeeper in the Fire Department, who until a few weeks ago was Financial Clerk of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Charities, was arrested yesterday on a charge of grand larceny and held in $2,500 bail by Magistrate Appleton in the Jefferson Market Court.

The charge against MacArthur is that he misappropriated funds turned in to him by parents for the support of children in the care of the Charities Department while he was connected with it. It is intimated that his peculations may amount to many thousands of dollars, although the specific count on which the warrant was issued is that he turned in only $20 of one $50 payment.

The warrant was obtained by Commissioner of Accounts Fosdick. MacArthur refused to talk in court, and waived examination. He was appointed to his place in the Charities Department in June, 1907, and requested to resign on Jan. 21 of this year.

As is the rule when a man resigns, his name was returned to the civil service lists, and on March 22 he was appointed a bookkeeper in the Fire Department.

Commissioner Fosdick sent a report on the matter to the Mayor yesterday, in which he severely criticised the methods of the administration of the Children's Bureau, declaring that the laxity there largely was responsible for the possibility of such defalcations. He said in part:

Thoroughly to check MacArthur's accounts, it was necessary to secure from as many of the parents as possible the original receipts which had been given for moneys contributed to the support of the children. Of the thousands of receipts rendered for this purpose during his incumbency we secured 380, extending from the beginning to the end of his administration.

Of these 380 receipts, 361 cases were found where the original receipts did not agree in amount with the carbon copies, 88 cases where the names of the parties paying the money did not agree, 80 cases where the amounts of the original receipts had never been posted in the ledger, 226 cases where the original receipts did not agree in amount with the ledger entry, 56 cases where the carbon copies did not agree in amount with the ledger entry, 88 cases of carbon copies for which no receipts were ever given.

Of the $2,786.50 represented by the 380 receipts which we were able to secure, only $907.75, or less than 33 per cent., was turned into the city treasury.

The extent to which these defalcations ran is impossible to determine. It is estimated that 15,000 receipts were given by MacArthur during his incumbency as financial clerk. In this period he turned in to the city treasury approximately $70,000. While an estimate on this basis is by no means accurate, it affords some idea of the possible scope of his peculations.

The responsibility for this condition is to a large extent due to the utter lack of control exercised by the Superintendent of the Children's Bureau over MacArthur's accounts.

Not only was the clerk allowed to receive the cash and fill out the receipts without any serious attempt to check or verify his work, but he was charged with the responsibility of keeping the ledger and of making the daily returns to the Superintendent.

Charities Commissioner Drummond held a conference with the Mayor yesterday on the matter and certain reforms were taken up which will be instituted in the near future.

CAR BARN GANG ON TRIAL.

One Guilty, Three Acquitted of Beating Policemen in First Avenue.

The curtain rose and fell on another act in the "car-barn" drama yesterday when there were placed on trial in General Sessions four representatives of the neighborhood of First Avenue and 97th Street, where some weeks ago the police were confronted with a "No cops allowed on this block" sign. Three policemen who ventured past the dead line emerged somewhat the worse for wear.

Cornelius Lynch, a bricklayer, and his daughter Christine of 305 East Ninety-seventh Street, with their next-door neighbors, John and Anna Murphy, were charged with assaulting Officer Cummins of the Thirty-seventh Precinct when he tried to arrest Lynch on the evening of May 9.

Miss Lynch was charged with wresting the policeman's club from his hand and offering it to some excited bystanders with suggestions as to how they might put it to use. Murphy was accused of hurling a brick, and his young and very pretty wife was charged with brandishing her hatpin.

The women were acquitted by direction of Judge Crain. Murphy was acquitted by the jury and Lynch was found guilty of assault in the second degree.

CAFE FOR FIFTH AVENUE.

St. Regis Proprietor Has a Place Leased Near Forty-second Street.

Rudolph M. Haan, proprietor of the St. Regis, announced yesterday that next Fall he will open a large café at 505 Fifth Avenue, near Forty-second Street. A few days ago Mr. Haan obtained a twenty-one years' lease of the ground floor, which will be fitted up luxuriously as a club café.

According to Mr. Haan, this will be the only club café outside of the hotels between Thirty-fourth and Fifty-ninth Streets, and will mark a departure on upper Fifth Avenue. The exact date of opening will not be announced until after Mr. Haan's return from Europe next September.

Mr. Haan and his wife and daughter, Hortense, will sail to-day for an extended trip abroad on the liner George Washington. They will spend most of the Summer in upper Hungary, where Mr. Haan's son-in-law, Armand Schulz, has a country place.

NEW PRISON SITE CHOSEN.

Commission Approves Location for Institution to Replace Sing Sing.

ALBANY, June 8.—The new State prison to take the place of Sing Sing will be located on a 500-acre tract sixty-nine miles north of New York City on the Harlem branch of the New York Central Railroad if the site selected by the commission on new prisons and approved by the State Prison Commission meets with the approval of Gov. Hughes. The site will cost $50,000 and will be paid for out of an appropriation of $500,000 for the new prison, made by the Legislature last year.

The selection of a new location was made necessary by the abandonment of the Bear Mountain site, which was one of the conditions of the gift of land and money by Mrs. Harriman and others for the extension of the Palisades Park to Newburg.

Hughes Signs Pharmacy Bill.

ALBANY, June 8.—Gov. Hughes signed to-day Assemblyman Whitney's bill reorganizing the State Board of Pharmacy. It provides for the appointment by the State Board of Regents of nine examiners to replace the fifteen now in office. The bill also makes provision for a standard of drugs and medicines and provides penalties for selling adulterated and misbranded drugs.

LONDON RECEPTION FOR MR. ROOSEVELT

Several Hundred Persons Attend Farewell Function at Ambassador Reid's House.

PRAISE GUILDHALL SPEECH

Letters Pouring In, Mostly Laudatory, but Some Abusive—Ex-President to Rest To-day.

LONDON, June 8.—Dorchester House, the residence of Whitelaw Reid, the American Ambassador, was the scene today of two functions in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt—a reception in the afternoon to the members of the Pilgrims and American societies, and a farewell dinner to-night. Both were quiet affairs on account of the court mourning and the circumstance that Mr. and Mrs. Reid are in mourning for the late Ogden Mills.

Several hundred persons attended the reception, including most of the prominent members of the American colony.

Ambassador and Mrs. Reid and ex-President and Mrs. Roosevelt received at the head of the grand staircase. The guests included the Archbishop of Canterbury, Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary; the Duke of Portland, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, the Right Rev. Charles Henry Brent, American Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Philippine Islands, and Lord Alverstone.

At a luncheon at Col. Arthur H. Lee's house Mr. Roosevelt met the Earl of Selborne, who has just returned from South Africa, and the Right Hon. David Lloyd-George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer. Others at the luncheon were Sir Horace Plunkett, Sir Alfred Pease, and W. W. Jacobs, the writer, who was invited at Mr. Roosevelt's special request.

Mr. Roosevelt will spend his last day in England resting in the country. Hundreds of letters commenting on his Guildhall speech are pouring in. The great majority of them are laudatory, but some are abusive.

Newspaper clippings have reached the ex-President referring to political importance attached to the dinner which Robert Collier will give to Mr. Roosevelt on his return. Mr. Roosevelt today called attention to the fact that this engagement was made when he lunched with Mr. Collier before starting for Africa, and said there was absolutely no political significance in it.

ANXIOUS TO MEET ROOSEVELT.

Acceptances from Prominent Men Coming in Fast—Taft to Send Butt.

Capt. Arthur F. Cosby, Secretary of the Mayor's Roosevelt Reception Committee, said yesterday that acceptances from prominent men to take part in the welcome to ex-President Roosevelt, who sails for home to-morrow from Southampton, were pouring in so fast as to indicate the coming of a very large and distinguished company. It was said yesterday also that the Police Department expects a record-breaking crowd at the Battery, and was making its own arrangements to handle it.

Those who have accepted invitations to sit on the stand at the Battery on which Col. Roosevelt and Mayor Gaynor will speak include Gov. Quinby, New Hampshire; Gov. Fort, New Jersey; United States Senator Flint of California, Dr. Charles P. Neill, Commissioner of Labor; Lawrence O. Murray, Controller of the Currency; Senator Lodge, Congressmen Hamilton Fish, Henry M. Goldfogle, William Sulzer, Herbert Parsons, W. W. Cocks, and C. V. Fornes of New York, Congressman John W. Langley of Kentucky, Attorney General O'Malley of New York, Arlon H. Cheney, State Superintendent of Banks; Gifford Pinchot, Dr. L. S. Rowe of the American Academy of Political Science, and Gen. Luke E. Wright, ex-Secretary of the Navy.

Collector Loeb has arranged with the Government for a detail of four revenue cutters to go down the bay on Saturday, June 18, to meet Col. Roosevelt. They are the Androscoggin, which will carry the members of the committee; the Mohawk, which will have on board a delegation of Congressmen and others from Washington; the Manhattan, which will be devoted to friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt, and the Seneca, which will be turned over to reporters and photographers.

Among those who will probably go down the bay on the Manhattan are Rear Admiral and Mrs. W. S. Cowles and W. S. Cowles, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Douglas Robinson, and Monroe Douglas Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt and G. Hall Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Alsop, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Miss Eleanor B. Alexander, his fiancée; Mrs. H. L. A. Alexander, Archibald and Quentin Roosevelt; Miss I. S. Hagner, Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary; Congressman Nicholas Longworth, Mr. and Mrs. W. Emlen Roosevelt, and George E. Roosevelt.

The Reception Committee will follow Col. Roosevelt off the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria and take places in the reserve inclosure at the Battery. This inclosure will also be occupied by upward of 2,000 invited guests. After the speeches the police will make a path along the western edge of the inclosure, and through this Col. Roosevelt, Mayor Gaynor, and Chairman Cornelius Vanderbilt, who will occupy the first carriage, will be followed by the committeemen, also in carriages.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Taft to-day asked Secretary of the Navy Meyer and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, both of whom were in the Roosevelt Cabinet, to go to New York on June 18 to meet Col. Roosevelt on his return from Africa. The President will also send a letter to Col. Roosevelt by Capt. Archie Butt, his Military Aid, who served in the like capacity to Mr. Roosevelt. All three of these gentlemen will go down on the revenue cutter with Collector Loeb to meet the steamer somewhere between Sandy Hook and Quarantine.

TO WALK TO SOUTHAMPTON.

Mr. Roosevelt and Sir Edward Grey Will Start from the New Forest.

Cable advices were received yesterday by Emil L. Boas, the resident Director of the Hamburg-American Line, from the London representative of the line giving more details as to the homecoming of Mr. Roosevelt and his family.

The ex-President, accompanied by Sir Edward Grey, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, will walk from the New Forest to Southampton station," where they will meet the special train which is to convey Mrs. Roosevelt, Kermit and Ethel Roosevelt, and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth from London. The party will occupy the royal saloon on the special train. At Southampton they will find waiting a special tender chartered by the line to convey them to the steamship Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, anchored in the Solent. The steamer sails to-morrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt will occupy the imperial suite, forward on the port side of the lower promenade deck. The suite consists of four large rooms and two baths. Mrs. Longworth and Ethel and Kermit Roosevelt have reserved for them a three-room suite on the port side of the same deck.

The Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, whose voyage will end here on June 18, will carry 700 cabin passengers. The list contains many notable names.

State Senators to Meet Roosevelt.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 8.—Lieut. Gov. White to-day announced as the committee on the part of the Senate to greet ex-President Roosevelt on his return to this country Senators Cobb of Jefferson, Holden of Onondaga, Meade of Monroe, Hamilton of Chautauqua, Coates of Franklin, Grady of New York, and Hardin of Kings.

BROKER DEFIES GRAND JURY.

Kittell of Pell & Co. Refuses to Answer Questions About Bull Cotton Pool

There was a little flurry in the investigation of the bull cotton pool by the Federal Grand Jury yesterday when one of the witnesses served with a subpoena duces tecum, Charles J. Kittell of the brokerage firm of S. H. P. Pell & Co., refused to take oath on the ground that the subpoena served on him did not state the individuals against whom the proceeding was brought. The Grand Jury filed downstairs to the third floor of the Federal Building looking for a Judge before whom to bring the contempt of Mr. Kittell, and then back to the fourth floor again when Judge Hand consented to receive them.

Mr. Kittell appeared through Adrian H. Larkin, his attorney, and the stenographer of the Grand Jury read the minutes concerning the refusal of the witness to testify. Mr. Kittell in refusing had, according to the minutes, asked that he be taken before a Judge for instructions. Assistant United States Attorney General Clark McKetcher, who is in charge of the investigation, asked that the court direct Mr. Kittell to be sworn, and Mr. Larkin in opposition said that even if the witness were sworn he would probably contest the validity of the subpoena as soon as questions were asked him.

Judge Hand was content to pass on one point at a time, and he overruled the objection of Mr. Kittell to being sworn. Thereupon the Grand Jury filed back into its room and spent the rest of the afternoon with the recalcitrant broker in framing up a record of questions unanswered to be taken before Judge Hand to-day for further argument. It is not improbable that to-day's decision by Judge Hand will start a series of appeals that will carry the question of Mr. Kittell's contempt to the United States Supreme Court, just as the refusal of Charles R. Heike, Secretary of the Sugar Trust, was taken up a few weeks before he was placed on trial.

In yesterday's proceedings before Judge Hand nothing came out as to the secrets of the Grand Jury room except that the title of the investigation into the bull pool in cotton is "The United States against James A. Patten and others."

In the course of the argument Mr. Larkin observed that the subpoena served on his client contained a false statement in the assertion that an action was "pending in the Circuit Court of the United States against James A. Patten and others." There was, he declared, no such action. Judge Hand preferred, however, to hear argument addressed to the form of the subpoena itself after Mr. Kittell had been sworn, and a specific refusal to answer had been recorded.

HUGHES VETOES MEADE BILL.

Says It Is a Denial of Needed Primary Reform.

ALBANY, June 8.—Gov. Hughes formally vetoed the Meade-Phillips Primary bill to-day. The Governor declares in a memorandum that "the bill is not a grant, but a denial of needed primary reform." He gives the same reasons for disapproving the bill as were stated in his special message to the Legislature on May 26, the day before the Legislature adjourned sine die, when the Cobb compromise bill was defeated in the Assembly.

The Governor also vetoed three other bills, one introduced by Senator Wainwright, incorporating the American Museum of Safety; another by Assemblyman C. W. Brown, incorporating the Providence Hospital of Brooklyn, and a third by Assemblyman Lowman, incorporating the Arnot Art Gallery in Elmira, on the ground that they conflict with the constitutional provision prohibiting the passage of a private or local bill "granting to any person, association, firm, or corporation an exemption from taxation on real or personal property."

The Governor signed the bill of Assemblyman Ward, incorporating Edwin T. Rice, Julian R. Tinkham, Nelson S. Spencer, Otto C. Wierum, Jr., and Albert De Roode as the Economic and General Foundation. It has been stated that a New York City millionaire is ready to endow this corporation with $1,000,000 to carry on economic, altrustic, scientific, and educational research.

WON'T MOVE NEGRO TROOPS.

Taft Tells Seattle Petitioners He Cannot Act on Unproved Charge.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The President has flatly refused to accede to a demand from the citizens of Seattle, Wash., transmitted through Senator Jones, for the removal of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, colored, because a negro accused of assaulting a white woman has been identified by a child of the victim as a soldier of that regiment stationed at Fort Lawton.

The reason which influenced the President in this action is contained in a statement issued by Secretary Dickinson, in which he says:

> To remove them on unproved charges would be merely to impose them in another community and might probably arouse a protest from such community; and that until there is a thorough investigation of the charges made in the neighborhood where the troops are and witnesses are present and complete proof can be taken the removal of the troops might not only withdraw witnesses, but possibly the guilty parties from the courts having jurisdiction over the alleged crime.

It was the Twenty-fifth Infantry that figured in the outbreak at Brownsville, Texas, in August, 1906, for which a battalion was discharged by President Roosevelt, but since that time the regiment has almost entirely changed in personnel—officers as well as privates.

GARY PREDICTS PROSPERITY.

And with It Higher Cost of Living and Production and Higher Wages.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Elbert H. Gary, Chairman of the Executive Board of the United States Steel Corporation, in an interview to-day predicted an increase in the cost of living, a general wage advance, and an advance in the cost of production of nearly all commodities.

"We are now in the centre of one of the greatest harvests of prosperity the country has ever witnessed," said Mr. Gary, "and the future is bright for a continuance of good times, but with these good times will surely come an increase in the cost of living. Commodities are going upward, materials are higher, and wages are advancing at a fair rate. This means more money for the butcher, baker, and others that provide for the home. And it is not only just and proper, but will make for a better general result all over the country."

BROWARD BEATS TALIAFERRO.

Former Governor of Florida Carries Primaries for Senator.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 8.—Friends of United States Senator James P. Taliaferro conceded to-day that ex-Gov. N. P. Broward had carried the primaries for United States Senator by over 1,500.

With all counties heard from except parts of four strong Broward counties, the former Governor's lead is over 2,000.

SHERMAN AIDS FIGHT AGAINST LA FOLLETTE

Says Taft Urged Him to Address Convention to Reorganize Party in Wisconsin.

INSURGENTS ARE ASSAILED

Speakers All Insist on Regularity and Loyalty to Leaders — Payne-Aldrich Tariff Upheld.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, June 8.—Denunciation of the insurgents was the keynote of a convention opened here to-day with the purpose of organizing the regular Republican forces of Wisconsin for the defeat of La Follette and La Folletteism in Wisconsin. One of those who sounded it was James S. Sherman, Vice President of the United States, and he declared that when he received the invitation to address the convention he was urged by President Taft to accept it; that the President was interested in Wisconsin, and was anxious that the party in this State should become united.

The convention was held primarily as part of an organized plan to combine the anti-La Follette Republicans of Wisconsin. The leaders believe that Wisconsin can be brought into the regular, or Taft, column, and the campaign opened to-day is expected to result in efforts to substitute a regular for La Follette as United States Senator, to place a Taft Republican in the Governor's chair, and to send a regular delegation to Congress instead of the present group, most of whom are leaders in the insurgent movement.

The throttling of the insurgent movement in Wisconsin, where La Follette has his home, is believed to be the plan of the regular Republicans of the East. A permanent organization is proposed to help Taft candidates against La Follette men in the State campaign, and the convention will consider the advisability of recommending a ticket to be voted for at the Republican primaries next Fall.

The convention is made up of 1,065 delegates. Among them are quite a number of former followers of United States Senator Robert M. La Follette, but the majority are adherents of the so-called Stalwart wing of the party. Among the former La Follette men are ex-Gov. William D. Hoard and William D. Conner.

Sherman Defines a Republican.

In his speech before the convention Vice President Sherman pleaded the cause of regular Republicanism and urged the insurgents to return to the fold.

"What is a Republican?" Mr. Sherman asked, and he declared that the reply should be: "A man who votes the Republican ticket at the polls and votes for Republican measures in Congress."

The Vice President asked, if this was the correct answer, if the converse was not true—"that a man who does not vote the Republican ticket, who does not support Republican measures and Republican policies, is not a Republican?"

The growth of the Republican Party formed the theme for the speaker, as he continued his address. He had got down to Lincoln's time when he returned to the question of insurgency.

"Four years later," he said, "we were in the throes of a civil war. In that year we find the beginning of insurgency. A small band attempted to prevent the renomination of Lincoln. The movement was not successful, and he obtained 212 out of 233 electoral votes."

The Vice President spoke of insurgency next when he recalled that "in 1872 a new insurgency had arisen with the cry of 'Anything to beat grant.'" He continued:

"In 1884 another element of insurgency arose, and seemed to be temporarily successful, though its duration was short and without result. In 1896 another kind of insurgent came to the front in the guise of the so-called 'Silver Republicans,' who manfully and courageously, when they saw they could not indorse the Republican platform and the Republican candidate of that year, left the National convention in a body.

Many Brands of Insurgency.

"We are now confronted again by insurgency in the party, though it is by no means a united movement, as it may be said that there are nearly as many kinds of insurgency as there are insurgents.

"It is not a matter of surprise that the members of a great and dominant party should not always be in accord regarding every act of legislation. It has been the strength of the Republican Party that leaders in thought and judgment and wisdom should have been among its members. It is so to-day, as it has been since 1856 and 1860."

In matters of legislation he declared some sacrifices must be made; some retreats taken in order that harmony should prevail. He declared that no better illustration could be pointed out than the passage of the so-called Payne-Aldrich tariff law.

"I believe," said the Vice President, "that when deceit and falsification shall have had their day, when the present tariff law is known and understood in detail, when its true effect is realized, there will follow unstinted commendation of our President and those in both houses of Congress who have striven to carry out the pledges of the last National platform."

Temporary Chairman Michael E. Dillon of Ashland said:

"I hold that when men are elected to office upon a party platform and under the banner of party organization it is their duty to their party and to the Nation in general to aid party leaders in carrying into effect the promises made by that party in its platform and not use their office and ability to hinder, impede, delay, and defeat party legislation to make political capital for themselves."

Judge Levi H. Bancroft of Richland Centre, formerly of the La Follette faction, who was chosen as permanent Chairman, bitterly arraigned the insurgent movement in Congress and within the Republican Party. He said it meant the disruption of party organization and the substitution therefor of a one-man despotism.

CARROLL HAS NARROW MARGIN

Beat Garst Last Time by 23,000—Hull Loses by 3,000.

DES MOINES, June 8.—With only five counties missing to-night, Governor B. F. Carroll, Republican, is nominated for re-election by a majority of 706 votes over Warren C. Garst, Progressive Republican. The missing counties are known as Carroll strongholds and probably will bring his majority up to 1,500 or 2,000. Two years ago Carroll was nominated over Garst by 23,000 votes.

Regular Republicans say they will control the next State Convention, having a bare majority of the 1,400 delegates. The platform, it is said, may go so far as to condemn the course of Senators Cummins and Dolliver.

The surprise of the election is the majority rolled up by Judge Prouty, Progressive, over Congressman Hull. Prouty carried every county in the district, his unofficial majority being 8,106.

The Autobiography of A Suit of Clothes.

I AM an all wool suit of clothes. I was born three months ago in a "clothing incubator." My first recollection was of a man standing over me with a big pair of scissors in his hands. "Who are you?" I askt. "I'm the man who made you," said he. "What are you going to do with me?" "I'm going to send you out in the world with your brothers." "Brothers?" I inquired. "Have I brothers?" "Sure you have—a hundred of 'em." "Are they all like me?" "Yes, all like you," the man replied, "only some are bigger than others."

So about 50 of us were sent up to Mr. Moritz's Clothes Shop on Broadway and a $17.50 tag was put on me. That made me "hot." I went right up to the boss and said, "See here, what do you mean by selling me for $17.50? I want you to know I'm not that kind of a suit! There are stores right here in this town selling my brothers for $25 and $28 and they're not a bit different than I am, understand?"

But there was no use pleading. The boss was stubborn. I'm to be sold for $17.50. I hope that I get an owner that'll appreciate a good $25 suit for $17.50. Would you?

OLD CASTLE FELL ON ITALIAN TOWN

Destroyed by the Earthquake, Walls Crashed Down a Hill on to Calitri.

KING AND QUEEN TIRELESS

Inspire Confidence in the Stricken People—Severe Shock Last Evening Near Reggio, Calabria.

CALITRI, Italy, June 8.—The ruins of Calitri and the adjoining villages were inspected to-day by King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena. Most of the houses in Calitri have been destroyed, and the 8,000 inhabitants are camping in the fields.

Thirty-two bodies have been uncovered, while eight or ten more are thought to be still under the fallen walls. Two were taken out in the presence of the King.

One section of the town is almost completely buried under the walls of a feudal castle, which was toppled over by the first heavy shock and came crashing down a hill, crushing the houses below.

The work of excavation is being carried on rapidly by the civil authorities and soldiers, but, contrary to the experiences at Messina and Reggio, no one is being unearthed alive. A two-year-old baby, however, was found close beside a heap of wreckage, unharmed.

The Duke of Aosta also visited the villages and inspected the work of relief, departing to-night for Naples. The sovereigns did not rest or sleep for thirty-six hours. When they departed to-night for Rome there were touching demonstrations, many of the women kneeling before the Queen.

The visit of their Majesties has done much toward restoring order and confidence, and the King's last act before his departure was to issue instructions that every possible relief measure be taken on behalf of the stricken people.

AVELLINO, June 8.—The passage of the train carrying the King and Queen through the province afforded occasion for frequent demonstration by the populace. At every railway station their Majesties were greeted by crowds which streamed down from the mountains. When the train reached this town it was suggested that the Queen break the trip for a brief sleep, but she refused, saying that she wished to reach Calitri at the earliest hour possible.

Their Majesties were much affected by the sight which met them there. The King insisted upon going through the streets, half filled with fallen walls, and visiting every spot where his direction or advice was of value. To the men he spoke with energy and firmness, commanding them to find strength in their hour of misfortune. He promised that everything necessary would be done to relieve the distress.

While the King was so engaged, the Queen turned her attention to the more helpless ones. She had a word of comfort for every woman and caresses for the children. Her Majesty said that she would take care of the orphans. She personally visited the injured, inquiring solicitously as to their needs.

NAPLES, June 8.—In the course of the night a series of slight earth shocks was recorded by the seismographs at points in Southern Italy. The disturbances, however, were not otherwise noticeable, and to-day the people throughout the region which was severely shaken yesterday are calmer, in the hope that the worst is over.

American Ambassador Leishman to-day visited the American cruiser New York, which is lying in the harbor. If the necessity arises the cruiser will contribute to the work of relief of the earthquake sufferers.

REGGIO DI CALABRIA, June 8.—A severe undulatory shock was felt this evening at Gallina.

This town was greatly damaged by the earthquake in 1908, and the present disturbance has caused much alarm.

AMNESTY IN CUBA.

Many Prisoners Released, Including the Former Official de Zayas.

HAVANA, June 8.—President Gomez to-day signed the bill amending the Amnesty Act of 1909. Through it a large number of offenders, including many public officials, who were sentenced to terms of imprisonment of less than eight years or are awaiting trial, are released.

Those benefiting by the amnesty include Lincoln de Zayas, who has been held under indictment on charges growing out of his conduct in office as Acting Secretary of Public Instruction since the period of American intervention.

JEWS HUNTED DOWN.

Governor of Smolensk Tracking Illegal Residents—Many Caught in Woods.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 8.—According to advices received here from Smolensk, the Governor is employing secret police throughout the Province of Smolensk to trace Jews who have been illegally residing there.

Since May 30 a squad of secret police, assisted by mounted gendarmes, has made a house-to-house search in Polchinok, a settlement of 200 houses on the Riga-Orloff Railway, an important flour centre. Ten Jews were arrested and have been deported. Sixty more were caught in the neighboring woods, where they were hiding. These were mostly young men employed by the flour firms.

In the course of the hunt for fugitives in the woods occasional shots were fired.

YARMOUTH LOSES DOWER.

Share in Thaw Property Yielding $500,000 Returned to Wife.

PITTSBURG, June 8.—A deed of reconveyance was recorded here to-day which practically returns to Alice Thaw, sister of Harry Thaw and formerly the Countess of Yarmouth, the property involved in the marriage dower executed at the time of the wedding here in 1903.

The solicitor for the Earl of Yarmouth made then certain stipulations which prompted the Thaw family to call in prominent attorneys of this city. It was decided that the dower, which consisted of an interest in valuable pieces of Pittsburg realty, should be placed in trust, and the Fidelity Title and Trust Company, J. Denniston Lyon, and others were named as trustees.

The marriage settlement was one-fifth interest in the realty, and after the divorce Alice Thaw brought legal proceedings for the recovery of the property. The conveyance filed to-day was in accordance with a court order after the annulment of the marriage. The properties involved produce an income of $500,000 a year.

ROYAL WEDDING IN BERLIN.

Princess Agatha von Ratibor Married to Prince Frederick William.

BERLIN, June 8.—Princess Agatha von Ratibor, one of the most beautiful girls in the society of Berlin, and Prince Frederick William of Prussia, a second cousin of Emperor William, were married at the New Palace in Potsdam to-day. Dr. Dryander, the Court Preacher, performed the ceremony, after which Empress Auguste Victoria placed the Prussian Princess's crown upon the head of the bride. The wedding was witnessed by many members of royalty from the minor German States.

The bride is the elder daughter of the Duke von Ratibor, and is 22 years of age. The Prince is the third son of the late Regent of Brunswick. His two elder brothers preferring to live abroad, Prince Frederick was appointed by the Emperor administrator of the immense properties of the Regent.

ITALIAN AMBASSADOR ACTS.

His Compatriots Arrested in Georgia Will Be Treated Fairly, Governor Says.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The strike riots among the Italian laborers at the Lookout Coal Mines at Durham, Ga., have been brought to the attention of the State Department by the Italian Ambassador here. The Secretary of State immediately communicated with Gov. Brown of Georgia, who in his reply assured the department that the Italians under arrest would have protection and fair treatment.

RACE SUICIDE IN FRANCE.

Only 770,000 Births Last Year—The Contrast with Germany.

PARIS, June 8.—Vital statistics made public to-day show a further decrease in the birth rate in France. The births in 1909 were 770,000, against 792,000 in the preceding year.

Since 1851 the population of the republic has been increased by 3,000,000 only, while the population of Germany in the same period has been increased by 30,000,000.

Milwaukee Must Raise Bond Interest.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 8.—Mayor Seidel has been informed by the City Controller and Treasurer that the city must raise the interest rate from 4 to 4½ per cent. to dispose of future public improvemente bonds, following a meeting of officials of Milwaukee depositories yesterday. The decision of the bankers removed the last hope of selling bonds at the old interest rate.

Owing to improvements to be made by the city along the North River front, below Cedar Street, the Metropolitan Steamship Line will have to give up its piers at the foot of Rector Street. COOK'S AID SUES PEARY FOR $10,000

Explorer, Previous to Lecturing in Berlin, Has Papers Served Upon Him.

ALLEGATION OF EXTORTION

Rudolph Francke Says Peary Took Advantage of His Illness to Demand His Property for Bringing Him Home.

BERLIN, June 8.—Rudolph Francke, who was associated with Dr. Frederick A. Cook in Arctic exploration, and who is now in Germany, has brought suit against Commander Robert E. Peary for the sum of $10,000.

This amount is estimated as half the value of furs and walrus and narwhal teeth which Francke bought from natives in the Arctic regions, upon arrangement with Dr. Cook that they should share them half and half.

According to Francke's statements Commander Peary found him seriously ill at Etah, owing to a fall on a glacier, and took advantage of this circumstance to demand the entire collection as the price for transporting him to America.

Francke asserts that he did not act of his own free will, but by compulsion, and says that Peary set aside a part of the collection to present to ex-President Roosevelt.

The papers in the suit were served on Commander Peary at the Adlon Hotel this evening. He refused to take them when they were handed to him by a deputy, and the officer then laid them on a table in the presence of a witness, calling the Commander's attention to the fact that this was legal service.

Earlier in the day, when the report of a court action against Commander Peary was being noised about, the Commander sought the American Ambassador, David Jayne Hill, and submitted the case to him. He declared later that he had left the matter in the Ambassador's hands and had washed his hands of the whole affair. He declined to make any statement with reference to the suit.

Commander Peary gave a lecture to-night to a crowded house, through an interpreter. He will leave Berlin for London to-morrow.

In reply to accusations regarding the furs, &c., left by Cook at Etah, friends of Commander Peary long ago produced evidence to the effect that the stuff was in an almost worthless condition when it was relinquished by Francke, and that, so far as any one knew, it was never moved by Commander Peary.

Capt. Osbon, then Secretary of the Arctic Club, a staunch supporter of Dr. Cook, said that Francke, on his return here, had produced evidence showing that Peary had confiscated the furs and horns and had sent part of them here to friends. The evidence he promised to bring forth never materialized. On the contrary, Peary's friends showed this quotation from a letter sent by the Commander:

"In regard to the five boxes, one trunk, and one bundle narwhal horns referred to in Francke's letter as being Dr. Cook's property, I told Francke I would not take any furs or other materials of the country away from here for anybody; that I would send for all this stuff except the furs and horns, and he could take it home with him. As to the furs and horns, he could turn them over to me or leave them where they were. He did the former. When the things arrived the skins were wet, mildewed, and rotting and the horns broken from knocking about."

At the same time a copy of a letter written by Francke to Commander Peary at Etah, Aug. 11, 1908, was given out. It told how Dr. Cook had gone north, leaving Francke in charge of the supplies and furs and horns; how Dr. Cook had given Francke a letter authorizing him to do with the property what he pleased in case of emergency, and concluded with an appeal to Peary to send Francke back to this country in the Erik, which had accompanied the Roosevelt as far as Etah.

A second letter from Francke to Commander Peary, dated two days later, said:

"Now is the question before me to do what is right for the future, and after thoughtful consideration I have resolved to do the following thing.

"1. I leave you all the stuff laying at Etah and Anatok to take care of them, because I can't do it. I am in a crippled condition from my boat trip. Your judgment and experience will know to make the best of them.

"2. The inclosed letter authorizes you concerning the five boxes, one bundle narwhal horns, and one trunk and one compass what to do with them. They are laying on Arwagiuarni Point. This is all Dr. Cook's property, except one horn, the heaviest, top broken off. This belongs to me, and I beg you to take that from me as a present, received for your kindness and hospitality."

In the installment of Commander Peary's story, which appeared in the February number of Hampton's Magazine, the following reference is made to the Francke incident:

APPROVES DANCE HALL LAW.

Mayor Passes on Many Other Legislative Bills Affecting the City.

Mayor Gaynor passed yesterday upon nearly twenty of the bills affecting the city approved by the recent Legislature. The most important measure was that providing for the licensing of dance halls and dancing academies, which he approved.

This bill was introduced by the Committee on Vacation Resources for Working Girls, of which Mrs. Charles H. Israels is Chairman. She and her associates fought for two years to get the measure through the Legislature.

It provides for the regular inspection of these places by officers, who will be paid out of the fund raised from the $50 a year license fee. They will see that the halls and academies conform to the requirements of the Fire and Health Departments as to ventilation and exits and that liquor is not sold or given away on the premises.

The Mayor also approved the bill allowing an increase in the trackage space of the terminal to the New Grand Central Station, between Fiftieth and Fifty-first Streets on the west side. The New York Central already has purchased the property needed, but the sanction of the city and Legislature was necessary on account of the streets which will be passed under.

The Mayor vetoed the bill increasing the city's share of the cost of the Riverside Drive extension from 50 to 75 per cent. When the extension of the drive from 137th to 155th Street was approved and the area of assessment fixed the cost was assessed equally on the property owners and the city. The former maintain, however, that the expense has been increased over the original estimates, and that the city should relieve them.

DR. POTTER UNDER FIRE AGAIN

Mayor Gaynor Holds Up the Former Clergyman's New Appointment.

Dr. Daniel C. Potter, who resigned as Chief Examiner of the Accounts of Charitable Institutions in the Department of Finance to accept the place of Superintendent of Ambulance Service under the new Ambulance Board, may not take office.

Certain charges were filed against him with Mayor Gaynor yesterday by Controller Prendergast, and the former is investigating the case. In the meantime the confirmation of the appointment has been held up. Neither the Mayor nor the Controller would say just what is the nature of the charges against Dr. Potter yesterday.

The doctor was formerly pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church in Second Avenue, and retired after a stormy time with the church officials.

BOARD OF TRADE OUTING.

Bronx Business Men Will Visit New Rochelle, Mount Vernon, and Yonkers.

The North Side Board of Trade of the Bronx will make to-day its annual pilgrimage to New Rochelle, Mount Vernon, and Yonkers. About one hundred members will make the trip in special trolley cars and be received by Mayor Harry E. Colwell in the City Hall. The party then will go to Hudson Park, where after a short sail on Long Island Sound they will proceed to Mount Vernon. There they will be received by the Chamber of Commerce and in the City Hall by Mayor Edward Fiske. They will then go to Yonkers, where Mayor James Lennon will welcome them. After a sail on the Hudson River, the outing will end with a dinner at the Park Hill Inn.

PROHIBITION WANING, BREWERS ARE TOLD

People Have Taken a Sober Second Thought, President Hoster Tells Convention.

BOUTELL FOR TEMPERANCE

Says Restrictive Laws Lead to Increased Demand for Narcotic Drugs and Tonics.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The prohibition movement is on the wane, according to reports made to-day at the convention of the United States Brewers' Association.

"The pendulum is slowly but surely swinging the other way," declared President Hoster in his address, "and it is becoming more clearly and generally recognized that the license system, which simply spells regulation, can be made to bring about better results than anything else that has been tried.

"The reaction of the last year against prohibition indicates that the American people have taken a second sober thought. While we hope that the worst stage of the distemper is past, we must continue our organized efforts to prevent such evils in the future and show our readiness to co-operate with the real leaders of republican government in the betterment of our business."

The Executive Committee reported that while the prohibition movement has been at its height the sale of beer has increased 90,000,000 gallons and the sale of spirits 11,000,000 gallons. In these gains the committee finds hope that the prohibition movement is receding.

"The old idea," the report says, "that total abstinence is the only road to safety is being replaced by the new idea of moderation both in eating and in drinking by that of self-control.

"The whole vegetable world is in a conspiracy against the prohibitionist. The bees become intoxicated with the distillation of the honey suckle; the wasps grow dizzy in the drowsy clover patch, and even the ants wobble in their walk after they have feasted upon the overripe fruit fallen from the tree, which has started a natural fermentation."

Representative Boutell of Illinois, addressing the convention, said three lessons were to be learned from the States that had put prohibition laws into effect; namely, that prohibition did not prohibit; tha twhen the open sale of mild beverages was forbidden, the surreptitious sales of strong spirits of an inferior quality greatly increased, and that there was an appalling increase in prohibition States in the demand for patent medicines, tonics, and narcotic drugs.

He declared that prohibitory laws, whether effective or ineffective, were regarded by the wisest statesmen and philanthropists as out of harmony with the spirit of an ideal government of an enlightened, free people.

"In this country," he said, "we first reversed the wisdom of the ages and agreed that the majority should not interfere by secular legislation with any man's religion. Now we are also quite agreed that the majority shall not encroach on the individual in his choice of food, apparel, amusements, and occupations."

He declared that the cause of genuine temperance was advancing rapidly.

"Temperance in all things," he said, "is the amulet worn by those who successfully strive for the mastery. It is the crown of all human virtues. Temperance is closely allied and nearly akin to strength."

Talks on Teeth

BY

G. GORDON MARTIN

(INCORPORATED)

A Recipe For Good Looks

Did any one ever see a woman, or a mere man either, who had bad teeth and good looks?

Only one answer to that question.

Poor teeth will "kill" the looks more effectually than irregular features or even a poor complexion.

Nobody needs to be handicapped by poor teeth.

He or she need not even put up with a plate of "false" teeth or a disfiguring piece of so-called "bridge work," for neither is necessary in the days of the Martinolar Method.

Martinolar teeth are like nature's. They are so close a copy of natural teeth that even dentists who see them in the mouth for the first time have to make an examination to determine which is which.

This is a severe test.

Naturally you would think such work would call for a serious operation, necessitating a lot of boring, also cutting into the gums, but nothing of the kind is necessary.

There are no complications, no surgery, and no pain attached to the process.

In the majority of cases we require is two or more teeth in either jaw to work from. We can then restore all the missing teeth without the use of partial plates and make them as firm as a rock in the mouth.

Read the following letter from Dr. James A. J. O'Brien; his statements will carry conviction to any one of the multitude of New Yorkers who know him personally or by reputation.

New York, N. Y.,
16 West 123d St.

G. Gordon Martin, Inc.,

It gives me much pleasure to testify to the superiority of your Martinolar Method of Dentistry. Starting work upon a poor foundation, you have built me a set of teeth which fill the bill in every particular. Mastication is performed without the slightest inconvenience, and I now experience all the comfort that my natural teeth could afford me.

As a physician it will be to me a pleasing duty to recommend your skilful work to any of my friends or patients who may require your services.

Thanking you for your skill and courtesy, I am, yours very faithfully,

JAMES A. J. O'BRIEN, M. D.

We are the only concern in the world that can do this work.

We are the originators of the Martinolar Method.

There is nothing just like it or just as good.

Surely it is worth investigating. We make no charge for an examination, and until we make a thorough examination we can promise you nothing. No two cases are alike.

Will you come in and let us look your teeth over?

If you cannot call at this time, send for our free, 40 page illustrated book, which describes the Martinolar Method fully.

That book contains the recipe for good looks.

HONOR MACCRACKEN ON HIS RETIREMENT

New York University Faculties Presents to Him an Engrossed Scroll and LL. D. Degree.

ENDS 25 YEARS' SERVICE

The Chancellor's Address to the 450 Graduates Urges Right Living Rather Than Knowledge.

Under bright skies more than 450 students marched through New York University to receive their degrees at the seventy-eighth commencement of that institution. This commencement was notable for a testimonial presented by the Faculties to Dr. Henry Mitchell MacCracken, who, after twenty-five years of service in the university, is retiring as Chancellor. Commencement day, in fact, was devoted pretty much to saying goodbye to the Chancellor. At all times he was the leading figure, literally so in the picturesque parade and figuratively so in the exercises which followed in the auditorium.

Last year the custom was established of dividing commencement day at New York University into two parts, and that plan was followed this year. The graduates in the Colleges of Arts and Pure and Applied Science received their degrees in the morning, while in the afternoon the professional degrees were distributed.

The procession in the afternoon is a feature of commencement at this institution, which always attracts a crowd, and yesterday was no exception. The campus was filled with friends of the students and mere observers toward 3 o'clock, when Chancellor MacCracken led the long line of Faculties, with their many colored hoods, and the graduating students through the buildings and the Hall of Fame into the auditorium.

Those who had been able to obtain tickets crowded into the auditorium to hear the Chancellor's farewell speech and to find out who had won the special honors which the university awards at this season.

Dr. MacCracken said in part:

"I have taken part in a quarter century of university effort made by New York University. By university effort I mean direct, efficient endeavor to create by the side of the College of Arts a true university organism. By this I mean an organism which investigates deeply and teaches thoroughly some great departments of knowledge and also trains candidates for liberal professions."

The University's Problem.

After sketching the history of the university through this quarter century, the Chancellor said:

"To-day the problem of New York University is not a problem of the plan of our campaigns, nor of the policy of our campaigns, nor of the scope of our campaigns. In our university senate, which includes the seven Deans with the oldest professor of each school, there is entire harmony as to policy and plan and scope. The problem of to-day is a problem for our public. It is a problem of support and supplies.

"Here I utter a distinct note of warning. In any pioneer period, especially among people like us of Teutonic or Anglo-Saxon blood, you may count on a certain enthusiasm and self-sacrifice which will be made by leaders, largely because they are pioneer leaders and largely because the interest and delight of the work of creating so absorb a man's mind as to impel him to forget his pecuniary self-interest, often to forget considerations of health, often to forget the interest of those very dear to him.

"Our campaign to occupy territory for New York University as a national and world-wide force must be a long campaign. It will be like the hundred years' war between France and England. No man can hope to see it through. If besides my one period of twenty-five years as Chancellor I could live for three more periods, each of equal length, I might hope to see New York University fulfilling her entire mission."

Honors for Dr. MacCracken.

After the Chancellor had spoken Dean Clarence D. Ashley, representing the ten Faculties, presented him with the teaching staff's testimonial, consisting of a large engrossed scroll, signed by 100 Professors, and of a resolution book of minutes passed by the Faculties of the various schools. The Chancellor also received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

The others who received honorary degrees, on this occasion, presented by the Rev. Cleland B. McAfee, were George Law Richmond, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Boonton, N. J., and George Godhart Vogel, who were made Doctors of Divinity; Judge James Brooks Dill of the Court of Errors and Appeal of the State of New Jersey, and Dr. Egbert Le Fevre, Dean of the University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College, who were made Doctors of Law, and Lawrence O'Murray, Controller of the Currency of the United States, who was made Doctor of Commercial Science.

Deans of the various schools then awarded the prizes. In the University Law School the first Benjamin F. Butler senior examination prize of $100 went to Banjamin Gross, the second of $60 to Israel H. Zinovoy, the third of $40 to Grace A. Woodelton. The Faculty examination prize of $75 went to Fal de St. Phalle. The winners of the Elliott F. Shepard Prize Scholarship and the Faculty prize scholarships will be announced later.

In the University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College the Valentine Mott gold medal went to Royal Albert Schaaf, the silver medal to Carl Miller Burdick, and the bronze medal to William A. Dwyer. The Grover C. Arnold prize in surgery went to Raymond Aloysius Kempf. In the School of Commerce the accounting prize was awarded to William Hansell Bell, and the Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity prize to John E. Glasser.

The following members of the graduating class of the medical school received hospital appointments:

S. S. Arluck, T. F. Baxter, W. A. Behand, J. A. Belott, A. A. Brill, John Brown, Jr., R. J. Brown, K. D. Bryson, A. S. Chiger, Samuel Eidelowitz, A. S. Elterman, L. J. Ferrara, P. J. Friedman, I. H. MRS. CLEVELAND USES SPADE

Breaks Ground for Library in Her Honor at Wells College.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, June 8.—Ground was broken to-day at Wells College, Aurora, for the Frances Cleveland Library, by which name the building for which Andrew Carnegie has donated $40,000 will be known. Mrs. Cleveland, the widow of the ex-President and an alumnus and Trustee of Wells, turned over the first sod.

Afterward the annual commencement exercises were held, thirty-seven young women receiving their A. B. degrees. President John Finley of the College of the City of New York delivered the address to the graduating class.

OLD PARTY NAMES EMPTY.

David Starr Jordan Says Republican and Democrat Mean Nothing.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—In the course of his speech to the graduating class of Swarthmore College to-day Dr. David Starr Jordan, President of Stanford University, declared that party names had lost their meaning, that Republican and Democrat were one and the same except in name.

"Some years ago," said Dr. Jordan, "when Mr. Roosevelt and I were boys together, he told me a story of his experience with a New York politician. This was a Democrat who was working vigorously but secretly for the election of a Republican. Mr. Roosevelt was surprised at this, but the politician explained, 'You are a very young man, Mr. Roosevelt, but when you are as old as I am you will know that there is no politics in politics.'

"In other words, when it is a question of putting one's hand in the public's purse the thin disguise of party and partisanship is laid off.

"As a good Republican of long standing, as well as I know how, the straight ticket, the only straight ticket I can vote, is one with the crooked names all scratched off from it. And if by chance my choice lies between crooked names, I give my preference to the Democrat, that my own party may be relieved from the disgrace of his election."

Posthumous Twins of Slain Rug Dealer Upset Charitable Bequest.

The estate of Hovannes S. Tavshanjian, the rug merchant who was murdered on July 22, 1907, in Union Square, amounts to $621,183, of which $79,765 is realty, according to a report filed yesterday in the transfer tax office. Of this amount $183,289 is bequeathed to the widow, $327,545 and the entire realty to the children, including posthumous twins.

The testimony taken before Appraiser Harvey T. Andrews shows that Tavshanjian was the backer of Armenian rug dealers in all parts of the United States and supplied rugs to department stores and hotel outfitters.

His total stock at the time of his death amounted to $842,000, against which were various debts of about $300,000.

Under the construction of his will, made necessary by the birth of his posthumous children, his bequest of $75,000 to establish a loan fund for worthy Armenian merchants was overthrown.

SERGEANT DEMANDS RERATING

Casey Asks a Mandamus to Get on the Eligible List for Promotion.

Sergeant Eugene Casey, in charge of the Police Headquarters Motor Cycle Squad, applied yesterday to Supreme Court Justice Giegerich for a peremptory writ of mandamus to compel the Municipal Civil Service Commission to re-rate him for promotion to the grade of Lieutenant and certify his name on the eligible list. Casey asserts that five days before the examination in November the commission passed a resolution which increased the weight of the mental test from 50 to 70 per cent. Under the old system Casey's examination would have entitled him to promotion, but under the new he was excluded.

Casey asserts that his promotion to a Sergeantcy in 1901 for bravery shows that he is the kind of man who should be promoted still higher. Fifteen other Sergeants are interested in Casey's suit. Lawyers pointed out yesterday that Casey raises much the same objections to mental tests for police promotion that Chief Croker raises in the Fire Department.

LACK OF DONATIONS SURPRISES VASSAR

Comment Made on Few Gifts by President Taylor at Commencement Exercises.

MORE BUILDINGS NEEDED

Class of 217 Is Graduated—Limit of 1,000 Students Is to be Continued Next Year.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 8.—The official close of the college year at Vassar was marked to-day by the holding of the forty-fifth annual commencement exercises in the chapel. Dr. James Monroe Taylor presided.

The announcement was made that the Trustees have decided temporarily to retain the 1,000 limit of membership. The college needs funds for new buildings to house students on the campus. No definite period was fixed for continuing the restriction, which may be removed at any time when the college is relieved from the embarrassment of having more applications than it can receive.

With the exception of a donation of $1,000 from an unnamed friend and the annual endowments of alumnae, there were few money gifts to be announced for the college by Dr. Taylor, who said:

"Either the college has not as many friends as it should have or the spirit of giving is lacking. When I reflect what Vassar has done and what Vassar is, I confess to some amazement that there have been no more gifts this year."

Dr. Taylor said that Vassar needs money, first for more professors and instructors, and second for new buildings and for beautifying the campus. Notwithstanding the absence of money gifts, Dr. Taylor said that the year past had been most successful. He spoke feelingly of the loss of Miss Frances A. Wood, who resigns from the college after thirty years as librarian and forty-four years' association with the Faculty.

Two hundred and seventeen young women received the A. B. degree at the commencement exercises, twenty-six were awarded an additional honor on the basis of standing throughout the course, nine received honorable mention, and two obtained the degree of A. M. The graduating class is one of the largest in the history of the college.

The most imposing feature of the day's events was the commencement procession across the campus to the college chapel, led by the marshal of commencement day, Mrs. Lillian Stevens Hilliard, class of 1885, followed by the marshal of alumnae and the alumnae members, the marshal of the graduating class, Miss Florence Taylor, who is the sophomore President; the graduates in white gowns, the candidates for the A. M. degree, the Faculty, Trustees, and the guests. Judging from the length of the procession, the pioneer women's college in America, which is Vassar's proud boast, has become a substantial factor in the progress and development of the sex.

Essays of graduates were read, beginning with one by Miss Gertrude C. Lovell, President of the senior class, on the homely theme of "Main Street." Other essays were by Miss Mary Margaret Shelley on "The Problem of the Tongue's End"; by Miss Sara Dana Loomis on "The Passing of the Frontier"; by Miss Ruth Evelyn Marceau on "Vergil the Magician"; by Miss Helen Weeks Lardon on "A Modern Crusade," and by Miss Charlotte Moffatt Gailor on "Maria Edgeworth, an Appreciation."

The candidates for the second degree in arts were Psyche Rebecca Sutton, A. B., 1909, thesis, "The Delta Cephei Type of Variables," and Fanny Rollinson Sweeney, A. B., 1907; thesis, "A Study of a Few Forms of Public and Private Relief in the City of Poughkeepsie."

Columbia Now Has Chair of Optometry

Columbia University has established a two-year course in optometry, the first offered by any college in the United States. This course will begin on September 21, and is intended to equip graduates to prescribe glasses for defective vision. It will be independent of the medical school and part of the department of physics.

Batonyi Railroad Suit Settled.

Supreme Court Justice Erlanger signed an order of discontinuance yesterday in the suit brought by Aurel Batonyi, the whip, against the New York City Railway Company. Batonyi was injured several years ago in Central Park West when an Eighth Avenue trolley car ran into a four-in-hand he was driving. Counsel on both sides refused to discuss the terms on which the suit was settled.

150 POLICEMEN'S JOBS GOING.

Must Go Back to Patrol When the New Court Bill Becomes a Law.

When the new inferior courts bill, recently signed by Mayor Gaynor, becomes a law, about 150 policemen now acting as attendants in the police courts in Manhattan and the Bronx will be sent back on patrol, to say nothing of the sixteen who are now the Magistrates' probationary officers.

Out of the number in the courts about two-thirds are unfit for patrol duty, mostly on account of age. Nine-tenths of the policemen in the courts have served twenty-five years on the force, and of the total number taken out of the courts, including Special Sessions, nearly 100 will retire on half pay—$700 a year. This means that the city will pay $70,000 in pensions. The 150 court attendants appointed will receive $1,200 each, or $180,000 a year. The opponents to the proposed change say that if only as many civilian court attendants are used as there are police now it means that the city will be paying $250,000 for what it now pays but $210,000.

Again, it is argued that no ten civilians can keep a court in order as successfully as ten policemen do, and that at least fifteen court attendants will be needed. This makes the cost of running a court where ten policemen now handle the crowds $12,000, plus the probationary officer, who will receive $1,500, and two policemen to serve warrants, $2,800 a year more, making in all about $16,300, plus the money paid to retired policemen, say $4,900, or $21,200 in all. It now costs $16,500 to run such a court—$14,000 for ten policemen, including the Magistrate's probationary officer, and $2,500 for the Lieutenant in charge.

The court clerks say that the opening of two additional courts, the second Night Court, and the court for the trial of abandonment cases only, will make it necessary that the court squads as now arranged be reduced in the number assigned to each squad. That is, that three clerks do the work now done by four, or at that ratio. It will mean no longer hours of work, but more of it.

The appointee to the position of Chief Magistrate is causing much speculation around the courts.

TRENT'S SURGEON TAKEN ILL.

Passenger Takes Up His Duties When He Is Landed at the Azores.

Purser Whitty of the Royal Mail steam packet Trent, which arrived here yesterday from Southampton via the West Indies, said that the ship's surgeon was landed at the Azores to be operated upon for appendicitis. Dr. S. H. Scott, a passenger, filled his place until the liner reached this port, as it was necessary to have a surgeon on board, there being more than 100 cabin passengers on the ship.

Dr. Cormack from the Orotava is going to change over to the Trent and Dr. Scott will sail on Saturday on the Orotava as far as Barbados, where he will be relieved by a physician sent out by the company from Southampton. Capt. C. E. Down, R. N. R., will command the Trent on the New York-Bermuda service, which begins on Saturday.

DIVORCES CAPT. THOMPSON.

Wife Left Him in 1908—His Father Was Governor of South Carolina.

Supreme Court Justice Bischoff approved yesterday findings by which Sarah G. Thompson will obtain a legal separation from Capt. John M. Thompson, Ninth Regiment, Coast Artillery. Thompson's father formerly was Governor of South Carolina and Controller of the New York Life Insurance Company.

Mrs. Thompson's attorney said yesterday he expected his client would receive the custody of her three sons.

The Thompsons, who were married in 1892, signed a separation agreement in 1908. Mrs. Thompson was awarded a judgment in the City Court for the amount of Thompson's defaulted payments under this agreement.

WHAT YOU LEAVE BEHIND YOU

If you make some great and able man your executor, he will have at best only time for scant attention to your estate. His clerks are apt to have most to do with carrying out the provisions of your Will.

If you make us your executor, every detail will be watched by a skilled department under direction of experts in estate administration.

You get ability, character, stability, experience, economy, efficiency. The charges are the same—fixed by law.

THE RAILWAY SETTLEMENT.

The Journal of Commerce, which pursues its way serenely far aloof from the madding political world, is dazed by recent events at Washington. The timeliness of what was done in relation to the primaries in Iowa has no allurements for a journal with a single eye to the commercial bearings of laws and proposals of law. The Journal only perceives that a legal process was used under false pretenses, with a boldness unparalleled in anything that Mr. GOMPERS ever complained of, and it shudders to think of the possibility of such an abuse of the courts by a bad President. However, that milk is spilled, and it is useless to weep over it. It is more to the purpose to ask what is the salvage from this prostitution of governmental process.

The way we are getting the new law, and the sort of law we are getting in that way of legislation, resembles nothing so much as paying a dollar and seeing what you can draw out of a bag blindfold at a church fair. Generally speaking, sophisticated persons doubt that anything worth more than the price is likely to be got in any such manner. Still there are surprises sometimes, and this is one of those occasions. Moreover, the surprise runs along familiar lines this time. The objective of the anti-railway campaign was originally to reduce railway rates. The campaign was not begun in pure malice. It was not designed to damage the railways, but only to benefit their patrons by deductions from resources supposed to be so great that it was impossible to work any serious damage. The adjustment now reached is the latest—perhaps the last—in a series of disappointments which have their amusing side.

The wails which went up when it was discovered that the prohibition of passes was genuine is echoing yet, and there have been many calculations of how much this added to the profits of the railways from passenger traffic. It was the same with the abolition of rebates. The idea was that only the railways were responsible for rebates, and a special amendment of the law was necessary punishing receivers as well as payers of rebates before the practice was stopped. Again it was calculated how much the stoppage of rebates added to the income from freight traffic. At this point those disappointed in the practical operation of reform shouted aloud that they were betrayed. This fatuous cry was set up against Mr. WICKERSHAM'S nine times revised and finally rejected bill. It is audible even now regarding the versions of the same bill which are in death grips with each other in the conference between the houses. It is at this point in the game that the President personally intervenes with an arrangement establishing the "fixed price" system for the benefit of the railways, in fact, although it is given out as a famous triumph by those protesting against an increase of rates.

Rates are not to be increased immediately, or unreasonably, and by the same token they are not to be reduced either carelessly or maliciously. Railway rates hereafter are to be imbedded in statutory processes, and it would be about as easy to amend the Constitution as to amend such a statute. By a commercial arrangement the price of rails has been stabilized, and the result has been a hitherto unapproached stability of all railway calculations involving the price of steel. This is to be even truer regarding railway rates. They will decline in response to irresistible economic conditions, but the campaign to reduce them by votes in order to increase the profits of those agitating for that object, or for other objects less defensible, is over. Hereafter price sheets can be calculated with confident reliance upon railway rates. Never again will the country endure such another object lesson of how not to legislate on any subject. Such vacillation of purpose, such innocence of principle, such defiance of economic law or of constitutional traditions, were never before exhibited, and can never succeed any better than in this case.

It cannot be contended that the shippers come out of the contest in any condition calling for sympathy. Their rates are the world's lowest, and their service is the world's best, as was testified only recently by a German observer who regarded American practice as worthy of imitation by the German Government lines. But although the shippers get little, investors get much. The courts will not allow their property to be confiscated, and what profits railways earn they can keep, or divide. Railway services hereafter will be recognized as something for which payment can be demanded, not solicited as a favor, and in fear lest a statute should cut the bill in two. The result will be a confidence in railway securities which has not lately been felt.

It is odd that this should result from the abuse of an injunction by a Judge who, as President, was moving for the amendment of the injunction practice. The stern administrator of this admirable and popular anti-trust law has formed the greatest trust of all. He has manoeuvred the railways, and the shippers, and the dissenting State Legislatures into an agreement with each other which amounts to a conspiracy against the reduction of rates hereafter except for irresistible reasons. Much has been lost before the result was reached, but the President as well as the country may be congratulated that it has been reached at last. The situation created by the injunction was impossible. If the President had persisted he could not have passed any bill and the business of the country would have been thrown into endless wrangles for an indefinite period. It might be wished that some things were otherwise, but they are better than would have been thought possible a few days ago.

THE IMPUDENCE OF CASSIDY.

The Grand Jury has for some time been engaged in an investigation of the administration of public affairs in Queens Borough. Commissioner of Accounts FOSDICK has been delving among the bills and vouchers and other records of the borough, and he has furnished much evidence to the Grand Jury. The result is that according to general expectation alluring political opportunities may presently be opened to the ambitious.

If the voters of Queens really burn with a desire to maintain the unquestioned supremacy of that borough as the worst governed community in the United States, it would be futile to address to them any admonitions concerning the ambition of Mr. JOSEPH CASSIDY to be restored to that place of power and emolument which he held prior to 1906. If, on the contrary, they would like to see the government of their borough made clean, decent, and honest, but are too supine, weak-kneed, and slothful to compel their five Aldermen to reject Mr. CASSIDY'S solicitations and to elect a fit man, should it be necessary to elect a public officer in that borough, then, again, it would be futile to offer them any advice.

We must assume that the people of Queens desire decent government. Then why do they not make their desire known? It is a time for mass meetings, for public demonstrations, for the expression of the popular will in forms that would be compelling upon the Aldermen. Everybody knows what the return of CASSIDY to power would mean. In all conscience there is rottenness enough in Queens already. Do they want to issue a license for deeper and blacker corruptions, for more graft, and further forgeries? Why should they want to jump from the Gresser frying pan into the Cassidy fire?

The matter is in the hands of the Queens voters. The five Aldermen of the borough will have power to fill a vacancy should the vacancy be created. Two of these Aldermen are said to be Cassidy men. If he wins a third he will have his way. There is no reason on earth why the decent people of Queens should not have their way. If they will get upon their feet and demand that the Aldermanic vote be cast in a way to put an end to graft and stealing and forgery, if they will insist upon the repulse of the Cassidy assault, they can compel obedience to their will.

GOLDWIN SMITH.

If we had had any man to exchange for him GOLDWIN SMITH might have been called the first exchange professor to the United States. He was indeed the apostle to this country and to Canada of the mellow culture of the older nations that is informing democracy. Prof. SMITH'S work at Oxford, when the evil spirits of clericalism and snobbery were being exorcised in that institution, furnishes the key to his subsequent career. He hated cant, dogma, and privilege. His was the "fighting edge" which Mr. ROOSEVELT admires in the stalwart defenders and spreaders of a material civilization, but the "fighting edge" of moral and intellectual rather than of physical courage. He decried the spirit of commercial privilege and tribal exclusiveness that raised the barrier of tariff mountains separating for three thousand miles this country from Canada. Trade and human intercourse that should have flowed south along the great valleys of this Continent were permanently deflected east and west, and in his later years GOLDWIN SMITH, perhaps in despair, ceased teaching the advantages of a union between the United States and Canada. Yet he was until his death, as one of his numerous enemies termed him, "that hybrid Anglo-Yankee-Canadian" who had settled this side the sea to teach us that "above all nations is humanity."

It was his faithfulness to this principle that moved him to warn Canada in the closing year of his life against aiding Great Britain's pretensions over other nations, and to point out clearly that through militarism her people would only be enslaved to a national debt and an awful pension list, such as that under which this country groans. He attacked the cliques of education as ably and incisively as he assailed the cliques of politics and religion. The spirit of caste that establishes material and physical standards of excellence in the colleges, and gradually lowers these to the points of coddled elegance and priggishness, he exposed and pitilessly dissected. Instead of producing trained leaders of thought and saviors of the nation the colleges and society were worshipping a few football heroes with overdeveloped muscles and puny intellects. Religion he perceived to be still the religion of authority, not the religion of reason and true faith. As the fighting nations of Europe had superposed their beliefs upon the conquered nations, those who should be the spiritual leaders of the people bullied their parishioners with dogmas, and the children inherited, like commodities, the beliefs of their fathers.

Against all these tendencies of his time GOLDWIN SMITH was an embodiment of protest. He was the foe of provincialism of the State, of the school, of the mind, and of the soul. This was why he subordinated his ample accomplishments of style and scholarship to the service of journalism—of daily converse and grappling with men and affairs. It was a noble service, the results of which will be appreciated by the generation that is rising to intellectual and moral freedom.

THE BOARD OF AMBULANCES.

The Board of Ambulance Service was created to perform an important function, to minister to the public in cases of peril to the lives of its individual members. It has serious work to do. The announcement yesterday that the board has appointed as Director of Ambulance Service Mr. D. C. POTTER, and Messrs. FANNING and MCKENNA as his deputies, all three holders of nice, soft, easy, confidential, and otherwise exempt positions in the Finance Department until they were relieved of them during a recent housecleaning indicates that the work has not been taken seriously.

The heads of this service should, of course, be experts in judging its peculiar needs. They should have more than casual acquaintance—it should be thorough, intimate, detailed—with the workings of the public hospitals. Action has not yet been taken by Mayor GAYNOR and the State and Municipal Civil Service Commissions to put these places in the expert class, subject to competitive examinations. So soon as this is done the qualifications of Messrs. FANNING, MCKENNA, and POTTER will be measured according to true standards. No more conclusive argument to hurry up this proceeding is needed than the bare announcement of their appointment.

THE LAW'S DELAY.

A practical movement for reform in the unjust and intolerable administration of the law was advanced a step last week by the conference of the Committee of the American Bar Association and the National Civic Federation. EVERETT P. WHEELER, Esq., of this city is the Chairman of the former and RALPH W. BRECKENRIDGE of Omaha is Chairman of the latter—names and addresses that indicate the wide interest felt in the matter.

The excellence of this movement is that it is concentrated on a few extremely important changes in the procedure of the Federal courts. These changes are directed against evils of very great scope, of long standing, working harm in various ways, and pretty firmly rooted in the practice of courts and in the traditions of the legal profession. The principle involved is much the same in the Federal and the State courts, and an efficient reform in the former will, in the first place, work a decided and valuable improvement, and, in the second place, will establish a precedent and example for the use of the State courts.

The two Committees—of the Bar Association and the Federation—aim directly at expediting the administration of justice. The obstacles in the way, of which they take particular cognizance, are, first, the elaborate, intricate, and tedious rules which govern equity procedure in the Federal courts, and, second, the rules governing appeals upon purely technical points. As to both a simple practice act for the Federal courts will be urged on Congress, as well as the bills now pending, providing that, in appeals, decisions shall be rendered on questions of law arising in jury trials upon the merits and without regard to technical errors.

A curious condition of things has arisen in the United States with reference to both civil and criminal trials. In the latter the old principle that an accused person must be treated as innocent until proved guilty—sound enough in itself, but originally based on the notorious practice of political persecution through legal forms—has gradually come to be interpreted to the effect that everything done in the prosecution of a criminal is wrong unless it can be shown affirmatively to be right. To the criminal is given not only the benefit of the doubt in the matter of evidence, but in the matter of every technical point raised by his counsel. As a multitude of these points can be made the basis of appeal and review, the criminal who has money enough, even if it be the fruit of larceny or swindling, can obtain almost indefinite delay, and, since delay often makes conviction much more difficult, can escape serious punishment for his crime. The statute prepared by the Committees will be aimed at the reduction of this scandalous and mischievous evil to the lowest practical limit.

In civil cases the actual, definite, acknowledged result of the present condition of things is to make the administration in a considerable proportion of cases a matter of money. That is to say, justice is denied to the poor and injustice is permitted to the rich. The poor cannot pay the cost of securing justice. The rich can purchase the delays which make impossible the correction of injustice. This is not a question of corruption. It does not imply that verdicts or decisions can, directly or indirectly, be bought. It is a question of antiquated and complex legal practice with which the probity of Judge and jury has nothing necessarily to do. But the hideous result under the present system is inevitable. So far as concerns the immediate effect upon the rights of litigants, the Egyptian fellahin, under the old régime, were not more distinctly denied justice than are the poor men of the United States in certain classes of cases. Of course, the decision that is delayed would not always be in their favor; in existing conditions they simply cannot get a determination of their rights.

We should not venture to make so emphatic a statement on our own interpretation of the facts as they come to the knowledge of the student of public affairs. We have the very highest authority for it. Every substantial fact we have recited has been publicly related by the eminent lawyers investigating the subject, by such distinguished Judges as the late Justice BREWER of the United States Supreme Court, and by President TAFT, with his experience on the bench and in public life. The remedy now proposed for a part of the grave evil we have outlined is, as we have said, modest, practical, and tentative. There is no room for reasonable doubt that it would do all that is expected and that it would open the way for the accomplishment of much more, that it would be the sound beginning of a great and beneficent reform.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Honesty Is Not Overvalued.

In addressing the graduating class of the Lawrenceville school this week LESLIE M. SHAW, former Secretary of the Treasury, spoke of honesty in a way which, while quite true as he intended it, may have been misunderstood by some of his hearers, with possibly dangerous consequences. Speaking of the qualifications for success in life, Mr. SHAW told the boys that the applicant for work or a position who could only say "I am honest" would stand little chance of securing it, and would as little deserve to do so, since honesty is no guarantee of competency for the performance of any task whatever and the incompetent are wanted nowhere.

There is no doubt about that, and there is, of course, such a thing as exaggerating, not the importance of honesty but its adequacy as basis for a claim to employment or trust. Even in a cashier much more than honesty is wanted—he must be intelligent, accurate, industrious, and skilful, to mention only a few of the other qualities required to make him worth his salary. But while Mr. SHAW was right in denying that honesty is not enough, it would have been well had he gone on and said that honesty is a fundamental qualification, just as it is a fundamental virtue, and that its known absence is fatal to the winning of any kind of success worthy of the name. He might also have added that the mere ability to refrain from stealing money is a comparatively small part of honesty.

It was that sort of honesty, presumably, which he had in mind when he said, rather contemptuously, "Everybody is honest." Even that statement, however, is an exaggeration, slight, perhaps, considering only the number of burglars, pickpockets, and defaulters as compared with the whole population, but an enormous one if among the dishonest are included, as they certainly should be included, all the big and little "grafters" in business and politics, all the tradesmen who use false weights and measures, all the employers who exploit the necessities of their employés to deprive them of a just recompense for their services, and all the employés who give less than the time and work for which they are paid.

In moments of discouragement one is more apt to say that "everybody is dishonest" than to echo Mr. SHAW'S declaration that "everybody is honest," and if any of the Lawrenceville boys gained from his speech the impression or suspicion that the importance of honesty is generally overestimated it would be lamentable indeed. The foundation of a house is not a house, but there can be no house without one.

A Lesson for the Teacher.

That Mr. ROOSEVELT is deeply read and has as deeply thought along many lines that men as busy as he has been have found no time to follow is a truth that found a hundred illustrations in his Romanes Lecture, and nobody could read it without asking himself again and again, "How did he come to have that bit of knowledge?" Indeed, in the end, anybody who in the lecture discovers even a single indication that the Colonel is less than omniscient has reason to be even more surprised than proud, and that probably is why haste is made here to announce that had the lecturer read just one more book—and a book, too, written by an author to whom Mr. ROOSEVELT as President bore the relation of Commander in Chief for seven years—he might in one important passage have substituted statements for questions.

For, since the appearance of Col. C. E. WOODRUFF'S "Effects of Tropical Light on White Men" there is no good excuse for asking, as Mr. ROOSEVELT did, how it happens that the intrusive blond races who played a rôle so magnificent in every one of the ancient empires concerning which we have any knowledge made no permanent impression on the darker peoples over whom they ruled—the darker peoples who remain to-day just about what and where they always were. For the answer is known—they all died out, as races always have done when they wandered too far and too rapidly from the regions to which they were adapted in structure, stature, and complexion.

The same process is going on in this country to-day, the blond strains suffering a slow elimination, mitigated only, and now comparatively little, by the arrival of new immigrants from Northern Europe. This phenomenon has an important bearing on the "race suicide" problem by which the Colonel is so disquieted, and if he would only read the other Colonel's books he wouldn't be half as much worried as he is over an inevitable consequence of climatic nonadaptation. Or at least he wouldn't be worried in the same way and would seek remedies in other directions. He knows that, HOMER to the contrary notwithstanding, there never were any "golden-haired Greeks." Why does he not also know that the men so described met the same fate as will the present royal family in Greece, also Teutonic, if it stays there long enough?

The System Is Not to Blame.

As was to be expected, the Civil Service Commissioners, while refusing to enter into a controversy with Fire Chief CROKER, have put the reporters in the way of getting evidence that the examinations to which applicants for positions in the Fire Department are subjected do not, as he charged, unduly subordinate physical to mental qualifications. At any rate, the questions asked in the mental tests seem to be for the most part both sensible and relevant, while the physical tests are severe and are apparently well designed to get for the department just the strong and big-lunged men the Chief says it needs.

We note, however, that though, in behalf of the commission, it is stated that high physical qualifications are counted as making up in considerable degree for what may be called educational deficiencies—as they certainly should—there is no denial that the converse is also true, as it certainly should not be, at least to an extent anything like as large. The department can use big, sound men, even if they are a bit dull or ignorant, but for weaklings it has no use whatever, no matter though they be intellectual giants. This is a matter that ought to be cleared up before the controversy goes any further, and no doubt it can be, easily enough.

The opponents of "civil service" are so nearly always wrong—in their opposition to the system as a system if in nothing more—that it is safe to assume Chief CROKER'S wrongness to that extent in this instance. The troubles of which he complains are no necessary result of competitive examinations under civil service rules. Of that we are sure.

A DUST-LAYER.

Method of Applying Calcium Chloride to Last Six Weeks.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I read your article in last Sunday's TIMES in reference to calcium chloride for laying the dust, which treated of what is known as the wet process, by dissolving the chloride in water and sprinkling with a regular water wagon. Permit me to say there is another method of applying this chloride of calcium, which is far more effective and acts as a road binder as well as a dust-layer.

I have had the privilege of superintending these applications in New Jersey with results far beyond our expectations. The granular form of calcium chloride is applied directly to the road's surface, one pound to the square yard, and it immediately commences to absorb the moisture from the air and goes into the road to the depth of about two inches.

On April 15 I made an application on a hard gravel road at Long Branch, N. J., and this road is still in good condition, showing that the heavy rains did not wash out the material. On May 13 an application was made at Flushing, L. I., on a hard macadam road with the same results. In extremely hot and dry weather this first treatment lasts about six weeks, when a subsequent sprinkling of half a pound to the square yard carries it another six weeks, and so on. Macadam roads require moisture to hold them together in extremely hot and dry weather, and calcium chloride holds this moisture where it is most needed. Calcium chloride is an absolute necessity in sections where no water is obtainable, as it is applied in the dry state and nature does the rest. E. B. HOUGHTON.

POLITICAL MOVE.

So Considers the Government's Attack on the Railroads.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Another proof of the purely political origin of this last move against the railroads is the fact that they cannot contribute to campaign expenses, while many of the manufacturers can and do. A man who invests his money in manufacturing enterprises is to have tariff and railroad rates made for his benefit, in other words, privileges, while one who invests in railroads is not even to have rights. Mr. Taft's bland smile is pleasing, his prattle is plausible, but both his and Mr. Wickersham's actions too often belie their words to inspire confidence any longer.

Mr. Taft recently made a speech in which after childishly and naively referring to a possible panic, he proceeded to condemn the newspapers which criticise men in public life, confounding statesman and politician. Now, there are some of us who consider themselves at least in the class to which Mr. Taft's stupendous (?) intellect entitles him to belong, and who think that his (Mr. Taft's) statesmanship is merely dictated by the political exigencies of others shrewder than he. This is an opinion reluctantly arrived at by a supporter and admirer of both Mr. Taft and Mr. Wickersham. E. R. D.

Taxes and Education.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

At the recent hearing before the Mayor on the question of assessing church and charitable property for improvements, one of the speakers, a Mr. Martin, said that the remissions of taxes alone in this city came to $8,000,000 per annum. There was a sort of an implication in this statement that the city was the loser to this amount—but never was there a greater error. Granting the correctness of the figures, one denomination alone returns to the city every year nearly all the amount named. This denomination conducts schools which 75,000 pupils attend in Manhattan and the Bronx and 35,000 in the other boroughs. This army would cost the city at least $40 per annum for each pupil. Let Mr. Martin and those who think with him ponder these undeniable facts.

As to the quality of the education to be obtained in public schools since "pedaguese" became the rage, the book, "American Education," of Dr. Andrew Draper will open the eyes of people. He evidently thinks the $40 or $50 per pupil very largely wasted. So do I. ROBERT P. GREEN.

If Hamilton Visits Princeton.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Mr. W. M. Bradshaw's letter, published in your paper on June 7, no doubt expresses the wish of a great many Princeton alumni, undergraduates, and friends of the university, who will assemble in Princeton for the commencement. No doubt Mr. Hamilton would get such a reception in Princeton on Saturday as would amply repay him for the trouble of flying from Trenton to the university town, and the flight would be a feature of the 1910 commencement, which would long live in the memory of the thousands gathered to pay honor to their Alma Mater.

Greatest Prize of All.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Believing in encouraging our aviators to the limit, I hereby offer the sum of $500,000 to the first one flying around the earth in eighty days. That is at the rate of $20 a mile and ought to be enough. I haven't got the money now, but I will have it before anybody can successfully claim it. Please post this in a conspicuous place. W. J. Teaching the Mothers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Referring to your column in to-day's paper "Another Campaign to Save the Babies," would it not be wise to begin? Nine out of ten mothers are ignorant in regard to the care of an infant. Going through the streets, especially in Summer, one continually sees babies eating watermelon rinds, cucumbers, and all kinds of deadly foods for infants. In order to save the babies it would seem well to begin with the mothers. W.

DOGS IN THE CITY.

Injuries and Deaths Caused by Them as Shown by Newspapers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In an editorial article, "Defense of a Defender," June 2, you scout the suggestion that dogs should be "exterminated" on account of the damage and annoyance they cause. Some protection of the public might be obtained without such extreme measures. It may be granted that many dogs have good and useful qualities. By no means does it follow that their owners should be allowed to let them run at large in an urban community.

Your own news columns speak eloquently on this subject nearly every week. On March 17 you reported the death in New York of a well-known lawyer, caused by rabies resulting from a dog's bite. On Dec. 13 you gave nearly a column to the story of a full-grown man killed by a dog, and also reported the case of a woman who had her nose "almost torn off" by a pet dog. On Nov. 14 you told of a "baby mortally bitten by a dog" and of an eight-year-old boy on the public street bitten "severely" in the cheek. On April 12 you gave an account of a man who, being "powerful," was able to choke to death a bulldog and thus "save his wife, five little children, and himself." On Feb. 17 you reported a woman bitten by a strange dog on the roof of her apartments. On March 5 you told of a vicious bulldog which "broke his chain" and ran at two children, biting the boy "severely on the hands and legs" when he seized it to "save his baby sister." On March 22 you described the injury of a ten-year-old boy by a dog. The boy, with "his right arm torn in several places," with "six deep rents in his right cheek and ten upon his head," and with "his right calf chewed literally into shreds," was said to have "only a slight chance to recover." On Jan. 2 you told of a St. Bernard dog running into a group of boys, "biting right and left." After biting three children and a policeman he was subdued. April 20 you reported that a four-year-old girl was bitten and knocked down by a dog, which also attacked and bit the mother, who came to the aid of the child. On April 2 you reported that in a Queens Borough suburb a mad dog had bitten "one man and four children," besides biting ten other dogs, and that parents were keeping children from school. May 8 you published the names of ten persons bitten by a dog which "went on a rampage" in Manhattan.

On Nov. 27 The Evening Post told of the death of a man at the Presbyterian Hospital of rabies due to the bite of a dog. On April 15 The Evening Post reported the death of a veterinary surgeon at Bellevue Hospital from the same cause.

These outrages, being merely those casually gleaned by one person from two newspapers, and occurring in this city or its immediate vicinity, indicate that the price paid the country over for the privilege of keeping dogs is a terrible one. With this harvest of death and injury in about six months, is it rash to conclude that dogs are a greater danger to life and safety than either fireworks or football, about which there is such serious complaint?

How long will men and women who have children submit to these conditions? Keepers of dogs have no right to impose the risk on others. It is impossible to tell what dog will next become vicious. Any child may be the next victim. The law must be changed so as to prevent dogs from running at large, at least in thickly settled communities. J. F. O.

THE NEW AVENUE.

Places the Cost of Land at a Hundred Millions.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Referring to the recent suggestion of Mayor Gaynor that a street be cut through between Fifth and Sixth Avenues, running from Washington Square north to Central Park, the reason stated for such being the existing congestion of traffic, which makes Fifth Avenue at certain points a dangerous crossing and greatly interferes with vehicular traffic. This is most interesting, but does not the suggestion, admirable as it theoretically is, come too late, and thus cease to be practicable? It seems to me such is the case.

In order to obtain such a street as would be necessary, viz., 100 feet wide, approximately 400 lots would have to be condemned and purchased. The cost of obtaining these lots would be certainly between $80,000,000 and $100,000,000.

This estimate is not excessive, as the lots themselves would average more than $100,000 each, whereas the buildings erected thereon would double or triple this figure in many instances.

The average cost of the property to be taken, which has been placed by some authorities on a basis of $100,000 each, in my opinion is far too low.

That there is need for relief on our principal avenue is taken for granted, but cannot this be provided for in other ways than that along the lines of the Mayor's suggestion, viz., by the extension southerly of Madison Avenue, Sixth Avenue, Seventh Avenue, and Eighth Avenue?

All of these arteries for north and south travel are more or less hampered at present by reason of their being without proper southern extensions. The cost of giving these outlets would be small comparatively, and greatly relieve congestion on all the avenues, and in addition would open up sections of the city that are now inactive and where land could be purchased at very low figures.

THE ANTI-SUFFRAGIST.

Over the graves of worn women asleep—
Sunken graves, where pale, lissome creatures seep
Like sluggish wine through the riot roses;
The unloved tombs of the women who wrought
In treadmills of toil, uncheered and untaught—
Knitted the world-fabric close with the pain
That accrued from Eden's pitiful gain;—
Over the graves of tired women at rest,
Pillowed on Time's improvident breast,
Madam trips lightly, in battle array,
Signing the birthright of centuries away!

And they trusted her so, they trusted her so,
These sad-eyed women, the ages ago!
Dreamed of her—saw her brave armor of gold—
Watched the sun pick out the helmets, and gleam
With even splendor on ranks without seam!
Beseeched her to fashion roadways of white
Where their daughters could walk the foulest night;
Where ivory temples might stand undefiled,
And Law stretch one hand to the woman child!
Ah, God, the far visions that helped them bare
The slow slavery ages, darkened and spare!

How have you answered these women, Oh, you
Who hear not the travail that moans low through
The sunken sods, unphysicianed and meek?
Are you The Messiah, you the God-Sent
To rive the rock where the powers are pent?
How have you answered, Oh, you who would turn
The torture-wheel backward—revert the Urn
Their trembling faith over-brimmed? Oh, the shame
Of your careless feet on their humble fame!
Remanded, Oh, Madam, back to God's School
Of Humanhood, where He releavens the fool! REA WOODMAN.

DIAMOND IMPORTERS TO FIGHT SMUGGLING

Protective Association Preparing to Run Down All Offenders Against the Customs.

QUESTION OF SELF-DEFENSE

Members Say That a Vast Traffic In Precious Stones Goes on Through Illegal Channels.

To all who before May 1 next year will supply information leading to the arrest of persons smuggling precious stones for business purposes the Precious Stone Importers' Protective Association will pay a reward of not less than $2,500, or at least 10 per cent. of the foreign market value of the jewels, if it exceeds that amount. Ludwig Nissen, President of the association, is now on his way to Europe, and on his trip he will endeavor to enlist the help of the large European dealers in the fight against smugglers.

In addition the Government has been asked to send special agents abroad to look into the matter, and a bill has been introduced into Congress by Representative Vreeland, which will make the tracing of frauds on the Customs Department less difficult. If it is adopted all jewelers will be required to keep records of all diamonds, pearls, emeralds, rubies, and sapphires in their possession, showing from whom they were purchased or to whom they were consigned if they were imported, the price paid for them, and the names of the persons to whom they were sold.

This step has been taken by the Protective Association to check a smuggling business, which is estimated to be not less than 25 per cent. of the legitimate importations. As about $40,000,000 worth of manufactured diamonds pass through the Customs House every year and the duty is 10 per cent. this means that about $10,000,000 worth of cut stones escape the eye of the Inspectors, and that the Treasury is out $1,000,000 in duty.

The jewelers, however, are not undertaking this work of checking smuggling in the interests of the Government. George R. Whitehead of 12 John Street, Secretary of the Protective Association, explained yesterday that they are moved to offer a reward in defense of their own business.

"The 10 per cent. duty which these smugglers escape," he said, "forms an important element in the retail price. We all have to buy our diamonds from the same source, and they are carefully graded. The only chance a manufacturer has to make a profit over his competitors is in their cutting, so as to avoid waste and to bring out all their good points. But the cut diamonds are graded once more with great accuracy.

"The average profit that the wholesaler makes is only 10 per cent., so that with the small opportunity to get an advantage over any one else in buying cut stones in Europe the unfair competition of the smuggler is a serious matter. Most of the smuggling is done by foreigners. Hollanders from Amsterdam come over here, rent a room or an apartment in the city, and then travel about the country selling the stones to small jewelers. They offer them at 7 or 8 per cent. reduction on the regular price, and no questions are asked, and as these peddlers have no office they are very hard to catch.

"Moreover, they get an additional advantage over the legitimate dealers inasmuch as they sell for cash or on short time, while we are obliged to give long credit. We are determined to put a stop to this practice if we can, and we are not working for mere fines or lectures. We are not going to be satisfied until some of the smugglers have been sent up the river."

The measure on which the Protective Association places most reliance is the bill introduced by Congressman Vreeland. It provides a fine of not less than $500 or more than $5,000, or imprisonment for from six months to two years for the jeweler who refuses to keep the records of his sales or purchases of precious stones, who falsifies his entries, or will not produce his books when called upon. Such a record, if properly kept, will make it easy to trace any stones that may excite suspicion back to the port of entry and to make certain that they have paid duty.

In order to safeguard the dealers from persecution by revenue officers or unwarranted inquiries into their business it is provided that revenue officers must provide themselves before demanding the books with the written order of the Collector of the Port or district, and that this order must recite that it is made by the special authorization and direction of the Secretary of the Treasury.

In a recent interview on the smuggling question Mr. Nissen pointed out that he had convinced himself by an inspection of the returns of sales made by the large exporters in Paris, Vienna, Berlin, and London that the amount of smuggling is enormous. He asserted that a good many of the precious stones pass the customs lines in the possession of members of the steamships' crews, and that this is practically impossible to prevent by inspection at the docks. He also said that at the smaller ports of entry, where there are not such expert Appraisers as in New York, the Government is cheated of a considerable sum of money by undervaluation.

The Protective Association is not concerning itself with the smuggling by private purchasers, but it is well pleased with the activity that Collector Loeb is showing in this port at the present moment. Speaking of this class of smuggling yesterday Mr. Whitehead said:

"The amount of smuggling by tourists is, of course, harder to estimate than even the professional smuggling. But it has been said that more has got through in the past without paying duty than was ever declared. Of course, this hurts our retailers, but I do not believe that it does the purchasers much good. They seem to think that because a thing is bought in Paris it must be all right, but they are generally easy marks. The Paris jewelers look out for them and sell them jewels at exorbitant rates. If they do succeed in escaping the 10 per cent. duty they as often as not are still losers on the bargain."

When it was suggested to Mr. Whitehead that the customs officials could not keep a very strict lookout on steamship officers with a taste for smuggling he replied:

"They strip our importers to the skin often enough, why should they not inspect the officers?"

DEDICATES OPEN-AIR PULPIT.

The Rev. Dr. Slattery Preaches Outdoors at Grace Church.

New York's first permanent open-air pulpit was dedicated yesterday in Grace Church yard before a congregation of more than 1,000 Broadway folk. The pulpit is on the Tenth Street side of Grace Church yard. It was founded in memory of the Rev. William R. Huntington, former pastor of the church.

Services in the open-air pulpit will be held every Wednesday noon. Visiting clergymen will officiate. The entire Episcopalian service will be given with the exception of the choral passages. There will be a short sermon. The service will last about an hour.

The Rev. Dr. Slattery, Grace Church's present pastor, officiated yesterday and dedicated the pulpit. There was singing by part of the Grace Church choir.

"Here the Gospel will be preached to those who will not enter a church," said Dr. Slattery during his address. "Here a welcome will be given to those who think God forgets them. The pulpit is in a garden and symbolizes happiness."

The regular Wednesday noon services in the pulpit will begin within a few weeks.

MISS DREXEL WEDS VISCOUNT MAIDSTONE

St. Margaret's, Westminster, Thronged at Nuptials of Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Drexel.

8,000 OUTSIDE THE CHURCH

Many Americans Attend Ceremony—Ten Pretty Bridesmaids in Procession—Reception at Drexel Home.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 8.—Saint Margaret's Westminster, was thronged this afternoon by one of the largest congregations that has attended a society wedding in considerable time to witness the marriage of Miss Margaretta Drexel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, and Viscount Maidstone, elder son of the Earl of Winchelsea and Nottingham.

The service, which was fully choral, was conducted by the Bishop of London, assisted by Canon Henseley Benson. Long before the hour appointed for the ceremony, 2:15, crowds of onlookers assembled outside the church. Fully 8,000 were there when the lovely young bride arrived punctually with her father. Inside the church the scene was most brilliant, despite the fact that mourning was worn by many of the guests. More than 2,000 invitations were issued, nearly all of which were accepted. The wealth of flowers in the fine old church made a great display. The bride's name in flowers was much in evidence.

The bridal group was altogether delightful and every one admired the picturesque arrangements. The bridal veil which was worn as a coiffe was bound tightly over the head and a starry tulle veil fell over the bride's face in long folds to the hem of the court train behind. Family lace that has been worn by brides in the Drexel family for generations appeared again in the draping of the clinging satin gown train of gold and white damask of immense length and worn mantlewise from the shoulders. The bride carried a bouquet of white orchids and other hothouse flowers. About her throat was a string of matchless pearls given by her mother.

Beautiful Young Bridesmaids.

The bridesmaids were all in bridal white with pinafores of white crêpe de chine over satin and chiffon dresses. These foldless pinafores were devoid of trimming save for a daisy at each point of the tunic catching together at the shoulders. The bridesmaids had pretty Grecian head dresses and flowing white tulle veils. Each carried a sheaf of daisies and Madonna lilies.

Miss Mildred Carter was certainly the most admired of all these beautiful young creatures. The English girls were daughters, respectively, of Lord and Lady Winchelsea, the Duke and Duchess of Rutland, Lord and Lady Templetown, Dowager Lady Hastings, Lord and Lady De Ramsey, Sir Charles and Lady Gunning, and Lady Constance Combe. The Americans, in addition to Miss Carter, were Miss Nellie Post, also a bride of this month, and pretty, dark-haired Miss Edith Wayne of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Anthony Drexel cast aside mourning for the day, wearing an exquisite dress of peach-colored satin and chiffon with painted bodice cut square at the neck. She wore several rows of pearls and a long pearl braid from which hung a diamond plaque. Her black hat was of picture shape and had black feathers encircling it. The Anglo-American contingent in English society was well represented. I noted the Duchess of Marlborough in a finely embroidered white canvas dress with a wonderful French hat. With her came Lady Essex in black with forest black ospreys in a black hat.

The Duchess of Roxburghe arrived as the bridal procession passed up the aisle, wearing a row of her famous pearls and a knot of orchids with her black dress. Her hat was unrelieved black. With her was Lady Alastair Innes-Ker, her sister-in-law, who also wore black. Mrs. Bradley Martin, Mrs. Bischoffsheim, Lady Fitzgerald in pale mauve, Mrs. Harry Higgins, Mrs. Ernest Cunard, Lady Newborough wearing orchids with a very well cut black dress, were a few of those I marked in church.

The American Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Drexel, Jr., received many hearty congratulations. The youthful recent bride wore a delightful dress of white and black silk muslin. Whitelaw Reid came with Ogden Reid and Mr. and Mrs. Ridgly Carter. The latter met hosts of friends. Other American guests were Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Harrison, Dr. and Mrs. Horn, Miss MacPheeters, Miss Marjorie Cunard, Mrs. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Teche, Capt. and Mrs. Simpson, Capt. and Mrs. Cloman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pott, Col. and Mrs. Frewen, Dr. and Mrs. Harold, Mrs. Tiarke, Mrs. Munn, Mr. and Mrs. Musgrave Hall.

Lord and Lady Craven, Lady Barrymore in gray, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Harcourt, the Duchess of Somerset, wearing very smart black; Lord and Lady Kilmorey, who brought Lady Villiers; Edith Lady Winchelsea, Dowager Lady Maidstone, Lord and Lady Winchelsea, the latter in soft gray were also present.

In the crowd were Lady Amherst, with Lady Enid Vaughan, Lady Guildford in a very graceful soft black satin, Mrs. Guy Paget, Lady Altamont and daughter, Lady Wenlock in an eelskin glittering black dress, Lady Hillingdon, Lady Vivian with Miss Alexandra Vivian, Lady Kimberley, Lady Rossmore, Lady Speyer, Lady Deerhurst, Lady Maxwell, Lady Gunning, Lady Guernsey with Lady De Ramsey, Lord and Lady Drogheda, the latter very picturesque in a white voile with a huge hat; Countess Pappenheim and daughter, Lord and Lady Aberdare, Lord and Lady Llangattock, Lady Huntington, Lady Brownlow, Lady Muriel Paget. These were only a few of those present, but to continue the list would entail copying half of Burke's.

Reception at Drexel Home.

The Drexel home in Grosvenor Square, where the reception was held, was a bower of flowers. The young couple stood under an archway of floral bells to receive congratulations. Grosvenor Square is such a long way from St. Margaret's that many guests were very late in arriving at the reception, as getting away from the church was a matter of difficulty.

Lord and Lady Maidstone left for a honeymoon motor trip on the Continent in perfect weather, the bride wearing a becoming shade of gray with a picture hat. I ought to mention that the Hon. Charles Mills, son of Lord Hillington, was best man.

The wonderful array of presents was set out in the ballroom and closely inspected the day before at the reception given by Mrs. Drexel. J. Pierpont Morgan gave a long diamond cable chain which was greatly admired. I counted more than a score of fans and little jeweled boxes. Duchess Sutherland's present was a silver bell.

MISS ALICE BORLAND WEDS.

Becomes Bride of M. Orme Wilson, Jr., in Church of the Incarnation.

The Church of the Incarnation was filled with a fashionable assemblage yesterday at the wedding of M. Orme Wilson, Jr., and Miss Alice Borland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Nelson Borland. The Rev. William Mercer Grosvenor performed the ceremony, which was followed by a small reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Borland.

The bride, who was escorted by her father, wore a trained robe of white satin draped with point lace and the train was covered with point lace with trails of orange blossoms along the end. Point lace was draped tunic fashion at the sides, and the low-cut bodice and the sleeves were of point lace, as was her veil, which was caught by a diamond tiara, and she also wore a handsome corsage piece of diamonds and carried sprays of white orchids.

She was preceded by two tiny flower girls without hats, their white mull slips trimmed with lace, and each carrying a blue-ribboned basket of roses. These little girls were Miss Ethel Haven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Woodward Haven, and Miss Marion Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wilson, Jr.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Eleanor Mortimer, Gladys Pell, Dagmar Wetmore, and Louise Knowlton. They wore gowns fashioned after an old painting. Their large dull peacock blue straw hats were trimmed with pink, blue, and yellow ostrich plumes, and the trailing gowns had gathered skirts of yellow satin with the bodice draped around the body with dull greenish blue gauze, while fichus of pink chiffon finished the low necks. The sleeves were of yellow satin, draped about and from the elbows with scaris of yellow chiffon and greenish blue. Each carried a pillow bouquet of white daisies and pink moss roses.

R. Thornton Wilson was his brother's best man and the ushers were Aymar Johnson, O'Donnell Iselin, Francis E. Storer, Albert L. Hoffman, Albert Eugene Gallatin, and Percy R. Pyne, 2d.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. George G. Haven, Mrs. G. G. Haven, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward Haven, Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth Wickes, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Pell, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Blandy, Mr. and Mrs. M. Orme Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Wilson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor Varnum, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lehr, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mortimer, William MacN. Rodewald, Dr. Dixon and Mrs. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Manhan, Mrs. Kortright, Miss de Barril, Miss Wickes, Miss Leila Haven, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wagstaff, Mr. and Mrs. Grenville Kane, the Misses Kane, Mrs. H. A. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stewart Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Blagden, Mrs. Gouverneur Kortright, Miss Bigelow, Miss King, the Misses Duryee.

William S. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Dickey, Miss Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoyt, Miss Natalie Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Goodhue Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. H. Le Roy Emmet, Mrs. Walter Cutting, Mrs. Morgan Dix, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Griscom, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Pell, Mrs. Walden Pell, Mrs. William Post, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Pyne, Miss Lisa Suydam, and Miss Katherine Tilford.

WEDDED ENSIGN G. M. DALLAS.

Miss Mildred Carpenter's Marriage to Sailor Took Place at Friends' Home.

Miss Mildred M. Carpenter of 65 East Seventieth Street, daughter of Mrs. E. I. Carpenter and the late President of the Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Company, and Ensign George M. Dallas, of the battleship Connecticut, a son of Mrs. Trevanie B. Dallas, of Nashville, Tenn., have been married. The wedding was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Fox, 222 Riverside Drive. The match was opposed by Miss Carpenter's mother. The couple will spend their honeymoon in the Adirondacks.

The suit of Ensign Dallas for the hand of Miss Carpenter was not received favorably by most of her relatives. It seemed to them that the cruise of the fleet around the world was going to work in their favor, but it didn't. At every point the fleet touched there came a letter from Ensign Dallas, and when the fleet returned Miss Carpenter was down at Old Point Comfort to help welcome the sailors back. It was there that Ensign Dallas and Miss Carpenter were engaged.

"HELLO, DAD!" CALL ABERNATHY'S BOYS

Long-Distance Riders Report by Long-Distance Wire from Near Baltimore.

OVERFED ON THE TRIP

Famous Wolf Catcher Thinks They've Suffered from Kindness on the Way from Oklahoma.

Capt. "Jack" Abernathy's latchstring hung out to all comers yesterday at the Hotel Breslin. The friends who dropped in for a call on the cowboy Sheriff of Oklahoma warmly congratulated the renowned wolf catcher on being the father of two such sturdy young travelers as Louis and Temple Abernathy, who are now nearing this city on a horseback trip all the way from Oklahoma City.

Capt. Abernathy idolizes his boys, and whenever a caller would ask him to tell how he showed Col. Roosevelt to capture and kill a wolf with his bare hands he would take a sure trail to the subject dearest to his heart and talk about his youngsters instead. He was a little scared over the report from Baltimore that one of the boys was ill, but his fears were allayed when he succeeded in getting in touch with them over the long distance telephone last night.

"Hello! Is that you, Louis?" he asked over the telephone. Louis is 9 and Temple 6 years old.

"Hello, Dad; it's me," replied a small voice, emanating from a point near Baltimore.

"Are you all right?" asked the father.

"We're all right," came the answer; "only Temple had a pain under his belt. Sam and Wylie, the horses, are all right, too. We'll be in New York on Friday, or may be not till Saturday morning. Goodbye, dad."

"The only trouble with my boys," said Capt. Abernathy later, "is that they have such big appetites. Riding in the open air all day gives them a regular saw-mill appetite. I reckon the folks on the way have been stuffing them too much. They're all right now, though, and we will all be in good trim when Col. Roosevelt gets here."

As Capt. Abernathy was taking to a group of friends in the hotel lobby Gen. Benjamin Le Fevre, ex-Minister to Bavaria, came up and greeted him. "I've been reading about your boys," said the General, "and you ought to be mighty proud of them. I'm 72 years old, and I just ended up a trip around the world, so I know something about travel. They must be strong youngsters to travel so far."

"They got all their good points from their mother, who died about three years ago," said Capt. Abernathy. There was a touch of sadness in his voice. "I was scared at first to let them take such a long trip, but I finally consented as I knew that if anybody's boys could do it mine could. Last year they rode to Mexico and back, and mixed with cowboys, Indians, and outlaws, but nobody harmed them.

"Louis is riding Sam, a fifteen-year-old horse, which I rode on my hunting trips with Col. Roosevelt. He's my old wolf horse, and the best in the land. Temple is riding Wylie Haines, named after one of my old-time deputies. He started the trip on old Geronimo, named after the Apache chief, but Geronimo foundered.

"I'll be mighty glad when I see my youngsters riding down Broadway. After they rest up I intend to show them everything worth seeing here. New York is a nice place to visit, but you couldn't hold me here with a two-inch rope. There isn't enough breathing room."

Capt. Abernathy weighs about 200 pounds, is clean-shaven, and has a remarkably clear eye. He said a clear eye was essential in trailing and capturing wolves.

"I've captured and killed about 400 of them in my time with my bare hands," he went on to relate. "When I was hunting with Col. Roosevelt we trailed a wolf that had only three feet. It looked strange in the trail, but after we had captured him we found that one of his feet had been cut off by a trap. Once a hungry wolf fought with one of my dogs, and before I could prevent it the wolf bit off the dog's tail.

"Col. Roosevelt is one of the gamest men I've ever met. He's a tireless hunter, and it takes a husky man to keep up with him. I've been reading about his trip in the jungles of Africa, and hunting lions and elephants takes a whole lot of nerve. I never heard from him, but I didn't expect to. They don't sell illustrated post cards down in the jungle. We think a whole lot of him out our way, and you never hear any criticism. We know him too well."

TICKET SPECULATORS RAIDED.

Ten Arrested at the Casino, Only to be Set Free in Night Court.

Charles F. Guide, an electrician, of 134 West Forty-eighth Street, went to the West Thirtieth Street Station last night and asked that the ticket speculators in front of the Casino Theatre be arrested. He said they had annoyed him and other passers-by with their importunities, and that when he complained to Mayor Gaynor the Mayor had instructed him by letter to report the matter to the police and report back to him if he got no satisfactory results.

Immediately two detectives were dispatched to the theatre, where they arrested ten men, whom Guide pointed out. The prisoners said they were David Phillips, 18 East 117th Street; Sidney Erstling, 215 West 104th Street; Joseph Le Roy, 212 West 119th Street; Monroe Michaels, 19 West 114th Street; Samuel Wield, 312 West 120th Street; Samuel Feinberg, 228 Broadway; Abraham Shart, 248 West Forty-sixth Street; Murray Harris, 510 West 134th Street; Benjamin Levey, 209 East Thirty-fourth Street, and Joseph Rosenthal, 835 Kelly Street, the Bronx.

In the Night Court Magistrate Krotel discharged all the prisoners and rebuked Guide for having caused their arrest.

"There is no ordinance against ticket speculating," he said, "and if, as you tell me, the men were not more than 18 inches from the curb your interference with them tended much more toward a breach of the peace than did their's with you. You have no right to cause arrests for what you consider a misdemeanor unless you get a warrant from a Magistrate. Don't do it again or you will get into trouble."

Guide attempted to argue with him, but the Magistrate ordered him out of the courtroom. He went away, saying that he would report the matter again to the Mayor.

The benefit for Hamilton L. Marshall, a newspaper man, has been postponed until Sunday evening, June 19, at the Herald Square Theatre, in order to give more time for the arranging of the programme. Mr. Marshall is ill, and there is little hope that he will ever be able to work again.

There will be a professional matinee this afternoon at the Lipzen Theatre, 235 Bowery, at which "The Snow Storm," an adaptation by Henri Bernstein of a Polish play, is to be given. Miss Sara Biala, the leading woman, will launch a plan to start a "Three Arts Club" where east side girls can receive free dramatic instruction. Miss Biala said she is forming this club because a similar one uptown rejected her application for membership, on the ground that she was a Jewess.

SIR WILLIAM WHITE SAILS.

Thinks Naval Construction Here Shows Skill and Progress.

Sir William White, former Director of Naval Construction in the British Navy, sailed yesterday on the Cunarder Lusitania, after an exceedingly brief stay in this country.

"Naval construction in America compares favorably with that of any other country," he said. "The speed with which the construction of the Florida has progressed is remarkable. The construction was pushed to a further state of advancement for the launching than obtains in other yards where there are other facilities for carrying on certain parts of construction after launching."

Sir William arrived here on May 27 to receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Science from Columbia University. He will have as a fellow passenger on the Lusitania President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia. Dr. Butler, his wife and daughter, will spend six weeks in England. He will go to The Hague in time to hear the speeches in the United States-New Foundland fisheries dispute. From The Hague the Butlers will go to the Tyrol and then to Berlin. They will return to New York in October.

Now, St. Louis, will you behave? If you weren't at the Polo Grounds yesterday that's a misfortune, because the Giants stood the Cardinals on their heads and toyed playfully with them until they stacked up seven runs and handed St. Louis a goose-egg. The goose-egg merchant was Leon Ames, who flipped the ball across in back-breaking bends. If Ames had fallen down and broken his whip, or if the Giant infield had fainted or something like that, St. Louis might have come across, but as it was they might as well have been down in the hotel asleep for all they did in the score business. Well, that's what they get for coming to Gotham, with the idea of repeating that dead and gone nightmare that happened in St. Louis.

The very best in Corridon's package of tosses were peppered generously, and when Backman took up the burden in the eighth they made him think he was throwing at bats as big as railroad ties. The Giants beat a rat-a-plan with their sticks on Corridon's tangents and gathered fifteen slams during the matinée. Why, everybody on the team took a punch at the ball, Bridwell getting three and Devore, Doyle, Devlin, and Meyers a couple apiece. Making out that wasn't good stick practice just before the invasion of the Cubs, hey? Al Bridwell covered short like a shadow and speared grounders with one hand and fired them over to first at seventeen different angles.

Oh, yes, and by way of a little diversion, there was some difference of opinion with Ump Gus Moran on his decisions. In the third Ellis took a 27-foot lead off first and Ames relayed to Merkle, who stuck the ball on him as he was sliding back. Moran said "safe," and, honestly, you'd be surprised to see the number of Giants who differed with him. Not until he threatened to send Doyle, Devlin, and Merkle to Sing Sing for six months did they refrain from talking. St. Louis tried its hand with Gustavus in the seventh, when Doyle took a big lead off first. He threw himself back just as Konetchy got the ball and stabbed him, and the umpire calculated that he was safe. Up rose Konetchy, and all the Cardinals gathered around Moran as if they were begging him to run for public office. They told Gus he had ground-glass eyes. Snodgrass chattered too much on the coaching lines in the seventh, and Moran sent him straight home to dinner.

The class in Sanscrit will now gather around and find out just how the runs happened. Devore ambled in the first, stretched himself to third on Doyle's two-sofa rap, to right, and scored while Murray was being exterminated at first. Bridwell singled in the second, was sacrificed to second by Devlin, went to Mowrey's station on a wild pitch, and counted on Merkle's whooping double to deep centre.

Seymour uncorked a scratchy single in the fourth, Bridwell popped a foul to Mowrey; Devlin crashed a double to right. Merkle lifted to Evans, who spilled the ball, Seymour scoring. Evans ought-a-had-it. Devlin scored when Meyers singled to left. Really it was so easy. Devore singled in the eighth, went to second like a foot-pad, and scored on Doyle's smash to centre.

More of it in the eighth. Backman is now on the slab. Bridwell rocked a singing triple to right. Hauser tossed Devlin out at first. Merkle grounded to Koney, who threw home to cut off Bridwell. Al ran back toward third, and Mowrey took Phelps's toss and tagged Bridwell, Merkle going to second in the meanwhile.

Meyers singled and Ames shot a Texas Leaguer high into centre, scoring Merkle. Devore hit to centre and Meyers scored. Two men on the trail. Now Doyle, over the fence. Lawrence fanned. Didn't need the runs anyway.

Wild Pitcher in Brooklyn.

Cincinnati walked away with yesterday's game, 13 to 2. Rucker was knocked out of the box in six innings. Schneiberg made his National League debut in the seventh and lasted but one inning, four hits, four passes, and a batter hit netting 7 runs. The batter hit was Paskert, who stopped a wild shoot with his head and was knocked unconscious. He resumed playing later, however. Dessau was also batted hard in the last two innings. Burns had the Brooklyns puzzled except in the seventh, when four bunched hits saved a shut-out. Score:

BOSTON, Mass., June 8.—Boston shut Pittsburg out, 4 to 0, in the first game to-day, but the visitors won, 3 to 2, in the second game, an eleven inning affair. Curtis held Pittsburg to two hits in the opening contest. Boston scored two runs in the first inning of the second game. Pittsburg scored one in the fourth inning, and tied the score in the eighth. Two errors by Sharpe in the eleventh put Campbell on second base, and he scored the winning run when Clarke singled. Scores:

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 8.—For five innings this afternoon Bill Bailey pitched perfect ball against the Yankees. In that time one man reached first base via four balls. Then in the sixth Bailey weakened and the New Yorks hammered out four runs.

A spurt in the seventh inning gave the Browns one run which, added to the three scored in the fifth, enabled the locals to get a 4 to 4 draw, when rain interfered and averted what looked like an inevitable victory for the visitors.

Opposed to Bailey was Warhop. The New Yorker pitched invincible ball for four innings. Then, like Bailey, he weakened and the Browns punctured a possible no-hit game by bunting safely once and Stone rapping out a double, which put two men over the plate.

The game was full of features. No less interesting was the battle of the pitchers than was Stone's ripping double to right centre in the fifth, when it was needed. Never strong in the crucial test, Stone arose to the situation with a smash which put Schweitzer and Killifer over the plate. Previously to Stone's hit, the Browns had scored once. The two runs gave St. Louis a lead of three runs, which looked enough to win; but Bailey pitched as bad ball in the sixth as he did good ball in the previous innings. Three singles and a double, combined with an error by Hartzell on a bunt, permitted the Yankees to score four runs. However, Bailey made amends as well as he could by blanking the Yankees in the seventh, striking out the side.

In the sixth and seventh innings Warhop was continually "in bad." Spectacular stops and throws by Foster in deep short and sensational first-base play by Hal Chase pulled the Yankees out of tight holes. Warhop showed a tendency to pass the batters, even though the Browns were not waiting as they should. The Browns at the bat made Warhop's game good, while Bailey was paddling his own canoe.

The Yankee batters were making the southpaw put them over, and Bailey was, except occasionally, when he fooled one or two with a sharp shooting curve.

Off Warhop the Browns made three hits. Two of them came in the fifth, when the rally was at its height. The other, a scratch infield bingle by Stone, came in the seventh and made possible the tying run, which Killifer scored on a force at second.

NAVY GAME DREW POORLY.

Nebraska Wins Baseball Championship Before Small Crowd.

The baseball team of the United States battleship Nebraska, champion of the Atlantic Fleet, became the champion of all the vessels in the service yesterday afternoon when it defeated the team of the receiving ship Hancock by a score of 10 to 8. The proceeds of the game, which was played at American League Park, went to the Navy Relief Fund, of which Admiral Dewey is President. The sum realized, however, judging from the size of the crowd that journeyed to Washington Heights to see the sailors battle for the title, could not have been a very large one. Not more than 500 persons, all told, witnessed the game.

The Navy Relief Fund was organized to care for the widows and orphans of officers and men who lost their lives in the line of duty, and also for the support of officers and men who have been incapacitated for active service as the result of injuries received in the service of the country. The sailors had expected a crowd of several thousand and were disappointed at the small attendance.

The game was lively and entertaining all the way and those that witnessed it enjoyed every minute of it. There was plenty of long-distance hitting and all the errors that any one could possibly wish to enliven matters. And then there were two navy brass bands that kept the faithful little bunch of rooters in a good humor. The best playing was done by Monroe, the Hancock second baseman, and Rosenberg and Callahan, the Nebraska battery.

Pitching Feat at Worcester.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 8.—A new Eastern record for "no hit, no run," in baseball was made here to-day, it is claimed, when Harry Wormwood of the Fall River team of the New England League pitched for eleven innings without allowing a hit or a run in the game with Worcester, which was won by the visitors 1 to 0. The Fall River fielders played a faultless, clean game, without a single error. Wormwood was formerly with the Worcester team, going to Fall River last year. The world's record for such a game is accredited to Pitcher Torrey of the Winchester (Ky.) team in the Blue Grass League, who on May 10, 1909, pitched seventeen innings without allowing a hit or a run.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The union labor boycott on American League baseball parks where Cleveland plays was lifted Tuesday night by an agreement entered into between Ban Johnson, President of the American Baseball League, and officials representing the American Federation of Labor and the local unions of Cleveland. The terms of the agreement are that in all American League parks no cigars shall be sold without the union label, and that all printing ordered by the league clubs shall be given to union shops. It is also provided that any stands erected or other structural work taken in hand by the clubs shall be intrusted solely to union labor.

A baseball card that could only be surpassed by a meeting between two leading big league teams is to be offered at the Olympic Field, at 137th Street and Madison Avenue, on Sunday. The

JOHNSON BOXES FOR CITY OFFICIALS

Acting Mayor Kelley Leads Party of Visitors to Negro's Training Camp.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—Jack Johnson entertained some distinguished visitors to-day at the boxing programme that was scheduled for his pavilion. Acting Mayor John Kelley, Supervisor Johnny Herget (Young Mitchell), Chairman of the Police Commission, and Supervisor William Pugh, as well as newly arrived newspaper men from New York, Chicago, and Boston, were on hand.

They were well pleased with the showing of the champion, and Supervisor Herget, who has a right to consider himself something of an expert in the boxing game, declared that Johnson was in good shape and that the work was far better than he had expected.

Because of the number of visitors Johnson was delayed in putting in an appearance at the gymnasium, but the crowd waited patiently and stayed until the last of the boxing was over. The colored champion was in good spirits, and, after remarking that he felt particularly good lived up to it in his work.

Johnson had a world of fun with the medicine ball, tossing it around in careless style and occasionally hitting some of the visitors, who were grouped on the platform. He followed that up by punching the bag until he broke it loose from its moorings.

Eight rounds were on the programme. Five of them were with George Cotton and the other three were with Walter Monahan, a local heavyweight. Monahan was no match for Johnson, but he proved himself a game youngster and made the negro extend himself on several occasions.

Eddie Graney was selected to-night to referee the fight on Saturday afternoon, June 18, between Al Kaufmann and Sam Langford, which will be held in the new open City Arena of Louis Blot, at Eighth and Howard Streets.

BEN LOMOND, Cal., June 8.—Three fast rounds with Bob Armstrong, in which Jeffries drew blood from his colored sparring partner for the first time since training began at Ben Lomond, constituted the pricipal feature of a comparatively quiet day. Jeffries was faster than usual and, countering heavily on the negro's mouth, made the blood flow freely.

Jeffries and Corbett did not box, but probably will don the gloves to-morrow, as the outdoor boxing platform was completed late this evening. All of to-day's work was done in the morning.

After the bout with Armstrong Jeffries tussled a few moments with Farmer Burns, and a short period at the neck machine completed the work in camp. Later in the day Jeffries, accompanied by Farmer Burns and Roger Cornell, climbed Ben Lomond, returning to camp about 5 o'clock, dripping with perspiration.

Jeffries this afternoon reiterated his statement that no difficulty had arisen between himself and Manager Berger; that Berger's work had been entirely satisfactory, and that no change was contemplated. Jeffries displayed considerable warmth in branding the reports of trouble with his manager as coming from trouble makers.

ST. LOUIS, June 8.—Bill Clark, the "Belfast Chicken" of other fighting days, received an offer to-day from Billy Delaney of San Francisco to box a preliminary of four rounds at the Jeffries-Johnson fight. Clark is 84 years old. His opponent is to be Jem Mace, 79 years old. Delaney wrote he is now waiting on Mace's answer. He offers each of the former pugilists their expenses to San Francisco and $500. Clark and Mace, according to Clark, had a rough fight in the Empire Theatre in New York back in the seventies.

Bantamweights Fight Furious, Exciting Battle at Empire Athletic Club.

Johnny Coulon of Chicago, the claimant of the bantam-weight title, and Frankie Burns, the Jersey cyclone, fought a fast and furious ten-round bout before an excited, cheering throng at the Empire Athletic Club last night. The go was all action from start to finish, and in the last two rounds both boys went at each other so lively that Burns's supporters, who were in the majority, rose in their seats, threw their hats in the air, and implored the Jersey Cyclone to go in and finish the Chicago lad.

Coulon was as lively as a package of fire-crackers. He rushed Burns against the ropes under a shower of blows time and again, but in the heat of his attack, his judgment of direction and distance was bad, and the majority of his blows in these rushes missed. Burns backed away coolly at all times and smashed Coulon's face and body continually. At the end of several of the rounds the little fellows were milling so fast that they kept right on fighting at the clang of the bell.

The bantams weighed in at 115 pounds, ringside, and jumped to the centre of the ring in the first round and came to a clinch. Coulon rushed, planting a heavy left to the body. Burns jabbed with his left, and, countering with his right, landed a hard wallop that cut Coulon's ear. Coulon came back in a furious attack, but Burns blocked many of them. The lads exchanged blows to head and body in rough-and-tumble fashion, Burns landing the cleaner punches. Burns seemed to have a slight advantage in the second, but all the time Coulon forced the fighting and never allowed the Jersey boy much of an advantage.

In the fourth Burns landed a hard left punch on Coulon's nose and mouth, and brought the blood. Both fighters landed often in the fifth and sixth, and Coulon made a great rally in the seventh, driving Burns backward all around the ring under his lightning fast attack. Burns fought back at long range, and just about held his own.

The ninth was a whirlwind affair, both boys fighting so fast that they tired toward the end. Coulon rushed Burns, planting hard rights and lefts to the jaw, while Burns gave just as much as he received. Referee Buckley worked almost as hard as the fighters pulling them apart.

MEADOW BROOK TEAM BEATEN

Fourteen Goals Handicap Too Much to Overcome Cooperstown Winning.

Special to The New York Times.

GREAT NECK, L. I., June 8.—By a score of 23½ goals to 10½ the hard-riding Meadow Brook polo team were this evening defeated by the Cooperstown Four in the final game for the second Great Neck challenge cup.

A large crowd of society people were on hand to witness the game, coming from all the north side colonies. Although the Meadow Brook Four had to allow the up-State team fourteen goals, the crowd thought that they could overcome this handicap, as the recent challange received from England for the international cup makes Meadow Brook look like a winner in the face of any obstacle, and it came as a great shock when the team from Cooperstown started right in to score and did not let up until the end of the game.

To-day's game makes the fourth tournament that Cooperstown have won, they being unbeaten so far. The Meadow Brooks played a splendid team game and many of the goals which they scored were made by being passed from one end of their four to the other. Cooperstown did not play the good team game they have in former games, but they were quick to cover their mistakes and scored frequently, despite their poor team work.

Stevenson made the most spectacular play of the game in the last period. He caught the ball on the side near the middle of the field and carried it down in two strokes, when he was ridden off by J. S. Phipps, but Stevenson pulled his pony up, rode around Phipps, and scored the goal. In the first three periods the Cooperstown Four scored five times to three for Meadow Brook.

In the fourth, fifth, and sixth periods the Meadow Brooks struck their gait and made five, holding the Cooperstown team down to two goals. In the last two periods each side scored three.

H. C. Phipps was struck a nasty blow over the side of his head in the last period which rocked him in the saddle for a minute, but he stuck to the game to the end. The line-up:

COOPERSTOWN.	MEADOW BROOK.
1—E. S. Reynal.	1—J. S. Phipps.
2—C. F. Beadleston.	2—J. M. Waterbury, Jr.
3—M. Stevenson.	3—H. P. Whitney.
Back—F. S. Von Stade.	Back—H. C. Phipps.

Cooperstown—By allowed handicap, 14 goals; by earned goals, 10; lost by penalties, half goal; total, 23½ goals. Meadow Brook—By earned goals, 11; lost by penalties, half goal; total, 10½ goals. Referee—H. H. Holmes. Scorer and timer—S. H. Gier.

Spring Games of New York A. C.

The eighty-fourth games of the New York Athletic Club, which will take place at Travers Island on Saturday, promise to surpass all previous meetings held at the Summer home of the club. The only thing needed to make the day complete is fine weather. The festive events are the 2,400-yard relay, in which the club team confidently expects to break the record. The one-fifth of a mile hurdle race also promises to furnish a new record. The old record of 0:44 4-5, by F. C. Puffer, was made on the same track in September, 1894. The entries in this event include G. P. Gardner of Harvard, the intercollegiate 220-yard hurdle champion; C. J. Bacon, New York A. C., Olympic 400-meter hurdle champion; J. L. Hartranft, New York A. C., and L. B. Dorland, Pastime A. C. There are ten other handicap events on the programme. Sheppard and Gissing will be on scratch in the half mile; Sheppard, Paull, and Kiviat will be on scratch in the mile, and T. S. Berna of Cornell will take the honor mark in the three-mile run. In the pole vault T. S. Nelson of Yale, the intercollegiate champion, and A. C. Gilbert, New York A. C., the Olympic champion, will be on scratch. John Flanagan, L. A. C., and Matt McGrath and Con Walsh, N. Y. A. C., are in the hammer throw.

Mrs. Wheeler Leads in Golf.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Perfect weather conditions favored the contestants in the championship tournament of the Women's Eastern Golf Association which began to-day at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club at Noble. While the entries are not as numerous as was expected the field is a fine one, including as it does some of the best golfers of Philadelphia, New York, and Boston.

The competition will consist of seventy-two holes, medal play, eighteen holes to be played on each of the four days of the tournament.

Mrs. E. G. Wheeler, Jr., of Boston made the best score of the first round of eighteen holes and therefore leads for the day at least in the championship contest. The scores:

Mrs. E. C. Wheeler, Jr., Boston, 88; Miss F. C. Osgood, Boston, 87; Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Philadelphia, 87; Mrs. C. T. Fox, Philadelphia, 88; Miss Julia R. Mix, New York, 89; Miss H. C. Curtis, Boston, 91; Miss K. Townsend; Philadelphia, 95; Miss F. C. Griscom, Philadelphia, 94, Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, Philadelphia, 92; Miss Florence McNeely, Philadelphia, 96; Mrs. E. H. Fitler, Philadelphia, 98; Miss Irene Richardson, Philadelphia, 98; Miss Elizabeth Porter, Boston, 101; Miss Grace Semple, Boston, 101; Mrs. W. F. Morgan, New York, 102; Miss E. G. The second round of eighteen holes will be played to-morrow.

The players are also contesting in a handicap event of seventy-two holes in connection with the championship.

Knowles Best In Southern Golf.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 8.—Ellis Knowles of Pensacola, Fla., retains his title of star medal player of the Southern Golf Association, his score of 82 in the second half of the qualifying round of the annual championship tournament to-day making a total of 159 for the 36 holes being the lowest card turned in, and winning for him the association's medal. The prize for the second best score in the qualifying round goes to J. B. Bush of New Orleans, who turned in a card of 83 to-day, which with his 87 in the first half gives him a total of 170. Of the thirty-two who qualified for the championship fight, R. H. Gwaltney of Wilmington, N. C., turned in a score of 178.

Cornell Football Schedule.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 8.—In announcing the Cornell football schedule to-day Graduate Manager Dugan of Cornell gave out correspondence showing that there was no truth in the reports that a row between Glenn S. Warner, the Carlisle Indian coach, and the Cornell authorities over the cancellation of the game scheduled with the Indians for Nov. 19. The game has been dropped from the schedule and Mr. Warner's position has been made clear. Cornell's schedule is about the same as last year except that a midweek game with Hobart opens the season on Sept. 28. The Chicago game is to be played in Ithaca again, under an agreement to play the year following on Marshall Field. The schedule:

Sept. 28, Hobart at Ithaca; Oct. 1, R. P. I. at Ithaca; Oct. 8, Oberlin at Ithaca; Oct. 15, Fordham at Ithaca; Oct. 22, Vermont at Ithaca; Oct. 29, Williams at Ithaca; Nov. 5, Harvard at Cambridge; Nov. 12, Chicago at Ithaca; Nov. 24, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

JUDGE MOORE'S FOUR IN SHOW ACCIDENT

Horse Falls in Competition and Spectators at Olympia Become Excited.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 8.—An unfortunate and what was narrowly averted from being a serious accident occurred during this evening's performance of the third day of the International Horse Show at Olympia. While rounding one of the turns in the Hatchett Cup competition for four-in-hands, the off leader, Nenella, of Judge Moore's four, slipped with no apparent reason, and, falling heavily, it seemed certain that there would be a serious accident. The large gathering of spectators rose to its feet, many of the women shrieking as the horse struggled on the tanbark. Many of the spectators were prominent Americans who had attended the Drexel-Maidstone wedding.

Mrs. Moore was the calmest one in the large assemblage and rushed to the aid of her husband, who retained his seat on the box and was giving orders looking toward the release of the animal, which was kicking madly and threatening a serious mixup with the other three horses. E. T. Stotesbury and Alfred G. Vanderbilt went to their countryman's assistance and with the help of Lord Lonsdale succeeded in releasing the struggling horse.

Up to the time of the accident it seemed certain that Judge Moore's four would add another blue ribbon to his already long list in the present show. The accident, however, robbed Judge Moore of any hope of victory, the judges ordering the four-in-hand out of the ring, despite Judge Moore's plea that he be allowed to continue in the competition. The injured horse was cut badly on the off hind leg, precluding further participation in the show.

Judge Moore so far is the leader in the winning, with four firsts and five seconds, as against Walker Winans's four firsts and four seconds.

NEW MATINEE RECORDS.

Pacers and Trotters Make Best Time of Season on the Speedway.

Weather conditions were ideal yesterday for fast time in the fourth matinee of the Road Drivers' Association on the Speedway. The best and closest race of the afternoon was between Minnie Albert and Louise E., each driven by its owner. In the three heats contested the pair finished necks apart. In the opening heat Louise E. came fast at the finish, but the Wolf pacer headed off the rush and won in the fast time of 1:02½, which, with the exception of Claro's time in the opening matinee, was the fastest recorded this season. In the second heat Minnie Albert made a break soon after the start, and, although she made up a lot of ground, was unable to reach Louise E., which secured a neck victory. Minnie Albert had the third heat and the race well in hand 200 yards from the finish, but was hard driven to win by a short margin.

Hugh Riley's Pacer, B Outime, driven by Trainer Goldsmith, readily disposed of M. C. Reynolds's Dr. Threet, the fastest heat being in 1:09. Leo Oettinger's showing trotter Nashville landed a good race in the slow trot. Mr. Oettinger sold Nashville before the race, but after the class bought him back, paying a good bonus.

Innerguard, the Welland trotter, was raced against his stable mate, Sid Axworthy, and won handily. Both heats were in the fast time of 1:03½. Ed La Place's Kate Nelson, 2:10½, showed a nice turn of speed and won her first heat in 1:03. She came back in the second heat in 1:03½. Patrick Kennedy's green trotter, Earl B., reeled off a half in 1:03½, equaling the best race time for trotters and setting a new mark for a start against time. The general average of time on both the trotting and pacing divisions shows faster than was recorded at any of the previous matinees.

Jockey Glasner Seriously Hurt.

LATONIA, Ky., June 8.—Jockey Glasner was kicked in the head when Tritoma fell in the fourth race here to-day and he sustained concussion of the brain. He was removed to a hospital. His condition is critical. Up to a late hour to-night he had not regained consciousness.

LOCAL BOXING EVENTS.

Manager Newman of the Long Acre Athletic Association has matched Willie Beecher and Jimmy Sullivan to box ten rounds at the weekly entertainment of the club to-night. The boys are evenly matched and should put up a lively bout. Four preliminary contests have been arranged.

The Lehigh A. C. at 169th Street and Boston Road, Bronx, will resume its regular weekly boxing entertainments to-morrow night. Phil Cross, greatly improved after a rest of two months, will appear in the main bout of ten rounds with "Cyclone" Dominick. There will be five preliminary bouts.

The bouts arranged for the stag of the Sharkey Club to-night are promising of much action. The main attraction will be a ten-round encounter between Bobby Wilson, the Canadian lightweight, and Bill Donovan, a Philadelphia scrapper. Both boys are in fine shape. They are strong and aggressive and willing mixers. Bill Kenny and Dixie Kid's brother, who put up a fine bout last week, have been rematched and will meet again in a six-round bout. In addition there will be four more bouts and a wrestling contest.

Cornell's New Track Captain.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 8.—The members of the Cornell track team who took part in the college meets to-day elected Edward Gaul MacArthur of Hudson, N. Y., Captain of the track team for the coming year. MacArthur won his track "C" this year by winning the quarter-mile in the Princeton meet, and later won second place in the quarter at the intercollegiates. He also has played end on the football team for two years, and is President of the junior class. He is in the College of Law.

ON THE TENNIS COURTS.

Fast driving tennis by the women enlivened the championship cup tournament on the clay courts of the Englewood Field Club yesterday. Miss Louise E. Hammond, recently returned from her victory in the Pennsylvania State tournament, distinguished herself by reaching the final round of the women's singles. Mrs. George H. Chapman of the Nyack Country Club, and a holder of the New Jersey State titles, came through to the semi-final in the lower section of the draw, where she awaits the winner of the match between Mrs. S. F. Weaver and Mrs. Louis S. Coe. The women's doubles were begun during the day, and the pairs brought level into the semi-final and thereby scoring several reversals of form. The summary:

The match occurred in the third round, and as both men play a game somewhat similar it was close and exciting from the start. KEENE'S SWEEP WINS CARLTON STAKES

Dalmatian and Prince Imperial Collide at Start, Spoiling Their Chances in Race.

James R. Keene's Sweep was the winner of the Carlton Stakes at Gravesend yesterday from the best field of three-year-olds that has been called to the post in one race this season. While Sweep's victory was an impressive one, it was not as convincing as it would have been but for accidents that befell other runners in the field. At the start Dalmatian, S. C. Hildreth's entry, and Prince Imperial, from the Woodhaven Stable, collided. This knocked Prince Imperial to his knees, and all but unseated Jockey Archibald. When he was righted the field was at the first turn and it was useless for him to give chase. Dalmatian, as a result of his part of the accident, was off badly, and on the first turn, when Garner attempted to send him to the field, he jumped on the heels of August Belmont's Starbottle. These mishaps robbed the race of some of its interest, and there are many who saw the race who will not be satisfied of the superiority of Sweep until he has another meeting with Dalmatian and Prince Imperial.

Sweep has only raced three times this season, and each race has seen him a winner, though it was only yesterday that he was pitted against the best of those of his age. In his first start he only had King Olympian to beat, and in his second, the Belmont, Duke of Ormonde was the only one to oppose him.

Next in importance to the Carlton was a steeplechase handicap that went to Thomas Hitchcock, Jr.'s, good jumper Mellowmint, who has thus far shown himself the best cross-country horse in training. He had little trouble in taking the measure of James Morrissey's Monte Carlo, one that was added at the eleventh hour.

In the third race, a five-furlong dash for two-year-olds, Aldrian, the winner, was run up from an entered price of $2,000 to $3,000, at which figure he was sold to H. L. Shaw. In the same race H. G. Bedwell, who started Frank Ruhstaller, claimed Lochiel from J. A. Jones for $3,020. This was not the only run-up of the day, for after Petronius had been returned winner in the mile-and-a-quarter for selling-platers, H. G. Bedwell ran him up from an entered price of $1,500 to $3,000, but he was retained by the Oneck Stable when Trainer Karrick made the necessary $5 advance over that bid.

August Belmont watched the races from a box in the clubhouse inclosure. It was his first appearance at the track since his recent polo accident, in which he broke a rib. The summaries:

YALE OARSMEN IN PERIL.

Gentlemen's Eight Capsize and Are Rescued by Crew of Launch.

Special to The New York Times.

GALES FERRY, Conn., June 8.—Four Yale oarsmen had a narrow escape from drowning this evening. A gentlemen's eight had been formed for a spin on the river, after the 'Vahsity and freshmen had left for their trial over the course. It was made up of Hawes, the freshman coach; Robbins, a member of the 'Varsity four last year; Street, the freshman manager, and Scully, one of the freshmen substitutes. Hawes is the tallest man who ever sat in a Yale shell, towering 6 feet 7 inches in height.

After the four had gone down the river a mile Hawes caught a crab and his long legs bumped up against Robbins's back, dislodging him from the shell. Robbins toppled over the side of the shell and Hawes fell over backward. The shell was capsized and the four found themselves scrambling in the river. Luckily all could swim. Hawes was stunned by the accident, but his fellow oarsmen helped him to get a grip on the overturned shell and he soon revived.

No craft were in sight on the river and the quartette were forced to shout and shiver for twenty minutes. They were completely chilled, and a few minutes later they saw the Yale launch coming up stream, following the 'Varsity and freshman crews. Their cries were heard by Coach Kennedy in the launch. He ordered the launch steered to their rescue and took them in. They were given stimulants and taken back to the crew quarters, where they were put to bed.

Coach Kennedy has ordered scrub crews to go out on the river no more without either rowboats to act as chaperons or megaphones with which to summon help.

Prominent Amateur Oarsman Dead.

One of the most startling shocks local amateur rowing has encountered for a long time was the death of Charles Steinkamp of the Nonpareil Rowing Club, which occurred on Saturday. He was buried on Tuesday. Steinkamp's more important rowing achievements were the National pair-oared race and the National senior four in 1906 and the National senior doubles in 1905 with C. S. Titus as his partner. Steinkamp won many other races on nearly every course in the country. His death came as a greater surprise to his friends because he was on the Harlem River on Decoration Day and was clerk of the course for the regatta that day. A few days later he was examined by his physician, who pronounced his ailment as typhoid and ordered him to bed. Many prominent oarsmen attended his funeral.

Navy Re-engages Coach Glendon.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 8.—Richard Glendon, who coached the Naval Academy crews since 1904 with great success, has accepted the terms of the Navy Athletic Association to handle aquatics another year. The news that Glendon will return to Annapolis for another season gives general satisfaction. During the season just passed the Academy crews won six out of seven races rowed, the only defeat being in the first race of the season, which was won by Harvard. At least four-fifths of the races have been won by the Academy crews since Glendon took charge. Prospects for next season are particularly bright. But one man is lost from the first crew, and there is lots of promising material in the junior boats.

Stocks Show Small Changes—Call Money Rates, 2½@2¾ Per Cent.

AN EXCELLENT CROP REPORT

Showing of Spring and Winter Wheat Well Up to Expectations—Copper Stocks Still Increasing.

On the Stock Exchange yesterday the movement of prices was plainly toward a greater degree of steadiness than has been witnessed for many days. It was to be expected that the sensational advances of Tuesday following the overnight news from Washington of the settlement of the rate question would attract a very considerable amount of profit taking and also induce speculative operations for the fall on the theory of reaction, and to the appearance of both causes the failure of prices in yesterday's market to hold the temporary advances made by them over Tuesday's levels was due. The day's dealings were for the most part made up of transactions for the traders, while the public adopted a waiting attitude, justified by the confused situation left by the Washington conferences between the President and the railroad men. It should be said here that much adverse criticism was heard yesterday of the remarkable utterances attributed to the President of the Atchison, Mr. Ripley. Such statements as the one that "the present situation is not one that justifies any investor in the purchasing of railroad securities" seem to serve no useful purpose, from whatever point viewed, and it is a fair question if they are not positively harmful, not only to Mr. Ripley's own road but to other lines with which he is entirely unconnected. The position of affairs in the railroad world is altogether too delicate and the outcome too vital to American business to warrant such an attitude on the part of the executive of one of the country's great railroads. Fortunately this attitude is singular, for railroad men as a rule express confidence in the fairness of the intentions of the Inter-State Commerce Commission and look for justice at the hands of that body.

In general it may be said of the Government's crop report on the condition of Winter and Spring wheat as of June 1 that the showing is satisfactory. Adverse weather conditions had prepared everybody for the falling off of a trifle less than 2 per cent. in the condition of Winter wheat during the month of May as well as for the lower Spring wheat percentage as compared with the June condition of 1909. Both figures are sufficiently close to the ten-year average for the season, however, to hold out the promise of harvests above the average owing to the increased areas under cultivation. Mathematically the condition and acreage figures indicate a combined yield of 702,404,000 bushels as against a promise of 652,351,000 bushels at this time last year, although the final crop then was 737,180,000. Another matter to which Wall Street found time to devote some attention, with the excitement over the railroad situation subsiding, was the Copper Producers' report for May, and this document was frankly unfavorable owing to the increase of 18,441,000 pounds reported in stocks on hand on June 1. In connection with the events of the past ten days the weekly review of the Iron Age, which asserted that no equipment contracts had been canceled or held up and that the disposition in the iron and steel trade was to take a hopeful view of the situation, was of decided interest. According to this authority curtailment of pig iron production went on steadily through May, although the active capacity at the close of the month represented a curtailment of only 10 per cent. from the high rate of February.

In spite of the tendency toward greater ease observable in the London money market the foreign exchange market continues to hold firm rates for demand sterling scoring a rise of some 15 points in the course of yesterday's dealings. Bills are still reported as scarce, notwithstanding the sales of securities abroad and the gradual enlarging of commodities. Local money conditions were practically unchanged.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Dividends and Retrenchment.

The declaration yesterday of the regular quarterly dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. on the stock of the New York Central, so soon after the many pronouncements from railroad officials that retrenchment was now the order of the day in view of the indefinite delay in the granting of rate increases, had the effect in some minds of minimizing the seriousness of the situation with which the railroads are confronted. It had not been expected, of course, that there would be any change in the New York Central dividend rate, but its declaration yesterday gave point to the suggestion that, despite the tone of pessimism prevailing in much of the current railroad men's comment on the situation, the management of one of the leading railroad systems of the country has no hesitancy in maintaining its 6 per cent. dividend. Some of those in Wall Street who always take calmly the predictions made from time to time that the growth of Government control means disaster for the railroads are inclined now to the view that if the situation is not such as to call for retrenchment in dividends it cannot be quite as bad as some railroad men see it.

Threats or Warnings—Which?

Incidentally the talk by some railroad executives of the hardships to which the railroads are being submitted and the dangers which are lurking ahead if too strict control is exercised over the railroads by the Government is displeasing to some railroad men who think that no good can possibly come from such talk. This is what the head of one of the Western railroads concerned in the recent injunction had to say on this score:

"Whatever retrenchment the railroads may have to do had better be done without talking about it. This public discussion by railroad men of the need of retrenchment unless they are allowed to advance freight rates, indulged in just at this time, takes on the nature of a threat to the public. Perhaps it is only intended as a warning, but whatever prompts the talk, it has the appearance of a threat, and as such is more calculated to antagonize than to convince any one of the real need of an advance in freight rates. The need is real enough, but the railroads should present their claim for higher rates in a way to convince the public rather than in a way which hampers the rate increase movement more than it helps it."

Denver's Western Pacific Equity.

A block of 1,000 shares of Western Pacific stock sold at auction yesterday at 15⅝. This stock sold last year as high as 39, and the last sale in 1909 was at 29½. There has thus been a shrinkage of 23¼ points in the market value of this stock. The Western Pacific, which is the Pacific Coast extension of the Gould system of railways, has all told $75,000,000 of stock outstanding, of which $50,000,000 is held in the treasury of the Denver & Rio Grande. At the high price of last year the Western Pacific stock held for control by the Denver & Rio Grande had a market value of $19,500,000, while at the price at which it sold yesterday this stock had a market value of only $7,875,000. This shrinkage of more than $11,000,000 in the market value of this stock is a loss more apparent than real, however, so far as the Denver & Rio Grande is concerned. That road carries its $50,000,000 of Western Pacific stock on its books only as a nominal entry, without fixing any value for the stock. In other words, it is held for the time being merely as evidence of the Denver's control of the Western Pacific, and whatever value the latter stock has from time to time in the market is just so much to be counted as added to the resources of the Denver & Rio Grande, as the latter are shown in the road's balance sheet.

Narrow Net Changes.

The net results of yesterday's trading, despite the market's activity, were trifling in comparison with the break of Monday and Tuesday's recovery. Shown in the table of the day's doings are such trifling net changes as a decline of ¼ in Steel common, after sales of 207,000; an advance of the same amount in Union Pacific, after sales of 127,000, and a decline of ⅜ in Reading, after transactions of 360,000.

***

The London Settlement.

In the reduction of the rates for carrying American stocks from the 5 and 6 per cent., which prevailed a fortnight ago, to 4½ per cent., as announced yesterday at the London settlement, is a side light on the liquidation which has taken place on the recent decline. Yesterday's low rate may be taken as a fair index of the diminution of the speculative lines of American stocks carried in the English market.

Building Activity Falling Off.

In the returns to Bradstreet's of building activities in ninety-four cities of the United States there is shown a shrinkage of 15.4 per cent. in the estimated expenditures for building in May of this year, as compared with the same month a year ago. Compared with April there is a shrinkage of 14.6 per cent. It is true that May, 1909, was the most active month on record in the building trades, but the shrinkage last month, which amounts in dollars to $13,500,000, compares with actual gains over the previous year's showing in April and in March. The principal shrinkage is in the activities here and in Chicago. In New York building fell off about $7,000,000 in May, compared with May, 1909, and in Chicago about $5,000,000.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Interest in the local Stock Exchange and throughout the financial district centred around Philadelphia Rapid Transit to-day. The peculiar rumors published last night and this morning, and their violent denials in some quarters, while in others they were treated as true, caused something akin to a sensation hereabout.

Meanwhile heavy buying of the stock was in progress on the Exchange, and the price was rapidly lifted close to 20. Union Traction, though much less active, advanced nearly 2 points. Philadelphia stocks were rather quiet, but in the later dealings the tone improved. Only narrow fluctuations were recorded in Lehigh Valley, Cambria Steel, the Asphalts, Philadelphia Electric, and United Gas Improvement. The arbitrage issues were also uncertain at times, although Pennsylvania put up a firm front, and in the afternoon United States Steel, Reading, and others were all in strong demand.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

Happenings of a Day in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, June 8.—Money was more plentiful and easy to-day, and discount rates were weak in sympathy and on the prospects of an early reduction in the bank rate.

Traders on the Stock Exchange were occupied with the general settlement. Carry-over rates were easier, Americans being quoted at 4½ per cent., or from $5 to $15 lower than at the previous settlement.

Business for the new account was fair, with a good tone. Consols advanced on cheaper money and government purchases, and home rails and rubber and oil shares were firmer. The other sections were quiet.

American securities, after a steady opening, declined about a point on realizing. Supporting orders steadied the market until New York offered stock in the afternoon and caused a setback. In the late trading prices hardened a fraction, and the market closed steady.

Bar silver steady, 24½d per ounce.

Money, 3@3½ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3¼ per cent. The rate of discount for three months' bills is 3⅛@3¼ per cent.

Gold premiums are quoted as follows:—At Madrid, 6.95; at Lisbon, 10.25.

PARIS, June 8.—Prices were firm on the Bourse to-day in sympathy with the strength in New York yesterday.

Three per cent. rentes, 98 francs 97½ centimes for the account.

Exchange on London, 25 francs 28 centimes for checks.

BERLIN, June 8.—Trading was dull, but prices were firm on the Boerse to-day. Canadian Pacific advanced sharply.

Exchange on London, 20 marks 50½ pfennigs for checks.

Money, 3½ per cent.

Private discount rate, 3⅛ per cent.

(2) Tenders are invited until June 9 for furnishing steel, iron, bronze, copper, steel and copper tubing, pipe and fittings, electrical supplies, wire cable, rivets, bolts, nuts, taps, reamers, dies, bits, files, jacks, diaphram pumps, boiler tube expanders, machinists' clamps, engine lubricators, oilers, guage glasses, garbage cans, steam whistles, gaskets, leather fillet, leather belting, cardboard, &c. (Circular No. 585.) (3) Proposals will be accepted until June 23, covering the annual requirements for the period ending June 30, 1911, for steel castings and repair parts for steam shovels. (Circular No. 586.)

NO. 5,044. FIXTURES AND EQUIPMENT FOR NEW HOTEL.—An American Consul reports that a large hotel will be started in the Fall of this year at a well-known European health resort, in addition to two others already mentioned. This is an excellent opportunity for firms manufacturing gas and electric light fittings, sanitary equipment, and hotel novelties. Inquiries should be made at once of the person in charge of this matter, and correspondence should be in German. If in English it should be transmitted through the Consulate, so that a proper translation may be made to accompany the letter.

NO. 5,045. BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION.—A report from an American diplomatic officer states that a bill was introduced into the Senate of a Latin-American country providing for the construction of a bridge between two points on the coast, the bridge to be of steel and high enough to permit large vessels to pass underneath. To provide funds for the construction of the bridge the President is to be authorized to dispose of State lands, where a modern suburb, with City Hall, public school, Fire Department station, hospital, &c., is to be constructed at the expense of the concessionaire. If the bill passes, work must begin in six months, the bridge must be completed in four years, and the whole concession is to revert to the State after fifty years. Materials are to be admitted free of duty.

NO. 5,048. GLASSWARE.—An important and favorably known German importing house asks for propositions from American manufacturers of glassware, whereby it might take over the sole sale of the American product in Germany.

No. 5,050. RAILROAD CONCESSION.—Consul L. Hostetter of Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, reports that a concession for the building of a new railroad from Ures to Kino Bay has been received by Ramon de Negri and associates. This road is to be 108 miles long and will open up a large and rich mining and farming country. Conditions imposed by the Government are that the road must be started within six months and must be finished in at least two years, but the concessionaires expect to complete the work long before the required time, as the road will be level most of the way and there is no heavy work anticipated.

No. 5,052. HARNESS BUCKLES AND RINGS.—The Bureau of Manufactures is in receipt of a communication from a business man in Greece stating that he would like to enter into correspondence with an American manufacturer of harness buckles and rings, who desires to export to that country and wishes an agent. He forwards a sample buckle which is in special demand in sizes ⅜, ½, ⅝, 1, and 1¼ inches. The sample is ⅝ inch and can be obtained by interested firms upon application.

NO. 5,033. FIRE-FIGHTING APPARATUS. —An American Consular officer in a European country reports that a city in his district will purchase an entire equipment for fighting fires. American manufacturers of engines, hose, ladders, and the like are requested to send at once catalogues, stating prices, discounts, &c. Catalogues in English will suffice, but those printed in German and French will be more acceptable.

NO. 5,054.—STEAMSHIPS FOR THE LEVANT.—A report from an American Consular officer states that an American steamship company operating in the Levant desires to build one or two fast steamers of 1,500 tons each, principally for passenger service. American shipbuilders wishing to tender should communicate at once with the officer submitting the report.

NO. 5,055. SUGAR MACHINERY. — An American Consul in South Africa has forwarded a copy of a letter received from a business firm in his district stating that it would be pleased to obtain an agency for American sugar machinery, especially roller mills and centrifugals, as it is convinced there is a good sale for this machinery. The firm is anxious to form connections as soon as possible, and states it is sure it can obtain some orders in these lines.

NO. 5,057. AMERICAN GOODS OF VARIOUS KINDS.—The Bureau of Manufactures is in receipt of a letter from a business man in Russia stating that he is interested in American export articles of every sort, except technical articles and machinery. He is especially desirous of securing particulars in reference to haberdashery, notions, and partly manufactured articles, cosmetics, pharmaceutical preparations, patented novelties, &c.

NO. 5,059. PROPOSED STREET CAR LINES.—A report has been received from an American Embassy in an Asiatic country inclosing four copies of the conditions proposed by the local Ministry of Public Works in regard to the construction of electric street car lines over a considerable portion of the suburban district of certain cities. Tenders may be submitted until Nov. 10, 1910. Copy of the conditions can be obtained by interested firms upon application to the Bureau of Manufactures.

No. 5,063. WAREHOUSE, HARBOR, AND RAILWAY IMPROVEMENTS.—A certain municipality in a European country contemplates the construction of thirty fireproof warehouses of various types, twenty of which are to be 50 by 119 by 28 feet high, and are to be constructed in such a manner that if necessary an extra story may be added. The consular officer submitting the report states also that in connection with certain harbor improvements there will be a demand for narrow-gauge railways, turntables, and cranes. All communications should be addressed to the Mayor of the municipality, and correspondence may be in English.

NO. 5,064. PUBLIC LOAN FOR DEVELOPING WATER POWER.—An American legation in a Latin-American country has forwarded copies of correspondence with the Mayor of a local city on the subject of a loan of $1,000,000 which the municipality has been authorized to make, to be used in bringing water into the city from a neighboring river. As security for the loan will be given the municipal buildings, covering the square in the centre of the city; the central market, which is good security under present conditions, and the product of the sale of 10,000 units of the volume of water brought in from the river at $100 each, which is also good security.

NO. 5,065. MINING SUPPLIES, BUILDING PROJECTS, AND OTHER WORKS.—A report from an American Consul in Mexico states that a new coal mining company in his district has about 400 mechanics and laborers employed on the grading, track laying, and other railway work, construction of houses for miners, and superstructure for its new mines, which are located in his district also. It is the intention of this company to erect modern residences, clubhouse, refrigerator, ice and cold-storage plants, &c., and to improve in every particular the arrangements that other mining companies have for the care and entertainment of its miners, endeavoring to make its mines and surroundings the most modern and best in the country. Several shafts are being driven to the location, where, it is stated, there is an immense deposit of excellent soft coal. The machinery, cars, &c., of the mines will be operated by electricity, and electric lighting will also be furnished for the mines and the houses of the company. All correspondence should be sent direct to the main offices of the company.

THE COMMODITIES MARKETS.

Grains Show Small Changes Pending the Government Report—Cotton Quiet, but Steady.

The wheat market moved within a narrow range and in a somewhat nervous way during the day with no distinct tendency to prices. There was some selling early on weak cables and on rains in the Spring wheat States and Manitoba, but prices later advanced above the final of the previous day and were quite steady. The Manitoba reports were favorable and Winnipeg was weak on the good weather and foreign decline. Foreign crop reports were rather favorable, but the market showed an absence of pressure and a disposition to await the Government report. The Government report came out just after the close and was somewhat better than expected, resulting in a decline on the curb of about ¾c. The report showed a loss in condition of Winter wheat of 2.1 for the month to 90, with the present estimated crop 426,940,000 bushels, against 438,564,000 last month and a final of last year of 446,366,000. The Spring wheat report showed higher average than expected, 92.6, against 95.2 last year and 93 a ten-year average. The acreage increased 1,349,000 and is 19,742,000 acres, the largest on record. The indicated crop is 311,923,000 bushels, against 290,823,000 bushels a year ago.

Condition of rye was 90.6, with an indicated crop of 35,770,000 bushels, against 32,239,000 bushels last year.

Cash wheat quoted: No. 2 red Winter, $1.05 nominal, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight; No. 2 red spot, nominal, $1.00½, free on board, afloat, for export; No. 1 Northern Duluth, $1.13 nominal; No. 2 hard Winter, nominal, and No. 1 Northern Manitoba, 98¾c.

The corn market was a little lower at the opening in sympathy with wheat and on the reports of more seasonable temperatures West, but there was quite a good demand on the decline and prices showed a good recovery. The buying was influenced by further rains in the Southwest and by liberal shipments from interior points into distribution. Receipts have been heavy, but the interior shipments have been in excess of the receipts. Recent weather conditions have been more favorable, but the reports almost uniformly indicated late, backward appearance of the crop. Cash corn quoted: No. 2, 66¾c nominal, elevator, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight, domestic basis, and steamer nominal, elevator, export basis.

Oats market opened a little lower with other grain, and there was considerable selling on the weather conditions, which were favorable, particularly the rains in the Northwest. Later a somewhat steadier tone prevailed, but buyers were rather cautious, expecting a rather favorable Government report. The oats acreage was a record one, 34,380,000 acres, with the condition 91, against 88.7 last year and a ten-year average of 88.4. The indicated crop is 1,151,000,000 bushels, against 1,007,000,000 bushels final last year. Cash oats quoted: Natural white, 42@45c, and white clipped, 43@47½c. The indicated barley crop was 195,330,000, with the condition 89.6. The area was only 47,000 acres larger than last year. The final last year was 170,284,000 bushels.

Provisions were active and strong early on the continued disappointing movement of hogs and the higher live hog markets. With the first week in June prove receipts are disappointingly light and the indications do not favor any important gain in the movement.

COTTON.

Fluctuations in cotton seem to be the result very largely of professional speculative conditions. The market movement was narrow and without very distinctive character. There was a little selling early and a small decline, followed by a recovery to the closing of the previous day. Later in the session the market slowly drifted, with operations in the main professional. The near-by deliveries were influenced to some extent by the gossip regarding the July holdings and the spot situation. One of the bull leaders was quoted as stating that he had less than 4,000 bales of spot cotton left out of the May takings, and it was also stated that outside buyers were in the market anxiously bidding for cotton. The shipments out are expected to continue very liberal, and one report current was that the bull holdings of the Summer months exceeded the May holdings, and also that the contracts in hand for shipment would deplete the local stocks to under 100,000 bales and possibly under 75,000 bales. On the other hand, it is claimed that there has been a good deal of profit taking by the bull interests on the recent advance. Weather news was not unfavorable. There are scattered complaints and the crop is admitted generally to be backward. The condition of the weather, however, has been more seasonable of late. There has been ample moisture and a good deal of favorable weather for the cultivation of the crop.

Southern spot markets unchanged to ⅛c. advance.

Spot cotton dull, unchanged. Midding uplands, 15.20; middling gulf, 15.45.

COFFEE.

Coffee was inactive, total sales amounting to 4,750 bags, but prices were generally steady, closing at 5 points decline to 3 points advance. The near positions were relatively firm, and there was moderate buying for foreign account. Early European cables were rather disappointing, but at the close Havre was unchanged to ½f. lower, and Hamburg was unchanged, while in Brazil Rio showed an advance of 25 reis and Santos was 50 reis higher. The visible supply of Brazilian coffee in and afloat for the United States was 2,910,940 bags, against 3,431,903 bags last year and 3,512,198 bags two years ago. CHICAGO STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 8.—No business of consequence developed on the local Exchange to-day. Small gains were noted in a few issues, while others showed corresponding losses. The elevated railroad shares were among those to show strength. The Street was full of conflicting reports relative to the proposed merger of the elevated lines.

On the basis of the Government's report the Produce Exchange statistician figures a crop of 424,042,000 bushels of Winter wheat, and 278,362,000 bushels of Spring wheat, making a total prospective crop of 702,404,000 bushels. If this promise be fulfilled the crop will be the fourth largest on record.

Last year's total wheat harvest was 737,189,000 bushels. The bumper crop was that of 1901, when the total was 748,460,218 bushels. The estimate of the Produce Exchange takes into account the probable deterioration in condition between now and the harvest, calculated on the course of the crop during the past five years. It sometimes happens, as it did last year, that the crop improves rather than deteriorates, and the estimate of 702,404,000 bushels may be under the final yield. Last year at this time the promised yield of Winter wheat was 398,555,000 bushels, and that of Spring wheat 253,706,000 bushels, making the total promise of 652,351,000 bushels, which was 50,000,000 bushels short of the actual yield.

The promise for oats is 1,021,086,000 bushels, against last year's crop of 1,007,353,000 bushels, and the indicated yield at this time of 946,722,000 bushels.

COPPER METAL MOVES SLOWER

Production for May Heaviest for Months and Stocks Increasing.

The report of the Copper Producers' Association for May, given out yesterday, made the poorest showing from the copper seller's point of view of any this year. Not only did stocks of the metal show a larger increase than for any similar period in a year, but production was also larger than in any month, except last October, since the association began to compile statistics, and domestic deliveries were smaller than in any month since last September.

Production reported for the United States in May was 123,242,476 pounds, an increase of 5,764,837 pounds over April. The smallest production this year was in February, when 112,712,495 pounds were reported. The heaviest output in the history of the association was reported in October, when the total was 124,657,709, only 1,415,233 heavier than last month.

Stocks on June 1 were 160,425,975 pounds, an increase over May of 18,441,975 pounds. Stocks are now larger than at any time since June, 1909, when they were 169,848,141 pounds. Domestic deliveries in May were 59,305,222 pounds, a falling off of 8,680,720, compared with the previous month. In January domestic deliveries were 78,158,387 pounds, and they have averaged well above 60,000,000 since last September, when they fell to 52,105,156 pounds.

Copper delivered for export showed an increase of 14,165,037, bringing the total up to 45,495,440 pounds, the largest since January.

IRON AND STEEL NOTES.

Daily Production of Pig Iron in May 5,690 Tons Under April Output.

The production of pig iron in May, according to the figures of The Iron Age, was at the daily rate of 77,102 tons, against 82,792 tons in April. The daily capacity of active furnaces on June 1 was 76,846 tons, or at the annual rate of 28,450,000 tons, which, the Iron Age points out, represents a falling off of 10 per cent. from the high rate reached in February, which was 31,650,000 tons a year. The reduction in output last month was not as decisive as expected, the Iron Age says, the reduction in the number of active furnaces being only ten, whereas in April there was a net reduction of twenty-five. To-day's issue says of the general situation in the trade:

Out of the confusion into which the iron market was thrown by the action of the Government against the Western railroads, there is already this certainty: that no equipment contracts have been canceled or held up. There is on all hands the disposition to take a hopeful view of the outcome, and because of this, as well as the actual buying of the week in both pig iron and finished lines, the tone of the market has improved.

It would seem that the blowing out of furnaces has not yet gone far enough, as pig-iron stocks increased in May, and in both steel making and foundry grades are growing unwieldy.

Sales of pig iron have been largest in Central and Western markets, and basic iron has shown marked weakness. In foundry iron sales have been less than in the preceding week. In finished lines structural steel, wrought pipe, and wire have shown good activity.

The Iron Trade Review says:

The controversy concerning freight rate advances had a chilling effect on the market for a few days, but much better feeling has prevailed since it has become known that the settlement of the issues involved has been postponed until passage of the railway bill now pending in Congress. Car-buying programmes have been interrupted, but some important orders are still being placed. The Grand Trunk Railroad has placed 5,000 box and hopper cars with Canadian builders and the Baltimore & Ohio 1,000 box cars with the South Baltimore Car and Foundry Company, while it will take prices within a few days on 5,000 box and 2,000 hopper cars. The Norfolk & Western and the St. Louis & San Francisco lines have placed 500 cars each. Eastern blast furnaces have made additional purchases of 200,000 tons of Nova Scotia and Spanish ores.

Bethlehem Steel Buys Goubert Plant.

By a deal closed yesterday the Bethlehem Steel Company becomes the owner of the plant of the Goubert Manufacturing Company at Bergen Point, which went into the hands of a receiver some time ago. The Bethlehem Steel Company, it is said, will enlarge the plant.

BLAMES A WOMAN AND CUTS HIS THROAT

Werner Walking, Under Arrest, a Few Feet Ahead of Detective When He Killed Himself.

INDICTED FOR FORGERY

Downfall of Long Island Manufacturer Came When He Committed Fraud in Selling Out.

Rather than face trial on several charges of forgery and grand larceny Charles Werner, once a prosperous manufacturer of canned goods in Long Island City, committed suicide early yesterday morning by cutting his throat with a razor a few moments after he was arrested. He blamed a woman for his troubles. Although he was married he did not live with his wife. He occupied a furnished room at the home of William Weisskopp at 73 Cypress Avenue, Ridgewood Heights, Brooklyn.

Werner's downfall began last Summer. On Aug. 3, 1909, he was indicted by the Queens County Grand Jury for grand larceny on the complaint of Herman Zucker of 707 East Twenty-first Street, Flatbush. About that time Werner was in business with Frederick Weigel, manufacturing canned goods, principally ketchup, in Long Island City. When Werner took Zucker over to his establishment and showed him shelves filled with canned goods and the necessary machinery for carrying on the business Zucker was impressed. He paid $1,200 cash for the plant.

When he took charge he discovered that most of the cans were empty and the machinery worthless. He complained to District Attorney De Witt, with the result that the Grand Jury handed down indictments against both Werner and Weigel. They were arrested and released in $1,500 bail each. The case was to have come up for trial this month.

In April this year the officials of the Myrtle Avenue (Brooklyn) branch of the Corn Exchange Bank complained that Werner had issued two forged notes against the bank, one for $6 and the other for $25. The Queens County May Grand Jury found two more indictments against him for these transactions. When Werner was arrested last year he gave an address in Monroe Avenue. When Detective Sergt. George A. Bolton went there several days ago he found a Charles Werner living at the address, but it was not the Werner described in the indictment. The real Werner had sought to fool the police by giving a name he apparently got out of the street directory.

Although he searched several days Detective Bolton did not locate Werner at the Cypress Avenue house until Tuesday night. When he called there Werner was out. He called again early yesterday morning and found him in his room. When told that there were three indictments against him Werner broke down and wept.

"I was always a good man until I met that woman," moaned Werner with his face buried in his hands. "She is the cause of my downfall."

"What woman do you mean?" inquired the detective.

"Oh, it's no good going into that now," replied Werner. "I planted the crop and I guess it's up to me to do the reaping."

Regaining control of himself Werner asked the detective to wait a few moments until he gathered up some papers and toilet articles. Bolton watched his prisoner carefully, and saw him put a comb and brush in his pocket. Werner also packed his trunk and put his room in order, and then, putting on his hat and coat, he said:

"I'm ready; come along."

The two started down the flight of stairs from the second floor, Werner in the lead and the detective about a foot behind. The hallway was dark, but the detective kept a close watch on his prisoner. About half way down the stairs Werner raised his hand toward his neck, the detective thought to adjust the collar of his coat. Instead he had drawn a razor from his coat pocket and, with one deep slash, cut his throat from ear to ear.

SIXTEEN MINEOLA HOUSES ROBBED

Burglars Make a Raid on the Village and Carry Off a Lot of Plunder.

CONSTABLE A VICTIM

Cheriff Wants to Get Bloodhounds to Take Up the Trail of the Robbers.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, L. I., June 8.—A band of night marauders made a raid in this village last night, and after ransacking fifteen houses and taking money and many small articles, the robbers, apparently just to show their contempt for the strong arm of Mineola law, ended their raid by plundering the home of John Buhler, a Constable of Nassau County, who lives almost within the shadow of the home of Sheriff Foster.

The other fifteen houses are all within sight of the residence of Sheriff Foster, but everything else was overshadowed by the circumstance of the descent from Constable Buhler's domicile. The crowds at the railway station and the country stores were still discussing it to-night. Wagers were offered that Sheriff Foster himself will not be left undisturbed when the burglars next visit this section.

Not satisfied with entering Constable Buhler's house and stealing his pocketbook containing $25, the burglars actually carried away a photograph of his fiancée, his revolver, and his shield. They stuck his shield on the front gate post and there it was found this morning by the astonished constable when he started out after clues.

About $2,000 worth of plunder was taken from the sixteen houses and the Sheriff is at his wits' end to discover how the robbers got away so easily. They left no trace of their identity. Had they used one of the aeroplanes over at the fair grounds they could not more effectually have vanished. Sheriff Foster threatened to-day to send South for a pack of bloodhounds. All other plans having failed for trailing the thieves, he suggested this as a last resource.

In every instance the burglars gained entrance into the houses through windows on the ground floor. At several houses they deftly removed panes of glass, reached in, and unlocked the fastenings, and raised the windows. In every house except that of Constable Buhler they confined their operations to the ground floor. Buhler sleeps on the second floor, and his room was the only one in the house that was entered. The burglars took his money and his revolver out of his pocket, unpinned his badge from under the lapel of his coat, and silently departed. The fact that the burglars knew enough to look under the coat lapel for the insignia of his office convinces him that they were old hands at the game. The Constable said he didn't mind the loss of the money or the revolver. What worried him most was the loss of his sweetheart's picture. He does not like the idea of it being in sacriligious hands.

In the other houses only small articles that could easily be converted into money were taken. In some cases sums of money and jewelry was picked up. The Sheriff immediately after the robberies were reported to him, telephoned the police authorities of surrounding villages to be on the watch for either the thieves or the stolen articles which they might try to get rid of.

The Sheriff says that he was badly handicapped in his efforts to get results by the fact that the owners of the houses entered did not complain to him until they had tried to do some sleuthing on their own account. By that time, he said, the clues were cold and it was impossible to make a hot pursuit. It is the opinion of some of the villagers that the burglaries were the work of boys, probably city urchins attracted to Mineola by the airship exhibitions.

VOORHIS TO QUIT CITY JOB.

Superintendent of Public Buildings Last—In Office Fifty Years.

Another of the Tammany "Old Guard" passes out of office with the acceptance of the resignation of John R. Voorhis as Superintendent of Public Buildings and Offices by Borough President McAneny of Manhattan, which will go into effect on July 1.

Mr. Voorhis is more than 80 years old. He has been holding public office for nearly half a century. He was at one time President of the Board of Elections, Police Magistrate, and Police Commissioner.

The place will not be filled by President McAneny until the case of ex-Supt. Walker, who was removed by ex-President Ahearn and has since been suing for reinstatement in the courts, has been decided. It is understood that John H. Stewart, formerly an Examiner in the Commissioners of Accounts office and now Chief Inspector of Masonry in the Bureau of Public Buildings, will be the new Superintendent.

Mr. Voorhis is on a thirty days' leave of absence.

NEW WHITMAN DEPUTIES.

District Attorney Names Five to Represent Him in the Police Courts.

District Attorney Whitman announced yesterday the final appointments to his staff made possible by the recent appropriation providing for deputies in the police courts.

"They are not only to aid the Magistrates in weeding out the cases unfit for prosecution, but they are to be of all possible assistance to poor litigants. The new scheme has been warmly criticised by some of the police court lawyers," said Mr. Whitman, "particularly in Essex Market."

The appointees are:

LUCIAN S. BRECKINRIDGE, son of Gen. Joseph C. Breckinridge and a graduate of New York Law School. He is stationed in Jefferson Market Court.

GEORGE Z. MEDALIE, Republican. He is a graduate of Columbia Law School. He will have charge of Essex Market Court.

THERON R. STRONG, Republican. He is a graduate of New York Law School. He is in the Yorkville Court.

JAMES E. McDONALD, a graduate of Columbia Law School and an independent in politics. He remains in the Complaint Bureau.

JAMES E. SMITH, a graduate of Columbia Law School, was in the Assembly from 1899 to 1902. He is the only Democrat.

To each of these men will be sent the automobile records, catalogued in such a way that a second or third offender can be singled out as such at the time of his arraignment.

CHILD FIXES CUSTOMS DUTY.

Loeb at Loss to Classify Imitation Bear Till She Called It a Doll.

Collector Loeb and M. Percy Andrews, head of the law division of the Custom House, spent some time yesterday gravely considering a little imitation polar bear dressed in a purple coat and yellow trousers. It was about a foot and a half high, and where side pockets in the trousers might have been were openings which made the bear a muff. By touching a spring inside, the bear said what sounded like "papa."

The knotty problem before the Collector and his legal adviser was whether the thing could be classified under the tariff law as woolen wearing apparel, or as a toy. Other opinion was sought, and the bear, being exhibited, said "papa" under the slightest provocation.

A customs man, the father of six children, said that he could never bring such an article home and tell the children it was something to wear.

A child's opinion impressed the judges greatly. She was certain it was nothing but a doll, and the bear was thereupon admitted as a toy.

The novelty is one of a consignment recently shipped from Germany. Had it been classified as woolen wearing apparel a specific duty of 44 cents a pound and an additional 60 per cent. ad valorem would have been collected. As a toy only 35 per cent. duty will be collected.

SERIES OF 5TH AVE. ACCIDENTS

Big Auto Burns When Match Is Thrown Into a Gasoline Pool Beneath It.

A peculiar series of accidents piled up in Fifth Avenue, between Forty-second and Forty-fourth Streets, yesterday afternoon just after 2 o'clock, complicating the traffic situation until the reserves from the East Fifty-first Street Station were called to aid the Traffic men on duty in the neighborhood in untangling the automobiles and carriages that were lined up for ten blocks on either side of Forty-second Street.

First came a big touring car, occupied by three young women, going north. The time was the height of the afternoon shopping, and the fine weather had brought out many vehicles whose occupants only wanted to ride up and down in the sunshine. Just behind the touring car was a fussy taxicab, the chauffeur of which kept making ineffectual attempts to get in front of the cars that preceded it.

At Forty-second Street in making one of these sorties it bumped into the touring car, puncturing the full tank and causing the gasoline to spurt out. The chauffeur was told of it at Forty-third Street, and he ran his car to the eastern curb in front of a furniture store, near Forty-fourth Street.

In a few moments the tank was empty, the gasoline forming a pool on the asphalt pavement. The young women leaped into the taxicab, which raced away.

The crippled touring car was towed away, and then Chauffeur Edward Smith of 123 West Ninetieth Street, driving a car in which was Mrs. Alfred Lichtenstein of 112 West Fifty-ninth Street, stopped just over the gasoline pool. Mrs. Lichtenstein went into a store, and Edward Weisberg of 100 West Sixty-first Street, with a taxicab, stopped close behind the Lichtenstein machine and waited for a fare.

The police had not straightened out the traffic tangle caused by the first collision when some one threw a burning match into the pool under the car.

An explosion and burst of flame followed, setting the car on fire. Smith, at no little risk to himself, swung open the automobile hood, shut off the gasoline to the engine, and then tried to beat out the flames with a heavy lap robe.

By this time traffic had solidified for blocks north and south of Forty-second Street. Mounted Policeman Plagge called for fire engines and more policemen. One battalion chief, four engines, and two trucks came plunging into the heavy mass of traffic, followed by the reserves from the East Fifty-first Street Station.

While the firemen were pouring water over the Lichtenstein automobile the police were trying to untangle the traffic, vehicles being diverted into side streets. The second taxicab, which had only been singed, moved away.

When Mrs. Lichtenstein emerged from the furniture store and saw her machine the object of so much attention, she fainted. When she revived she went home in the third taxicab. But it was thirty minutes before traffic was moving along as usual.

UNION INJUNCTION KILLED.

Court of Appeals Refuses to Sustain Writ Against the U. S. Printing Co.

The Court of Appeals handed down a decision yesterday refusing to sustain the injunction of William P. Kissam, George H. Driscoll, and William F. Mills against the United States Printing Company in Brooklyn, restraining the firm from discharging the three men from its employ.

The trouble began in 1903, when the firm refused to come to an agreement with the Stereotypers' and Electrotypers' Unions. At that time Kissam was the superintendent, Driscoll a finisher in the electrotyping department, and Mills a helper in the same department. After a year of hostilities the firm agreed to employ only union men.

Kissam, who is also a stockholder in the company, Mills, and Driscoll refused to join, and brought suit against the company and the unions to set aside the agreement on the ground that the printing company had been compelled to sign it under duress, and an injunction was obtained restraining the company from discharging the plaintiffs.

Alfred and Charles Steckler, attorneys for the unions, appealed on the ground that the plaintiffs were not parties to the contract, and the contention was upheld by Justice Marean of the Supreme Court Special Term in Kings County. His decision was affirmed later by the Appellate Division and sustained again yesterday by the Court of Appeals, the court of last resort.

GUILTY OF "JOY RIDE" KILLING

Chauffeur Convicted of Manslaughter —Ran Woman Down in Brooklyn.

Richard Sage, a chauffeur employed by a Brooklyn physician, was found guilty of manslaughter in the third degree yesterday in the County Court, Brooklyn, for running down and killing Mrs. Catherine McCoy, 64 years old, of 339 Pacific Street, at Pacific Street and Third Avenue, that borough, on May 7 last.

The prosecution asserted that Sage had two young women in the car, and that he was out on a "joy ride." This was denied by the defendant, who said he was testing the brakes and that the accident was unavoidable. He was not speeding, he declared, when Mrs. McCoy stepped suddenly from behind a truck in front of his machine.

Announcing that he would impose sentence on Monday, Judge Dike characterized reckless young motorists as "young devils," and said he would do his best to put a stop to "joy riding" in Brooklyn.

WOMAN FINED FOR SMUGGLING

Mrs. Allen of Kenosha, Wis., Pleads Guilty to Bringing in $5,000 in Jewelry.

Mrs. Charlotte Allen, wife of Charles W. Allen of Kenosha, Wis., a member of the firm of C. N. Allen Sons Company of that city and a Director of the Central Leather Company, entered a plea of guilty yesterday to an indictment in the United States Circuit Court charging her with having smuggled jewelry and wearing apparel valued at $5,000 into this country when she arrived here on the Cunarder Lusitania last Friday. Judge Holt imposed a fine of $100.

Dr. Hoffman's 25th Anniversary.

A reception to the Rev. Dr. Hugo W. Hoffman and Mrs. Hoffman was held on Tuesday evening in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, South Fifth and Rodney Streets, Brooklyn, upon the occasion of Dr. Hoffman's twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination and the fifteenth anniversary of his installation as pastor of St. Paul's Church. Addresses were made by the Rev. Ernest Heyd of Rochester, the Rev. John Kopf of Port Chester, the Rev. H. B. Krusa of Peekskill, and the Rev. Emil Roth. Joseph C. Hecker was toastmaster.

Barton Hepburn, Albert Shaw, Robert Erskine Ely, George A. Plimpton, Frank J. Goodnow, E. R. A. Seligman, Samuel McCune Lindsay, Munroe Smith, and Henry R. Mussey.

BANKER'S WIFE PAYS DEPOSITORS' LOSSES

Mrs. Searing Goes to the Rescue of Small Patrons of Searing & Co., Who Failed.

SHE WILL PAY OUT $50,000

Checks to be Sent Out in a Day or Two to Hundreds in Harlem and the Bronx.

Announcement was made yesterday that Mrs. Emma Cooke Searing of Paterson, N. J., wife of Frederick F. Searing of the defunct firm of Searing & Co., 7 Wall Street, private bankers and fiscal agents of the Delaware & Eastern Railroad Company, has offered to pay out of her private fortune about $50,000 to the small savings depositors who had put their money in the Harlem and Bronx branches of the firm. There are nearly 1,000 such depositors, it is said, and they will begin to receive their checks within the next forty-eight hours.

This offer of settlement was made public immediately after a meeting of the depositors yesterday afternoon in the office of Referee William Allen, 67 Wall Street. It came as a surprise to most of them and was immediately accepted for those present and for many of those absent by Lawyer Frederick G. McLaughlin of McLaughlin, Russell, Coe & Allen, who also represented the trustee, John S. Sheppard, Jr., 24 Liberty Street.

By its terms the assignment of all depositors' claims for $25 and under are to be made to Mrs. Searing, who will pay them in full, while half of the depositors' claims for all sums over $25 will be paid now in cash, the depositors still retaining a title to any dividend up to 50 per cent. which may be realized from the bankrupt estate.

A strong drawing card to the poor people of Harlem and the Bronx, many of them foreigners, to put their money with Searing & Co., was the offer of 4½ per cent. on all savings deposits. When the firm failed late in February the receiver found deposits amounting to $140,000 on the books with about $2,000 in cash to show for them.

At his home in Paterson last night Mr. Searing said his firm's full indebtedness to all small depositors of Harlem and the Bronx was about $70,000.

Mr. Searing estimated that there were about 500 depositors having claims of $25 and under, who would be paid in full, and about the same number whose claims were larger. He could not say what aggregate sum each general class would receive, but thought the total to satisfy the claims under the agreement would be upward of $50,000, leaving only $20,000 to be paid out of any revenue to come from the settlement of the firm's affairs.

In making these settlements for her husband it is understood that Mrs. Searing is using a part of the estate which came to her from her father, J. A. Y. Cooke, for years President of the Paterson Locomotive Works.

DIAMOND BROKER ACCUSED.

John B. McDonald, a Witness, Denies He Gave Necklace to an Actress.

Frank Grand, a diamond broker of 115 Broadway, was held in $5,000 bail by Magistrate Marsh in Stapleton, S. I., yesterday. He is charged by Mrs. Carrie Lee of Bay Street, Stapleton, with having obtained $1,300 from her by false pretenses. A witness in the case yesterday was John B. McDonald, the subway builder.

Mrs. Lee said that Grand advertised big interest on money loaned for short periods. At various times she advanced him money on pawn tickets for jewelry. Grand also brought her clients who wanted money in a hurry, and she advanced the broker what was wanted. Later she investigated, she said, and found that in every case the articles on which she held the pawn tickets had been pledged for nearly full value. Then she laid the case before the District Attorney and Grand's arrest followed.

Mrs. Lee testified that in February she advanced $500 to Grand on a ticket for a diamond necklace which the broker represented to her as having been presented by Mr. McDonald to the wife of an actor. Mrs. Lee said she went to the Carleton Hotel, where she met Grand and the woman, who said she was Jeanette E. Lowrie. Mrs. Lowrie was willing to pay $200 for the loan of the money for thirty days. Mrs. Lee said that she bought the ticket from Grand, paying the needed $300 to him.

Mr. McDonald was brought to court to identify the necklace. He said he knew a Jeanette Lowrie, but denied that he had given her a necklace or that he had ever before seen the one produced in court. About fourteen pawnbrokers were in court to testify. The case was put over for a week.

POET PETERSEN EXCLUDED.

He Has Lived Here for Twelve Years, but Did Not Become a Citizen.

Under sentence of deportation by the immigration authorities, William Petersen, well-known among his countrymen as a journalist and poet, looks out through a narrow window on the city which was for more than twelve years his home.

Petersen went back to Denmark some months ago to visit his native land. On his return a few days ago on the Scandanavian-American liner Oscar II. he was ordered detained and taken to Ellis Island. Questions by the officials showed that he had only $24 and was 50 years old. It was decided that he must be deported. The reason given is that he is likely to become a public charge; that in his old age, despite present friends and literary ability, he might become a care to the community.

Petersen is known here as "Denmark" Petersen, and is well known in the foreign colony. His verses are many and he has been called upon as a poet whenever anything happened of interest to Scandanavians in America. Although he has lived here for years he never took steps to become a citizen, and for this reason he now finds the gates shut against him.

CAT TERRORIZES A FLAT.

Attacks Two Children and Bites a Man Before It Is Shot.

A big white cat, after attacking two daughters of Mrs. Julia Weiller in the hallway of 231 East Fifty-fourth Street, last night, fastened its teeth in the wrist of John McStay, who lives in the house. A policeman finally ended its life.

The excitement commenced when the little girls ran to their home on the second floor, crying that they had been chased by a wild cat. McStay, who boards with Mrs. Weiller, entered the house a few minutes later, and as he passed the cat on the stairs it leaped at him. He met it with a kick and retrated into the Weiller's flat.

There he armed himself with a stick, but as he stepped into the hallway the cat jumped at him. He struck at it, but missed, and the cat's teeth tore his wrist. Then he caught the cat and hurled it into the lower hallway.

After the wound had been cauterized he found Patrolman Shatburger, who returned to the house and shot the cat.

KEENE APPEARS TO TESTIFY.

Not So Insistent About Going on After Referee Arranges That He Can.

James H. Keene and his counsel, Edmund L. Mooney, appeared unexpectedly yesterday morning in the office of Stanley W. Dexter, 71 Broadway, referee in the bankruptcy hearing of Lathrop, Haskins & Co., the Stock Exchange firm that failed in the collapse of the Hocking pool. Mr. Keene announced that they were ready to go on with the case.

In surprise Mr. Dexter explained that the hearing had been set for 2:30 o'clock, not 10:30, the time of their arrival, and that counsel for Henry D. Hotchkiss, trustee for the creditors, so understood it. It was therefore extremely doubtful if Mr. Keene could be allowed to give his testimony ahead of schedule time.

Mr. Keene appeared determined. He said he understood that the hearing had been set for 10:30 o'clock, and he was there to tell what he knew or didn't know about the Hocking pool.

Mr. Dexter got Abram Elkus, attorney for Mr. Hotchkiss, on the telephone and explained the situation. Mr. Elkus replied by going over to the Dexter office at once. But as soon as he entered the room Mr. Keene became as reluctant to go on with the hearing as before he had been anxious to do so.

He said he was very tired, not to say nervous, since he had sat up until 3 o'clock yesterday morning reading the stenographer's reports of his testimony at the previous hearings before the United States Commissioner. He found the reports substantially correct, he said, with the exception that he had been made to say that he had never dealt personally in the stock of the Hocking and Columbus Coal and Iron Company, whereas, as a matter of fact, he had dealt in the stock. He wished to make only this correction in the record.

After all, Mr. Keene then thought he preferred postponement of the hearing until next week. Mr. Elkus agreed to this, and next Wednesday, June 15, at 3:30 o'clock, was finally set.

When all was agreed upon Mr. Keene is said to have suggested that he would be just as much pleased if no publicity was given to the date, so that he would not have to give his testimony before any larger gathering than the referee and the lawyers on each side.

Edward Popper of Popper & Sternbach, whose testimony is still incomplete, is expected to testify also on next Wednesday afternoon an hour before Mr. Keene is to take the chair.

SUGAR CASES TO JURY TO-DAY.

Arguments About Ended in Trial of Heike and Others.

The sugar fraud cases will go to the jury some time this afternoon. All day yesterday, with the exception of a short time in the morning, the twelve men who have been hearing the evidence against Charles R. Heike, E. W. Gerbracht, and James M. Bendernagel listened to argument and oratory by counsel in the case. Winfred Denison of the Government's counsel made a general summary of the evidence. Henry Cochrane, counsel for Bendernagel, followed. After Mr. Cochrane had finished, an adjournment of fifteen minutes was taken, as one wag remarked, "to mend the welkin," after which Clarence K. Lexow, counsel for Gerbracht, began his argument.

Mr. Lexow had just about got his second wind, after a half hour of eloquence, when he began to feel badly, and an adjournment was taken until this morning. Hence Mr. Lexow's concluding argument will be received first to-day; then John B. Stanchfield, counsel for Heike, will talk for an hour and a half, and finally Henry L. Stimson, the Government's chief counsel, will close the speech making. Judge Martin said yesterday that his charge to the jury would probably take about an hour, so that it is probable that the jury will get the case about 4 o'clock.

In yesterday's TIMES reference was made to the trial of the Government's penalty action against the American Sugar Refining Company in connection with the sugar frauds, and it was stated that Henry W. Taft was one of the counsel in that trial. This was in error. Mr. Taft was among the counsel for the trust in the later action instituted by Receiver Earle of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company on account of the loan to Adolph Segal which resulted in the trust's putting the Pennsylvania concern out of business.

PAUL MORTON OFF FOR EUROPE

Crops, He Says, Are the Big Thing on Which Prosperity Depends.

Among those who sailed for England yesterday on the Cunard liner Lusitania was Paul Morton, President of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. He is accompanied by William Alexander, Secretary of the Equitable. They will be away until August.

When asked whether in his opinion commercial prospects indicated continued prosperity Mr. Morton replied:

"The people must watch the crops, for, after all, they are the big thing for this country."
